

THIRTEEN BOYS AND GIRLS GO TO 4-H MEETING

Accompanied by Farm and Home Agent for a Week's Stay

REPRESENT SIX CLUBS

Thirteen boys and girls, members of Yadkin county 4-H clubs, left Yadkinville yesterday for Raleigh, where they will attend the annual 4-H club short course held at State College this week. The group was accompanied by Miss Irene Brown, home demonstration agent, R. A. McLaughlan, assistant farm agent, and Mrs. McLaughlan. Around 1,000 boys and girls are expected for the one week meeting at the college, from all over the state. Various programs of demonstrations and recreational features will fill up the week, along with various tours of the college and places of interest around Raleigh.

On Thursday night the 4-H health queen and king of North Carolina will be selected and crowned. Julia Williams, health queen, and J. K. Miller, health king of Yadkin, will take part in the pageant.

Those attending from the Yadkin 4-H clubs are: Boonville, Dorothy Fleming, Bryce Poindexter and Carolyn Riden; Courtney, Jessie Hauser and Marie Miller; East Bend, Ellen Martin and Ernestine Doub; Yadkinville, Arthur L. Saylor, Donald Hudsouth and Martha Bryant; Fall Creek, Frank Fleming; Jonesville, Davis Haynes and Claude Haynes.
