SCRUB DAIRY BULLS BANISHED FROM CATAWBA

With the elimination of all scrub dairy bulls of breeding age from within the borders of Catawba county, the county now becomes third in North Carolina and one of the few in the nation to have this distinction.

Official announcement of the results secured in Catawba was made last week by John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at State College, N. B. Nicholson who worked on the project thru-out last year in cooperation with F. R. Farham, of the office of These three men, says Mr. Arey, first made a careful and detailed survey of the situation in the county. They located every scrub and every pure bred the scrubs replaced with registered stock. In all, 66 scrubs and 86 pure bred were found. Persire and went to work to have farms where scrubs were located and the owners urged to cooperate in the movement to free Catawba of this disgraceful situation. Finally four large auction sales were held at convenient points and 28 of the scrubs were sold to butchers. The others were eliminated later.

Arey says that it was carefully and the owners urged to cooperate. The work was begun in March done and that further efforts scrub bull calves that may be will be made to eliminate any dropped in the future.

There are now three counties in North Carolina having this distinction. These are Gaston, Buncombe and Catawba. The latter county has the distinction at present of being a breeding center for pure bred, high producing Jersey cattle. Some of the have been given national recognition and this further effort will make Catawba take still higher rank in breeding registered cattle.

HENS PAY WELL FOR FEED EATEN

Hens in 133 farm flocks totaling 26,231 births paid a little more than 22 cents each above feed costs for the month of January according to reports of these flocks made by the owners to C. F. Parrish, poultry extension specialist at State College. "These demonstration flocks were located in 36 counties," says Mr. Parrish. "The report for January shows that each hen produced about 12 eggs for the month or a total of 308,874 eggs. The eggs sold for $11,537.43 or an average of 44 cents a dozen. The highest price during the month was 65 cents and the lowest 30 cents a dozen. The average price was nearly five cents more a dozen than for the same month in 1929."

Mr. Parrish says that each bird in the 133 flocks consumed 3.30 pounds of scratch feed and 3.66 pounds of grain each during the month. It took 7.13 pounds of feed to produce one dozen eggs. The total value of the eggs produced by the 26,231 hens amounted to $11,537.43 for the month or an average of nearly 44 cents a hen. With an average cost of feed of 21 cents a hen, the birds returned a profit above feed cost of more than 22 cents each for the month or a total profit of $5,968.55 for all the hens in the flocks.

The value of good housing, proper management and the feeding of an egg producing ration to the farm flock is beginning to be realized by the poultrymen of North Carolina, says Mr. Parrish. The hen is no longer kept as a scavenger on the farm but now plays an important part in the annual income. With better breeding stock and better methods of housing and feeding generally followed, she is destined to become of greater importance in the future, he declares.

A solid car load of grass seed for pastures has been ordered by Alamance County farmers for planting this spring.

Could Have Avoided Years of Suffering

MRS. G. W. HUPP
"If this wonderful new Sargon had only been on the market earlier I could have avoided years of suffering. For seven years I suffered almost constantly with a dull aching pain in my side and finally these troubles broke down my whole nervous system."

Nurse Tells

How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Burnside, Ky., writes: "I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can. "I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Attorney W. M. Allen announces the removal of his law offices from the Elkin National Bank Building to his own building between Ray and Gilliam's store and Moseley and Reece's wholesale house on West Main street.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE 90 DAYS MAKE!

TODAY A TODDLING CHICK... in 90 days a proud pullet about to lay. There's something to think about! Tiny bones and little muscles have grown several times in size... a delicate fuzz has sprouted into hundreds of feathers... a chick weighing grams has grown into a pullet weighing pounds... all in 90 short days!

A wonderful change... and only one thing can do it... good feed! This year consider Purina Startena Chow (mash) and Purina Chick Chow (scratch) or All-Mash Startena Chow for the first six weeks... and then Purina Growena and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow until your pullets are laying at 16 weeks.

Put these Chows before your chicks. You will see pullets that are built right... pullets that will lay eggs aplenty in fall and winter when eggs are always worth good money.
