A lake in Livonia has a small island which sinks below the surface every fall. In the spring it rises again and the farmers raise a crop of hay upon it.

COOL SPRINGS

A large crowd gathered for the singing convention at Cool Springs Sunday morning. The opening song was directed by Hurcel Tubert, leader at Shoaly Branch. Scripture reading by our pastor, Rev. I. W. Vestal. Mr. J. M. Lyon served as moderator.

The choirs and groups participating were as follows: Cool Springs, A. C. Wall, director; Pleasant Home, J. Q. Burcham, director; Shoaly Branch, C. H. Tubert, director; Cool Springs Juniors, Misses Raye Holbrook and Edith Couch. Miss Anne Chism, of Thomasville, a crippled girl who spends her time singing the Gospel, was present, and rendered several numbers. Two groups represented the Pentecostal Holiness church of Jonesville, soloist. Little Elkin was represented with a trio, their leader being away working on the tobacco market in Georgia.

A large number of visitors were present from various churches and different states.

Mr. and Mrs. Worth Pettyjohn of Lynchburg, Va., are back again in Mr. Pettyjohn's old home community.

Mrs. M. M. Pinnix and small daughter, of Wythville, Va., spent a few days here the past week visiting friends.

The next singing convention will be held with Shoaly Branch and all singers are assured a hearty welcome there.

Next Sunday the Sunday School convention will be held at Cool Springs church. This convention is just a get-together of different churches of the Elkin association (though other visitors are welcome) and its aim and plan is to take the best ideas presented from time to time and build it into a more perfect structure for the benefit of our schools.

The program Sunday afternoon will be in part a short program by the Cool Springs Intermediates, in charge of Mabel Newman, and the teachers of the classes. George Walters, in charge of the work, has the good of the school, his school and your school, at heart.

LITTLE ELKIN

A successful meeting was held here last week. Rev. Cleve Simmons assisted the pastor, Rev. J. H. Luffman. Many people attended the meeting and much interest was shown during the week. The baptismal service will be held Sunday, August 27.

Our Sunday school attendance was smaller than usual, but is still doing fine, with 108 present Sunday.

Mr. Edd Foyster, of Fairplain, spent the week-end here with his sister, Mrs. Percie Felts.

Miss Maggie Laster, of this community, and Mr. Buddie Martin, of Jonesville, were married in Galax, Va., last Saturday afternoon. Congratulations go out to them from all their friends.

Teeth Out; Stove In

Jessie—My dear, I haven't seen you for ages.

Tessie—Oh, I know. I've been so busy with one thing and another, I've just had my teeth taken out and a gas stove put in.

DINKINS MAKES STRINGER FOR TOBACCO WORK

Delbert R. Dinkins of Yadkin Invents First Machine of Its Kind

IS A GREAT TIME SAVER

Briggs-Shaffner Company, of Winston-Salem, has begun work on producing the Dinkins Tobacco Stringer, a machine to put tobacco on the sticks for curing, it has been learned.

This machine, invented by Delbert R. Dinkins, of East Bend, Yadkin county, in the King Knobs section, was patented jointly by him and the Briggs-Shaffner Company.

Mr. Dinkins, the originator of the machine, who has been a tobacco grower for more than 25 years, had been working on the principle for nearly 10 years before he made a working model.

He then took the principle to Briggs-Shaffner Company who quickly became interested in it. The patent letters were readily obtained from the United States patent office and covered several new and basic claims. The machine is the first of anything in its nature appearing on the market.

Ralph T. Stewart, engineer with the Briggs-Shaffner Co., is credited with the development of the basic principles. In collaboration with the inventor for the past three years, he has planned and built model after model until he regards the machine entirely clear of all mechanical weaknesses.

The manufacturers are convinced the machine will revolutionize the handling of green tobacco at the barn. It weighs only a few pounds. A child can operate it. Only a few hours are required to get accustomed to the use of it.

The manufacturers say the machine has two principal advantages over hand-stringing. One is that it will speed up the work appreciably without any increased effort. The other is that when the tobacco is ready to be taken off the stick the twine can be simply "raveled out," like the seam in a gunny sack. This takes only a matter of two or three seconds and leaves no twine in the tobacco.

Mr. Dinkins stated the other day that some of the machines would be ready for this season's tobacco crop, but not a great many of them could be marketed until next year.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Several people from this community have been attending the revival meeting at Little Elkin during the past week.

HUDSPETH REUNION TO BE HELD ON AUGUST 13

A reunion of the Hudspeth family will be held at the home of J. W. Hudspeth, near Yadkinville, the second Sunday in August.

The public is cordially invited to attend and bring a basket dinner.

The largest bird known to have lived on earth was the Moa, now extinct, it is thought because of their habit of eating their own eggs when food was scarce.

BETHEL

This community was saddened, last Monday, over the serious accident of Joe Melton, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Melton, who fell from the top of a tobacco barn while assisting his father in housing tobacco. He received painful injuries on his head, and is being treated at the Memorial hospital at Elkin.

Several from here attended the revival held at Briar Creek church last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Triplette, Clay Mastin and Mr. W. H. Jones and family visited Mr. and Mrs.

David R. Gilliam last Sunday at their home near Jonesville on the Swan Creek road.

Miss Lillian Tucker, of Elkin, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lon Billings, last Sunday.

Some from this place attended the funeral and burial last Sunday afternoon of Mr. Thomas C. Cheeks of Swan Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Cockerham of near Mt. Airy visited her parents here last Sunday, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Gilley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Morrison had as their dinner guests the fourth Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Mathis and children of Swan Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Mc-

Bride and son, Billy of Jonesville.

Mrs. Thomas Myers and two children returned to her home in Mullins, S. C., after being the guest of her mother, Mrs. R. G. Mastin, for several days.

Mrs. C. W. Gilliam, Sr., is spending some time visiting her brother and family, J. S. Rose of Mt. Airy.
