

COTTON TO BRING 10 CENTS POUND

Roosevelt Approves Plans For Loans To Set Minimum Price

Washington, Sept. 22. — The Roosevelt administration today fashioned a powerful lever by which it hoped to raise farm prices through a virtual guarantee that cotton still on the farm would bring 10 cents—or more—per pound.

Through Reconstruction corporation funds, the farmers who still hold their cotton will be loaned 10 cents a pound, if necessary, the plan being a companion piece of the 1934-35 cotton control program which was announced today by Secretary Wallace.

The secretary said he understood the loans would be limited to those farmers who agreed to join in the campaign to reduce cotton acreage in the south next year to 25,000,000 acres.

Oscar Johnson, finance administrator of the farm administration, said loans of 10 cents a pound would be made, in all probability, on all cotton of the 1933 crop held by the farmer—should he desire it.

The 10 cents, Johnson said would be by farm price and not exchange prices which are 40 points or more higher than the price to the average grower. He said some adjustment would be made to take care of freight rates etc., but these would be worked out later. Prices on the New York exchange are around 9½ cents for middling cotton at present.

ASKS MAYORS TO SEND IN REPORTS

President Urges Steps Be Taken To Give Work To Idle

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Mayors of American cities were invited by President Roosevelt today to send in their requests for shares in the $3,300,000,000 federal public works fund, and were promised prompt action.

His message was read to 80 municipal executives attending the United States conference of mayors just as they finished listening to charges that procrastination in distributing the public works funds had put national recovery in the doldrums.

"We are at the point now where the states and municipalities interested in public work projects should come forward quickly with proposals which will give immediate work to their unemployed," the President's message said.

"We want to cooperate to the fullest possible extent, and I assure you that after your projects have been passed upon by the state advisory boards they will be acted upon in Washington with a minimum of delay.

"We will match speed with you. The money is available and we want to put men to work."

The president's message was a direct reply to the objections many mayors had brought to the conference against delays in distributing the funds for public works.
