FARMERS ARE BUSY WITH THRESHING

Are Holding Free Vaccination Clinics In Bethel Community

Ronda, Route 2, July 30. — The farmers have been quite busy this week threshing. The yield of small grain is said to be fair through this community this year. The good showers of rain during this month have made the corn and tobacco grow well. Lots of tobacco is being put into barns to be cured this week.

Dr. A. J. Eller, county health officer, with the county nurse, was here last Thursday at the church at noon for the purpose of administering vaccinations. Dr. Eller says they will be here three more Thursdays, and urges the people to take advantage of the opportunity for free vaccination against contagious diseases. He has had several cases of typhoid fever reported to his office, but none who have taken this vaccination within three years.

This being the first Sunday she has been absent this year, however she was in Sunday school just the same — a good place to be.

Miss Norma Gilliam, of Jonesville, spent a few days last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. T. Stroud. Norma is such a splendid little cook, she wanted to be there to help her aunt cook dinner for the threshers.
