Presbyterian Notes

The church was well filled last Sunday to welcome Mr. Manson. His message was enjoyed by every one present.

The pastor of the Elkin church, Rev. O. V. Caudill, preached at the Yadkinville Presbyterian church last Sunday to a well attended service.

Every one seems to be enjoying the Sunday School as the attendance is on the increase.

The young people have been leading their own programs on Sunday evenings and they like it. Jim Hanks led February 26, and Hulda Money led March 5.

We invite everyone to attend two services Sunday March 12. The morning service by the pastor on the subject, "What comes to the gifts we make to the church." The evening service will be conducted by laymen of the church.

Mr. Jack Wells and Arch B. Taylor, of Winston-Salem, will conduct this service. Come and hear what these plain spoken business men have to say for the church. It might help members of any church to hear them.

We cordially welcome everyone to our services.

An initialed rubber ball thrown into the ocean on the New Jersey coast in July 1888 was found 43 years later on an island in Japan.

Too Steady

"Boss, I'm leaving," the hired man said to the Scotch farmer. "You promised me a steady job." "Well, ain't it?" asked his employer.

"No," replied the hired man, "there's at least three hours in the middle of the night when I've got nothing to do."

Women talk faster than men, using five or six words to a man's four.
