Mrs. Donald Lee McAllister

Shannon wedding held for McAllister-McRae

On September 28, Sheila Marie McRae was married to Donald Lee McAllister. The Rev. Thurman McGougan officiated at the three o'clock ceremony in Bridge Grove Church of Shannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther McRae are parents of the bride. Miss McRae is a graduate of Hoke County High School and of North Carolina A&T State University. She is employed by the U.S. Air Force as a Registered Nurse.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Arizona Sanders of Fayetteville. He graduated from E.E. Smith High School and attended N.C. A&T University. He is now a senior at Morris College and a member of Alpha Phi Fraternity.

A twenty-one branch candelabra entwined with greenery and yellow and white carnations was used in the church. Two white wicker baskets held arrangements of yellow and white carnations, astermia lilies, daisies, and babies' breath. Ferns and palms were also used.

Pam McDonald, organist, and Vivian Parker and Michael Ross, soloists, were the wedding musicians. Musical selections included "Suddenly," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Closer I Get to You."

The bride was escorted by her brother-in-law, John McLean of Greensboro and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a gown of polysilk organza and satin. It featured a Queen Anne neckline, a natural waist, and bishop sleeves trimmed with lace. Lace encircled the train and her waltz-length veil that fell from a Juliet cap. She carried a nosegay of button mums, daisies, astermia lilies and a lift-out orchid.

Carolyn McRae, sister of the bride of Newark, New Jersey, was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Brenda McLean, sister of the bride, of Greensboro. They wore tea-length dresses of buttercup yellow. The taffeta dresses had high necklines and full skirts. They wore halos of daises in their hair and carried two large mums tied with love knots and yellow streamers.

The mother of the bride wore a lilac crepe dress. The groom's mother wore an ivory crepe dress. Both wore yellow carnation corsages.

Bridesmaids were Callie Vernell Graham of Raeford, Angela Paige of Biloxi, Mississippi, Tawanna Dixon of Shannon, and Charlotte Galloway, sister of the groom, of Fayetteville. They were dressed like the honor attendants.

Joseph McAllister of Vermont was best man. Groomsman were Jonathan Charleston of Chapel Hill; Terrance Franklin of Greensboro, Henry O'Bryan of Columbia, S.C., Terry McLaurin of Greensboro, and Rufus Washington of Columbia, S.C. Ushers were Emanuel Taylor of Sumter, S.C. and Ricky Graham of Shannon.

The men wore black Pierre Cardin tuxedos with yellow cummerbunds and bow ties. Their boutonnières were yellow carnations.

Hoke Civic Center was the setting for a party for members of the wedding party and wedding guests after the wedding.

Mrs. Arlevia McRae, mother of the bride, hosted a rehearsal dinner on the evening before the wedding in the Bridge Grove Church fellowship hall. The bride and groom presented gifts to members of the wedding party.

The couple plans to make their home in Sumter, S.C.

On September 5 the bride was honored with a surprise shower at the Shaw Air Force Base Officers' Club. The table was covered with white lace and held arrangements of silk flowers and candles.

The fifteen guests were served cake, nuts, mints, punch and dainty sandwiches.

The honoree received gifts from the guests.

Oceans of lotion, indeed!

The plant kingdom has, alas, reared its young. Fields await the harvest sickle, pollens spice the air, and poison ivy stands ever ready to stick any passerby with its contaminating substance, urushiol.

Rare, indeed, are poison ivy warnings this time of year, but be reminded not to burn poison ivy infested underbrush. Burning propels urushiol into the air causing potentially severe allergic reactions.

Poison ivy relief should include compresses, hydrocortisone cream, and oceans of calamine lotion. Let us assist your every pharmacy need.
