

G-E COOKING SCHOOL TODAY

Session Will Also Be Held Friday Afternoon in Old Postoffice Building

SHOW MAGIC KITCHEN

The Elkin Plumbing & Heating Co., local General Electric dealers, have issued an invitation to all housewives of Elkin and this section to attend the General Electric cooking school to be held this afternoon (Thursday), and Friday in the old postoffice building on Market street. Each afternoon's session will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The school will be in charge of Mrs. Miriam Little, widely known home economist, who will have a program of great interest to housewives.

In addition to the cooking school, the public is invited to see the General Electric Magic Kitchen, which will be on display in the same building Thursday and Friday nights, and all day Saturday at 30-minute intervals. This magic kitchen is said to talk, move and disappear like magic. It was first on display at the Chicago World's Fair. A similar kitchen is now on display at the San Francisco fair, and it will also be on exhibit at the New York World's Fair. The kitchen was built at a cost of over $25,000.

Cooperating in the cooking school here are a number of Elkin firms, which are donating attractive prizes to be awarded at each day's session.

MUST OBTAIN PERMITS TO SET BRUSH FIRES

All farmers must secure a burning permit in order to burn brush between now and June 15, it has been announced by Surry Fire Warden J. R. Norman, of Mountain Park.

These permits may be obtained from himself at Mountain Park, or from the following: Joe S. Greenwood, Elkin, Route 2; E. S. Johnson, White Plains; W. T. Allen, Pinnacle; M. S. Ramey, Low Gap; Ed J. Smith, Mount Airy, route 6.

The law will be strictly enforced, Mr. Norman said, and those offending will be arrested and prosecuted.

LOCAL STORE IS SOLD BY CURTIS

O. D. Causey, of Greensboro, New Owner of Western Auto Associate Store

CURTIS GOES TO MURPHY

The Western Auto Associate Store, opened here last year by J. P. Curtis, of Greensboro, is now under new ownership, Mr. Curtis having sold the business to O. D. Causey, of Greensboro.

Mr. Curtis has gone to Murphy, where he will be associated in the lumber business. His family will remain here for the next month or so before joining him.

Mr. Causey has moved his wife and two children here, making their home in the Modern Apartments on Market street.

The Western Auto Associate Store handles a complete line of automobile parts and accessories, including batteries and tires. It also features radios, bicycles and parts, sporting goods, etc.

FINAL MEETING OF CLUB HELD

ville high school, and before that time he was connected with Rutherford College in the dual capacity of coach and teacher.

The speaker centered his talk around the following five points or habits of character which he said should be taught to the pupil in such a way that they would influence the child to do his best: Teaching the child to overcome difficulties, teaching the habit of thoroughness, promptness, power of self-thinking, and habits of culture. In talking on the habits of culture that he said should be inculcated into the child, Mr. Weaver said usefulness and courtesy were the greatest needs of teaching.

In discussing the foregoing points, the speaker said that the teacher should stress the importance of overcoming difficulties in hardships. "Careful teaching and guidance along these lines will pay handsome dividends in the future," declared Weaver, "because the child of today is going out there tomorrow to battle the difficulties and obstacles of life, and if he is prepared to meet these things from past experience, he will make a better man. It is the teacher's place to teach the child how to overcome hard problems that face the student." He further said that the person that was best prepared would be the one that excelled in life, and that thoroughness in at least one subject was a very necessary prerequisite in this day of specialization. Simple points of courtesy, the speaker said, should be taught the child from the very first. This, he said, was one of the most needed teachings in the entire school system.

The speaker closed his talk by saying that there should be some place for the teaching of leadership in the schools, and that in all the things that the teacher teaches he will teach them only as he lives them.

Patients dismissed during the week were: Mrs. Annie Everidge, Jonesville; R. L. Mills, Elkin; Geneva Cockerham, Roaring River; Mrs. Fairy Eldridge, State Road; John L. Reavis, Boonville.

FAIRVIEW MAN PASSES AWAY SUNDAY NIGHT

John Poindexter, 76, died at his home at Fairview Tuesday night. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louisa Poindexter, two sons, William Poindexter of Danville, Va., and Bennie Poindexter of Dobson; five grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Wood and Mrs. Tobe Chandler of Dobson; and one brother, Dick Poindexter, of Dobson.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from Fairview church at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. S. Draughan and Rev. Walter Calloway conducted the services. Burial was in the church graveyard.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS MOVED TO TOWN HALL

The Elkin fire department was moved early Monday morning from the basement floor of The Tribune building to new quarters in the town hall, construction of which is practically complete.

The fire department is on the street floor and opens on Market. Room is provided for both trucks.

Chief of Police Dixie Graham expects to move his office into the new building within the next day or so.

Presbyterian Notes

Last week the Presbyterian church of Elkin had quite a surprise when it found the Winston-Salem Presbytery was buying the manse once owned by the church back.

The committee had had an option on this property since about the 15th of March. The home is on Gwyn avenue and the purchase was made from Mr. Carl Myers. By doing this the Winston-Salem Presbytery has made it possible for the Elkin church to have a home for the pastor until the church grows strong enough in membership to take over this home from the committee. This is another forward step for the Presbyterian church in Elkin. The encouraging report the Elkin church is making to Presbytery this year points to a brighter future for our church here.

Last Wednesday the regular monthly council of the church was held at the home of the pastor. The reports of the year's work were made and reports were adopted for Presbytery. Representatives were elected to represent the church at Collins Town where Presbytery is to be held April 17.

We are glad to find the families in the church who have been suffering with influenza for the past week are recovering.

Our church appreciates very much the fine message brought to the congregation last Sunday morning by Prof. Dixon.

There will be an egg hunt for the Sunday school Saturday afternoon. Children will meet at the church at two o'clock.

Dr. E. E. Gillespie and Rev. O. V. Caudill visited churches in Ashe county Sunday night in the interest of Presbytery and Synods work.

You are cordially invited to attend the Easter service of our church.

ALL DOGS IN COUNTY MUST BE VACCINATED
