The Recreation Department is sponsoring a Horseshoe Tournament on Tuesday, October 22. Competition will begin at 5:30 p.m. on the big field adjacent to the old National Guard Armory. The top four contestants (those who've accumulated the most wins by 6:30) will be paired for a championship match. Winners will continue to play at a stake until they are beaten. A game consists of 11 points. Scoring is as follows:

- 1 point - closest shoe to stake
 - 1 point - if each player has a ringer, then the next closest shoe, if within 6 inches of stake
 - 2 points - two shoes closer than opponent's shoes
 - 3 points - two ringers against opponent's one
 - 4 points - one ringer & closest shoe of same player
- A leaning shoe has no value over one touching the stake. All equals count as ties, therefore, no points are scored. Only one player scores in any inning. A shoe must be within 6 inches of stake to score.

Feline Peritonitis takes toll on cats

Feline Infectious Peritonitis (FIP) is a fatal disease of cats.

Although rarer than Feline leukemia, FIP has been seen in domestic cats in nearly every area of the world. It is caused by corona virus.

This disease represents a serious threat to cats between the age of six months to two years of age.

Research has shown an increased incidence in older cats also.

FIP lesions are caused by the virus invading certain tissues resulting in a tremendous inflammation.

This inflammation releases fibrinous fluid into the chest or abdomen.

There are two types of FIP.

The wet form is the most common while the dry is less commonly seen.

The type of disease is determined by the amount of proteinaceous fluid released within the chest and abdomen. Clinical signs are fever, weight loss, difficult breathing and some CNS (central nervous system) lesions.

You And Your Pet

Sometimes the eye is involved and it gives it a bloody, cloudy appearance.

There is no cure or vaccine for FIP at the present time. Diagnosis is usually based on a blood test. For further information contact your local veterinarian.

Is it alright to feed my dog milk?
 Answer: Adult dogs should not be fed milk as it will cause a diarrhea. If milk is introduced, it must be done slowly and then it can be a valuable nutritional supplement.

My dog has diarrhea so should I give him a worm treatment?

Answer: Indiscriminate worming of your pet without proper diagnosis can lead to serious problems. Before your dog is wormed, a stool analysis is strongly recommended to determine if he really has worms. Accurate diagnosis determines proper treatment and unnecessary stress to a sick pet.
