KLONDIKE COW HOLDS WORLD'S MILK RECORD

Klondike Jette Produced More Milk and Butterfat Than Any Other

REGISTERED GUERNSEY

When Admiral Richard E. Byrd returned to Antarctica on his second expedition in 1933, he carried with him a blue-blooded Guernsey cow to furnish his men with fresh milk. The cow's name was Klondike Gay Carteret, from Thurmond Chatham's Klondike Farm, four miles north of Elkin.

In the icy waters of Little America, Klondike Gay Carteret gave birth to a bull calf, Klondike Iceberg, the first and only bovine animal born within the Antarctic Circle. Klondike Iceberg survived the rigors of the Antarctic for 15 months, the trip back across the equator, and an extended tour of the United States to follow up the newspaper headlines he had made a year and a half before. Today Klondike Iceberg is grazing the rolling green hills of Klondike Farm.

Last month Iceberg's claim to fame among the 160 fawn and white-spotted Klondike Guernseys was shared equally by a young cow, Klondike Jette, owner of a new world's milk and butterfat production record. To establish her record among her breed and class (for three and one-half year olds), Klondike Jette produced 18,238 lbs. of milk and 930 lbs. of butterfat in one year, more poundage each month than her actual body weight (1,205 lbs.). To have carried her year's production would have required a caravan of nine one-ton trucks.

Mrs. Tula Stimpson, who was injured in an automobile wreck seven weeks ago, between Winston-Salem and Kernersville, is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Brown. Fletcher Clan of Yadkin Hold Reunion

Members of the immediate family of the late D. M. Fletcher met Sunday for an all-day reunion and picnic on the Scenic Highway in Alleghany county.

The Fletcher family is unique in the fact that there are nine children living, and all were present except one. That one was Mrs. Pearl Matthews, of Sanford. The oldest of the Fletcher children, Mr. W. T. Fletcher, of Boonville, is well up in the sixties, while the youngest, Mrs. H. E. Angell, of Friendship, near East Bend, is in her forties. There has never been a death among the children except one child who died in its infancy.

The family ate their picnic dinner at Laurel Springs, and then drove over the Scenic Highway.

The Fletcher children present were W. T. Fletcher, R. M. Fletcher and Mrs. J. O. Fleming, of Boonville; Mrs. J. R. Hall, Mrs. Betty Hall, Mrs. C. A. Hall, Mrs. R. E. Angell, Mrs. Dell Angell and R. D. Angell, of East Bend.

DUST AN INSULT

Wimpus—I grovel here in the dust at your feet. . . . Clara—Dust! Dust! Do you mean to insult me? Why I spent the whole afternoon cleaning this room.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our dear mother, and for the many beautiful floral offerings.

J. W. CHAPPELL AND FAMILY.

KEPT SCANDAL SECRET

Mother—Did you tell the Lord about your being so bad and ask his forgiveness?

Little Joany—No, mother; I didn't think you would want such a scandal known outside the family.

NOT IN ARK

Sally Anne (aged six)—Granddad, were you in the ark? Granddad—Why, no, honey. Sally Anne—Then why weren't you drowned?

Parsley was used by the Greeks as a funeral decoration.
