

YADKIN COUNTY IS BENEFITTED

Social Security Benefits Approximately $61,728 There, Writer Says

MANY PEOPLE AIDED

Yadkin county individuals and communities have benefitted to the extent of approximately $61,728.00 through operation of the ten divisions of the Social Security Act, it is estimated by M. R. Dunnagan, informational service representative of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, and native of Yadkin county.

In the average North Carolina county, as to the balance in industry and agriculture, the largest item, and usually from one-third to one-half of the total, is Unemployment Compensation. In Yadkin county, predominantly agricultural, with few large industries, this form of jobless benefits amounts to a small part of the total payments going to the county. In the 18 months of unemployment benefits, $4,160.91, included in 613 checks, has been distributed in Yadkin, Mr. Dunnagan said the records in the Central UCC office in Raleigh show.

Through cooperation of Mr. Nathan L. Yelton, State director of Public Assistance, and Dr. Roma S. Cheek, executive secretary of the State Commission for the Blind, and with figures in the UCC office and from Washington, Mr. Dunnagan said he was able to get a fairly accurate picture of the amount of payments that have come to Yadkin through the Social Security program.

Old Age Assistance, the help for needy persons who have reached 65 years of age, amounted to $21,818.00 in the two years since payments started, ending June 30. In July an additional $1,410.00 was distributed to 200 aged needy persons, an average of $7.05 each, as compared with the State average in July of $9.59 each.

Aid to Dependent Children, help in the support of children deprived of their natural breadwinners, reached $11,277.00 in the same two months. In July, $700.00 additional was distributed toward the support of 138 such children. The July average was $5.07 each, as compared with the State average of $5.91 each.

Aid to the Blind amounted to $1,622.00 in the same two-year period, while an additional $75.00 in July went to six needy blind persons in Yadkin, an average of $12.50 each. The State average in July was $14.67 each.

The fund for Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind is furnished, one-half by the Federal government and one-fourth each by State and county, while the Aid to Dependent Children Fund is furnished one-third each by Federal, State and county governments.

Old Age Benefits, or Insurance, only small lump sum payments so far, is not available by counties, but a proration, based on the State amount, indicates that probably 32 individuals and families have received about $700.00 in these payments in two and one-half years. These sums have gone to individuals who have worked for covered employment after January 1, 1937, and have since reached the age of 65 years, or to families of such workers who have died since that date. The value of this program will be more apparent when the payments go on a monthly basis, starting with January, 1940, as provided by a recent amendment by Congress, Mr. Dunnagan said.

With this small estimate, and actual figures in the other four divisions mentioned, it is apparent that close to $39,578.00 has been distributed in Yadkin in these five major divisions. In the other five divisions, classed as services, a prorated estimate indicates that about $22,150.00 has been used in Yadkin county in the more than three years of operation of these divisions, divided about as follows: Maternal and Child Health services, $4,000.00; Services for Crippled Children, $3,300.00; Child Welfare services, $2,650.00; Vocational Rehabilitation, $1,700.00; and Public Health work, $10,500.00.

Several factors enter into this proration for Yadkin, Mr. Dunnagan explained. Yadkin county had a population of 18,010, or 0.568 per cent. of the population of the entire State, 1930 census. The amount devoted to these purposes from the Federal Government in the State is known, and the State matches practically all of it on a dollar for dollar basis. Also, this part of the program has been in operation for more than three years. Entering also into this estimate is the assumption that the population, on the percentage basis, and conditions in Yadkin county are normal and average for the State.

Central UCC office records show that only 11 resident employers are subject to the State Unemployment Compensation Law, and that only 140 workers are protected by this law. Employers in the county in the two years of 1937 and 1938 and the first three months of 1939, paid into the State Unemployment Fund $5,290.72 in taxes based on their payrolls. It is seen that workers out of jobs drew in 18 months almost as much, $4,160.91, as the employers paid in on them in 2 1-4 years.

Also, records show that 213 initial claims for compensation, probably as many as five for each claimant, and 1,641 continued claims—the claims which follow each week the initial claims—were filed by Yadkin residents in the 18 months ending June 30.

Employment Service Division reports indicate that 952 registrations for work and 254 placements in jobs were recorded for Yadkin workers in the 12 months ending June 30.

Yadkin county people are served by the Winston-Salem Employment office through weekly scheduled trips to certain points in the county, and to others as occasion arises. Stokes is served in like manner from the Winston-Salem office.

EXPLAINS CHANT OF AUCTIONEERS

James Ball Makes Personal Appearance at Charlotte to Interpret Jargon

SAYS IT IS SIMPLE CODE

By TIM FRIDGEN
Charlotte New Staff Writer
James Ball, THE James Ball, who, now that tobacco auctioneers are about to take the shine off of Hollywood's glamour boys in national publicity, is a North Carolinian and is having the time of his jovial life at Grant's, on N. Tryon Street, today and tomorrow enlightening crowds of fellow Tar Heels on the mystery of what the auctioneer says when he chants.

The personal appearance idea was a new one, and the novelty was as enchanting to Mr. Ball as to the people who crowded the aisles to hear him. After all, one doesn't get a chance often to get a close up of the Nation's undisputed champion of the tobacco warehouses. To learn that he was practically home-folks, after having seen his picture on the backs of all the National magazines, was that much extra.

"It is all very plain, very simple—the auctioneer's chant," Mr.

Ball smiled. "It has to be understood, you know. It is through the chant that millions and millions of pounds of tobacco are sold, and millions of dollars, in money change hands. It couldn't be just plain gibberish. So I will explain to you what is said:

"Sixteen — sixteen — pringaling-a-dishpan-sharnig — a-slish-a-hame string—' anyway, something like that."

Then, amiably enough, he goes back and takes the string of unintelligible jargon apart and, lo, there it is. It meant something after all.

He explains how the tobacco buyers, representing the five big American manufacturing companies, the foreign buyers, and the various independent buyers, have their secret means of making known their bids to the auctioneers, and gives a great deal of other information on subjects which mystify the visitor in the tobacco warehouses.

The auctioneer has several warehouses of his own, and cries sales in the biggest centers only. By reason of his past record he is in great demand. His record of having sold 19,000,000 pounds of tobacco in one season has never been equalled, and no one is even close to his record of having sold 249,000,000 pounds in 25 years.

It takes five years to make an auctioneer, he said. He, himself, studied under his father, Colonel

J. S. Ball, who is now 85 years old, lives in Mount Airy, sold tobacco for 40 years and would be at it yet, except for his 85 years. Mr. Ball goes to Mount Airy, where he will cry sales when the Upper District opens. Later he is under contract for broadcasting.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE ELKIN TRIBUNE

"Advertising in the Elkin Tribune sells the goods," writes the Creomulsion Company, makers of Creomulsion, one of the largest selling cough medicines on the market today, in releasing a new series of ads on their product. WHAT IS FUR?

Teacher—Tommy, can you spell "fur"?

Tommy—Yes, ma'am—"f-u-r."

Teacher—That's correct. Now tell the class what fur is.

Tommy—Fur is an awful long way off.
