ROCKFORD

Mr. Robert Harden Holyfield spent last Thursday and Friday in Asheville, N. C.

Rev. C. W. Russell, of Dobson, filled his regular appointment at the Rockford Methodist church last Sunday. A large crowd attended, considering there is so much sickness in the community.

There has been right much sickness for the past two weeks in this community, due to the sudden change in weather, but at this writing I am glad to say there is much improvement.

The young people of this community are giving a program next Saturday night in the Rockford Baptist church. The program will consist of talks, duets, quartets and choruses. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Joe Brown, of Winston-Salem, owner of the old court house in Rockford, spent last Sunday afternoon here. He plans to begin work soon on this old building, making it into a beautiful country home.

MOVE AFFECTS 650 EMPLOYEES AND FAMILIES

warehouse for the company's finished products.

The Chatham Manufacturing company will not build houses here for their Winston-Salem employees, but will depend on local and private capital to take care of this matter. At first, it was said, many of the Winston employees will probably commute between Elkin and that city.

Although complete plans are not yet ready for the new structure, it is believed that the building should be ready and the actual movement of machinery and equipment from Winston begun by November or December, Mr. Chatham told The Tribune.

In addition to the many advantages of consolidating the two plants, the cooperation of Elkin and its citizens has been one of the reasons for the move. Mr. Chatham said, speaking highly of the satisfactory relations between the town and the company during the past. He said the move "will seem like coming home to me."

Although the consolidation of the two plants here has been rumored over the town for several days, The Tribune officially broke the news to the community in an extra edition published Monday evening following the announcement by Mr. Chatham.

The Chatham Manufacturing company was founded by the late T. L. Gwyn and Alex Chatham, Sr., in the form of a little mill for the manufacture of woolen cloth well over a half century ago.

The mill at that time was located on the Elkin creek, just opposite the site where the old Elkin Shoe company building now stands. Only one loom was used, the wool being carded and spun by hand.

The mill was in operation a number of years before the manufacture of blankets was begun, and has grown steadily until today it occupies a commanding position in the manufacturing world.

One who did much to build this great industry was the late Hugh Gwyn Chatham, father of the company's present head, Thurmond Chatham. Under his guidance and direction the plant grew steadily, and the Winston-Salem plant was constructed to operate in connection with the main plant here. Another official who deserves much credit for the success of the company is the late Capt. G. T. Roth, who was for 45 years superintendent.

Among others instrumental in the continued growth of the company are W. A. Neaves, vice-president and general superintendent; T. M. Lillard, vice-president; Albert Butler, vice-president, and Raymond Harris, superintendent of the Winston plant.

MRS. WILMOTH HURT IN FALL

Mrs. S. H. Wilmoth, formerly of Elkin, but who now resides with her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Hutchins, near Yadkinville, is reported to be in a critical condition from a fractured hip suffered in a fall in her bedroom recently. Mrs. Wilmoth, who is the widow of the late S. H. Wilmoth, for many years a prominent merchant in this city, has been practically an invalid for sometime. According to reports Mrs. Wilmoth got out of bed in the absence of her nurse and went to another part of the house, but had returned to her room at the time of the accident. The nurse found her on the floor beside the bed upon her return.

Rev. and Mrs. Hutchins, who divide their time between Waynesville, where Rev. Hutchins is presiding elder of the Waynesville district of the Methodist church, and Yadkinville, came immediately upon being informed of the accident.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely thank our many friends of Elkin Valley and elsewhere for their kind assistance rendered us during the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Nancy Elmira Pierce. May Heaven's richest benediction always be yours.
