Red Cross Roll Call to Be Held Here Next Week

The national Red Cross roll call will begin November 11, and the roll call in Elkin will be held during next week, according to Mrs. Joe Bivins, local chairman.

The work of the Red Cross is so varied and far reaching that its benefits are hard to define. It stands courageous and ready as the symbol of hope and tenderness and neighborliness. Sixty-one nations of the world have in their Red Cross societies the common bond of binding up the wounds of battle, the prevention of disease, of relief in disaster, of character training of children, the latter through the junior Red Cross. In a world of uncertainty Red Cross stands for security.

The world sorely needs the human understanding, the kindly action, the sharing of burdens which the Red Cross stands for everywhere. It is for these expressions of the heart of mankind and in the interest of such a cause that the annual roll call is held. Won't you join?

Voters Adopt Amendments, Returns Show

North Carolina voters approved two amendments to the state constitution Tuesday by safe margins, incomplete returns showed Wednesday.

On the amendment providing for establishment of a state department of justice to consolidate and co-ordinate legal and law enforcement activities, the incomplete vote was: For, 49,711; against, 30,024.

On the amendment providing a four-year term for sheriffs and coroners instead of the present two-year terms, the incomplete vote was: For, 61,493; against, 38,627. Sheriffs and coroners elected Tuesday will serve four-year terms as a result of the passage of this amendment, which was submitted to the people by the 1937 General Assembly.

YADKIN CO. ELECTS THREE DEMOCRATS

Name Two Commissioners and Representative to State Legislature

CONFUSION IN KNOBS

Bearing out their prediction that they were going to elect several Democratic officers, Yadkin county Democrats Tuesday put two commissioners in office and elected their choice for the state house of representatives.

With all returns in, an unofficial tabulation of votes by precincts disclosed that Frank Woodhouse, Democrat, won over W. T. Fletcher by 390 votes, to become the only member of his party to represent Yadkin since Baxter Simpson went to the legislature in 1914.

The two Democratic commissioners elected were J. W. Shore, of Boonville, and D. A. Reynolds, of Yadkinville. Republicans filled all the other offices.

Sheriff Inscore was reelected by a small majority of 273 votes. Clerk of Superior Court Crater was reelected by 69 votes.

Confusion reigned in North Knobs township (Jonesville), when Republicans accused W. D. Holcomb, Jonesville Democrat, of doing away with over 50 Republican votes during the course of counting Tuesday night. Mr. Holcomb stated Wednesday that he was innocent of the charge, and intimated that the votes allegedly found in the rear of the polling place were planted there by parties who wished the result of the North Knobs election to be thrown out.

As the result of this argument, the ballot boxes were ordered locked up pending an investigation. The count disclosed, however, that North Knobs had voted Democratic.

Incomplete returns in the race for the state senate in the 24th district, which includes Yadkin, Davie and Wilkes, show Dr. T. W. Shore, Democrat, of Boonville, the apparent winner.

A complete tabulation of the vote in Yadkin county by precincts, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Reynolds; center is A. D. (Lon) Folger, who led the ticket in Surry to win as Congressman from the fifth district. Right is Henry Dobson, of Elkin, who was elected as representative to the state legislature.

ELKIN VOTERS GIVE MAJORITY

Democratic Candidates Win Here By Over 3 to 1; Termed Fair Election

OVER 1,000 VOTES CAST

In what was termed by Democrats and Republicans alike as the fairest election ever held here, the voters of Elkin precinct marched to the polls Tuesday to chalk up substantial majorities for all Democratic candidates.

With over 1,000 votes cast, Democratic candidates polled over a three to one majority in most instances. However, Dave Woodruff, of Elkin, Republican, candidate for commissioner, made an excellent showing here with a total of 417 votes, leading the Republican ticket. Dr. Ira S. Gambill, also of Elkin, and Republican candidate for coroner, received a good vote, polling 354. The average Republican vote was around 250.

Complete returns for all county candidates will be found in the tabulated returns contained elsewhere in this issue.

In the matter of the constitutional amendment making the term of office of sheriff and coroner four years, 705 votes were cast for and 228 against. The voters avored a state department of justice with 587 votes as against 196 opposed.

In the township race for justice of the peace, John Brookshire received 781 votes; C. W. Young, 788; W. M. Gentry, 780; and R. L. Harris 794. There were no Republican candidates.

For constable Andrew J. Hayes received 794 votes with his Republican opponent, J. B. Gentry, receiving 10.

In the race for the state legislature, with both the Democratic and Republican candidates from Elkin, Henry C. Dobson led Cola Fulp, Republican, 785 to 293.

Early election returns from the sixth congressional district showed Carl T. Durham, of Chapel Hill, the only congressional candidate whose name was printed on the ballots, leading by a considerable majority with Oscar G. Barker, of Durham, who was defeated in the Democratic primary by the late Judge Lewis E. Teague, of High Point, polling perhaps the largest write-in vote in the history of North Carolina.

In Durham county the Barker protest vote was leading. Reports from 25 out of 30 precincts in that county showed that 1,675 voters had scratched out the name of Durham and substituted that of Barker, as compared with 1,450 who voted for Durham.

GOV. LEHMAN APPOINTED WINNER

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, apparently won reelection after a terrific struggle in New York yesterday (Tuesday), but Republican candidates for major posts took leads in such strategic states as Pennsylvania, Kansas, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Incomplete returns indicated a strong upsurge of Republican strength in several areas. Thomas E. Dewey, young rackets prosecutor, carried the Republican colors into the lead in early returns from New York state, but later a rush of ballots from New York city indicated a slim margin of victory for Lehman.

N. C. VOTES AS EXPECTED

Raleigh, Nov. 8.—North Carolina kept its Democratic allegiance unbroken in today's general election, scattered returns from all parts of the state indicated tonight.

State highway patrolmen investigated the tragedy, but tonight had not been able to identify the victim. Ashes and a few bones were all that was left of him.

Pumpkin Sprouts Found Growing Inside Pumpkin

Unseasonable weather which has been experienced by this section for the past month, has been responsible for many queer pranks of nature, but the most unusual to date was brought to The Tribune office Monday morning by John Gilliam, of Elkin.

Mr. Gilliam displayed several pumpkin seed that had sprouted, the sprouts being several inches in length and with well developed leaves a yellow-green in color. This growth was found inside of a pumpkin which was cut at the Gilliam home earlier that morning.

The pumpkin was sound in every way, Mr. Gilliam stated. It is believed that due to the unusual warm weather, the fully matured seed inside the pumpkin, nourished by the natural amount of water the pumpkin contained, sprouted as it would have done had it been planted normally.
