

ANNUAL PLAY IS GIVEN BY CLASS

"Miss Adventure" Presented Friday Night By Juniors

The junior class of Elkin high school presented its annual play, Charles George's "Miss Adventure", a comedy in three acts, last Friday night at the school auditorium. All students taking part exhibited dramatic ability. Miss Sara McCracken, English and French instructor, supervised the work.

Special entertainment was furnished between the cast in the form of vocal solos and vocal and violin music by Dorothy Chappell, soprano, Rufus Crater, senior, and Josephine Paul, member of the faculty. In addition to these numbers a group of popular songs were given by a mixed high school chorus.

Sara Atkinson, a cute girl of eighteen, known as Jo, the tomboy, played the role of leading lady while Joe Transon, a young farmer, acted the part of the young hero. Others taking part in the play were:

Is Third Dividend Bank Has Declared Since Its Failure

stand in the way at the time of the next dividend.

Mr. Spradlin stated that three times the Elkin National Bank has used the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's money in paying dividends, and that the two previous times these loans have been repaid much more quickly than was anticipated. He further stated that at this time Congressman Frank Hancock was of invaluable assistance in putting through the present loan on a most satisfactory basis, and that so far as the loan is concerned the money was available some weeks ago. Mr. Hancock wrote Mr. Spradlin promptly upon the consummation of the transaction and at the same time expressed his great pleasure that the people of the Elkin community should have this third dividend available to them before the holidays.

The receiver stated that it would be of interest to the depositors to state that the present loan being used in part payment of this dividend has been largely repaid before the dividend checks were received, and that little more than one-half of the amount available would be used at this time.

Since the Elkin National Bank closed, all of the borrowed money from the National Credit Corporation has been fully repaid and the Federal Reserve Bank has been almost fully paid out, there being now owing to the Federal Reserve less than $2,000.00 of the principal. When the Federal Reserve Bank has been fully paid from the notes discounted with them, it will leave only the depositors to share in subsequent dividends, which is very much in the depositors' favor.

Mr. Spradlin expressed himself as pleased with the splendid way in which borrowers had been responding to request for payment, and he ventured the prediction that if they continue to pay as they have in the past that the depositors will fare much better than many of them had expected. He further stated that while this third dividend is being paid that liquidation is not over by any means.

Mr. Spradlin requested that cordial Christmas Greetings from the personnel of his office be extended both to depositors and debtors to the bank, and he gave his assurance that his office would continue to put forth its best efforts in the interest of all, which would be fruitful in results if met with full cooperation by all those interested.

A LETTER FROM LITTLE MISS NORMAN

Dear Editor:
I am a little crippled girl. I have been an invalid practically all of my life and am confined to my room all of the time. I have a little Christmas tree in my room and it is lots of fun to be visited by other children and to receive presents from all that will and can, to go on my tree, as I can not go out any. Everybody is invited to come and be with me on the night of December 23, 1933. If there is any person who would like to send me a gift to go on my tree, that can not come, it will be appreciated. If you will send it by mail with your name signed to it we will have old Santa take all the gifts off the tree and state who they are from.

IRENE NORMAN,
State Road, N. C.

State took over operation of the entire eight-months school term. In taking over the schools, the state reduced the cost of operation, which in 1932 amounted to approximately $23,000,000, to approximately $16,000,000 for 1933, thereby resulting in a savings to the taxpayers of the state of approximately $7,000,000 in operating cost. The property tax relief afforded for the entire state amounted to $11,476,540.

Sales taxes collected in Surry county for the first three months are below the average collections for the entire year as collections are being improved from month to month. But after allowing for the reasonable increase in the sales tax collections in Surry county which are anticipated, it will be observed that the property owners of the county are relieved of property taxes in the considerable amount shown and that the sales tax collections in Surry county will be far less than the property tax relief afforded.

The sales tax payments are made by all of the people in the county rather than those who happen to be owners of property.

New Farm Pamphlet Gives NRA Program

A detailed outline of a program for agricultural recovery in keeping with Governor Ehringhaus' "plan and prosper" campaign has just been prepared by Charles A. Sheffield, assistant extension service director at N. C. State College.

Mr. Sheffield has made a study of the crop acreage and livestock needs of North Carolina, and his findings have been set forth in a special circular, just issued by the extension service.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace told a mass meeting at Birmingham, Ala., Friday afternoon that the South's co-operation in last summer's cotton reduction program had aided the cotton belt in leading "the entire country on the way back to prosperity."

We wish to take this opportunity to wish each and everyone of our many patrons and friends a very, very Merry Christmas and to thank them for their loyal support during the past year.

BIG ROAD SHOW IN WINSTON-SALEM

Company of Seventy Passing Thru Carolinas On World Tour Starting In February.

The Tribune has been requested to announce a special midnight frolic at the Carolina Theatre in Winston-Salem, Thursday night, December 28th. For the first time in several years this section of the Piedmont is to witness an extravaganza second to none, with possibly the exception of the new Ziegfeld Follies which opened in New York a week or so ago. Because of the fact that this attraction is making a hurried trip through the Southland which will include Greensboro, Charlotte, Spartanburg, Birmingham, Atlanta, New Orleans, Dallas and other cities of the South and Southwest before sailing from San Francisco in February for the Orient, Winston-Salem was fortunate in securing them for one performance at midnight. The Greater Marcus Show presenting "La Vie Paree" consists of a company of seventy people in two Pullman cars and three seventy-foot baggage cars. The big musical was designed and conceived by Mr. A. B. Marcus who decided to portray a glimpse of the night life of Paris including such resorts as the Follies Bergere, Moulin Route and Casino de Paris. While the production is years in the Carolinas. There are fan dancers, as well as the commonplace type of tap routine and drills, and even those who have said that it is the type of entertainment children should not see, all agree that it is extraordinary entertainment in keeping with the frankness of larger communities who demand something different. The entire performance beginning at 12 Midnight consumes two and one-half hours, and all seats according to the Carolina management are reserved, money orders or express orders will be honored for advanced reservations.
