START CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Beer Distributors in State to Crack Down on Ob-jectionable Outlets

RALEIGH HEAD OFFICE

Raleigh, June 13—In a letter to all beer retailers throughout the State, requesting cooperation in a "clean-up" campaign, Colonel Edgar H. Bain, state director of the new Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Com-mittee, simultaneously served notice today that failure to "clean-up" would mean "close-up."

Colonel Bain promised prompt action against beer outlets whose operations are regarded by both industry and public as objection-able.

"The majority of the retail outlets," said Colonel Bain, "are conducted legally and give no of-fense to the general public.

"Against the illegally operated minority, we will move vigorously as to seek revocation of their li-censes. Such steps will be taken through the proper legal authori-ties."

The North Carolina campaign has the active support and co-operation of the United Brewers Industrial Foundation, nation-wide organization whose mem-berhip includes leading large and small brewers.

Similar campaigns have been inaugurated with success in Ne-braska, Kansas, Alabama, Maine, and Tennessee.

Headquarters of the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distribu-tors Committee has been estab-lished in Raleigh.

CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES IS DRAWING NEAR END

The championship soft ball series in the Chatham Manufac-turing company tournament draws near a close with three of the five games tucked away, two to the credit of the Bull Dogs, representing the office and card room, and one for the Hound Dogs (spinning department.)

Although winning first place in both the first and second half of the tournament, the Hound Dogs lost their first two games in the series last Wednesday and Thurs-day by scores of 5-2, 8-7. How-ever, they came back Monday to whip their rivals 11-8.

Winners and runners-up in the tournament are to be entertain-ed at a chicken fry next Monday evening by the T. C. U. club, which sponsored the tourney. Gold trophy soft balls will go to the winning team which includes 10 regular players, manager and one substitute.

Excuse Your Error

"Did you," a Pawhuska doctor demanded of his daughter, "tell that young man of yours I think he is no good?"

"Yes, Dad," she replied, "but that didn't impress him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you've made."
