

OUTSTANDING NEWS EVENTS —of the— PAST WEEK

CONGRESS GETTING NATURAL
A widening breach between President Roosevelt and Congress over veterans allowances threatened Monday to tear asunder the administration's legislative program and indefinitely prolong the extra session of Congress.

PASS RAILROAD BILL
Without a record vote, the administration's bill to reorganize railroads to effect economies was passed Monday by the house and returned to the senate for adjustment of differences over amendments.

GOLD BILL SIGNED
Payment of all public and private contracts in legal tender, instead of gold became lawful Monday with the signature by President Roosevelt of the resolution nullifying the gold clause in contracts.

TO DEDICATE BUILDING
Postmaster General James A. Farley, who is also chairman of the Democratic national committee, has accepted an invitation to come to Greensboro and deliver an address at the formal opening and dedication of that city's modern new $900,000 federal building. It is not known at what date the new building will be completed.

DISCUSS WAGE INCREASE
The nation's iron and steel leaders were reported by the magazine "Steel" Sunday to be discussing in Washington a proposed wage increase of 10 and 15 per cent in connection with the pending national recovery act.

SEEK ROOSEVELT ATTITUDE
President Roosevelt's stand on Senate increases in veterans' outlays is being sought by house Democratic leaders before asking their followers to send the independent offices supply bill to conference.

HIGHER PAY ENVISIONED
Higher wages for millions of workers following close upon enactment of the industrial recovery act are envisioned by Hugh S. Johnson, selected to administer the legislation, as a result of conferences with business leaders the nation over.

AGREES TO LESSER CUTS
An executive order for a new and higher compensation for service connected cases growing out of the World War and the Spanish American war, was signed Tuesday by President Roosevelt.

NOT DICTATORSHIP
Those who will administer the industrial control bill repudiate suggestions that they seek to establish a dictatorship over industry. The administration's first and chief object in this far reaching legislation, as authoritatively explained, is to put men and women back to work and revive buying power.

APPROVE 4-POWER PACT
The French cabinet approved Tuesday the text of the proposed four-power pact to guarantee the peace of Europe and instructed Ambassador Dejeuvenel in Rome to initial the document.

TO TAKE VACATION
Seemingly confident that administration forces will overcome the opposition to his budget-balancing program, President Roosevelt was planning to leave on his first vacation according to schedule.

Civil War Veteran 100 Years of Age Yesterday

stream running red with the blood of dead and dying soldiers of both armies.

He would have told of long forced marches through the night to gain some vantage point from which to surprise and combat the well-fed, well-clothed Federal troops! Of other equally long marches, with every step one of pain and heart-break, as his regiment was forced to retreat before superior forces. Of the camps at night—superfluous and with only the ground for a bed—and the dawn bringing the command to arise and fight again.

Mr. Jenkins would have told all those stories, had he been in condition on his hundredth birthday, for he has told them, and more, in the days before illness and old age laid him upon a sick bed.

Partly paralyzed and unable to talk except at intervals, for over 15 weeks, the aged veteran lies in a coma upon his bed. His hair is snow white, bleached by a century, and upon his face no sign of pain or suffering is apparent. A veteran of 52 battles in which he never received a scratch, who knows but that perhaps even now, with the sand of life's hour glass almost out, he is living again the thrilling days of his young manhood when he wore the gray and marched with Jackson?

corps, 2,200 of them being in camps allotted the state.

The educational value is expected to be important. While the condition of the forests will be improved, the increased appreciation of the value of forests as a basis natural resource is expected to be permanent in value. The youths, 18 to 25, who attend the camps will each be an instructor of others. Work will be centered on protection from fires, which have caused damage of $1,000,000 annually in the state. Cutting fire lanes, cutting trails to approach fire areas, erecting look-out towers and erecting telephone lines will be included, while erosion control camps will seek to check destructive washing of forest and agricultural lands.

President Roosevelt is given credit for the movement, in part due to his success in reforestation work as Governor of New York. With hundreds of thousands of acres of abandoned farm lands in this state, Director Harrelson believes this state needs a reforestation program as badly as did New York, and hopes that the Civilian Conservation Corps will speed the adoption of such a program in the state.

of the county for several terms and four years as coroner. He has been actively identified with the affairs of the Bank of Yadkin since its organization in 1905, and has been a director for the past twenty years. He was a member of the Baptist church and has been a deacon in that church for a number of years past. Mr. Kelly had also been active in the Masonic lodge of this place of which he had been a member over 50 years.

Funeral services were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Baptist church here and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Linney of Wilkesboro, assisted by Rev. M. H. Vestal of Yadkinville. The funeral was in charge of the members of the Masonic Order and they attended from Farmington, Mocksville, Statesville, Jonesville, Boonville, East Bend, Baltimore, Winston-Salem and other places. Rites at the grave were conducted by Mr. Walter Holland of Statesville a well-known member of the Masonic fraternity. Burial was in the Yadkinville cemetery.

Bulletin of Flue-Cured Tobacco Now Available

The North Carolina state department of agriculture has just put into circulation a new bulletin on flue-cured tobacco which will be sent to those interested in this subject. The bulletin is limited and cannot be sent out promiscuously for nature study, but is intended to reach tobacco farmers. The bulletin was prepared by E. G. Moss and Jas. F. Bullock, both tobacco experts.

TIMELY FARM SUGGESTIONS

By J. W. CRAWFORD
County Farm Agent

Fertilization of Special Truck Crops

Snap beans, leaf and Salad crops: These crops can be improved and made to produce more by scattering nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia along the row after these crops are well started, scattering this at the rate of 1 pound to 100 feet of row.

Tomatoes: Thoroughly mix with the soil of a 100 foot row, eight pounds of 7-5-5 fertilizer and four pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate. This will do for fifty tomato plants, set two feet apart in the row.

Sweet Potatoes: Use a 10-4-8 fertilizer at the rate of five pounds per 100 feet of row or 1000 pounds per acre. Don't use stable manure or plant on rich ground when growing sweet potatoes, as this sometimes causes black rot in sweet potatoes.

Plant Insects and Diseases

Tomato Leaf Spot: Dust or spray the young plants while in the plant bed and again after setting in the garden with Bordeaux spray or dust mixtures.

Cut worms: Where cut worms are bothering the plants, scatter poison mash around the plants during late afternoon. This poison mash is made by mixing one tablespoonful of Paris Green with one quart of bran and adding enough table syrup or water to make a thick mash.

Bean Beetle: Spray beans with magnesium arsenic at the rate of one-third measuring cup to three gallons of water or dust by mixing one pound of this material with three pounds slacked or plasterer's lime. Make first application when beetles begin to eat holes in the bean leaf and again when the fuzzy worms begin hatching from the eggs.

Be sure to spray or dust underside of the leaves.

Sweet Potato Diseases: Dust the stem of the potato slip with fine sulphur immediately before transplanting. A thorough coating of the stems can be made by inserting a hand full of slips in a paper bag containing a small quantity of sulphur and then shaking the bag. This sulphur helps prevent some of the diseases that so frequently occur on sweet potatoes.
