Mrs. Graham Is Hostess to Club Thursday

Mrs. H. C. Graham entertained members of the Two-Four Bridge club at a delightful bridge-luncheon Thursday at her home on Terrace avenue. The guests were invited for luncheon at one o'clock. In the afternoon bridge was played at two tables. At the close of the progressions scoring honors went to Mrs. A. O. Bryan. Mrs. Marion Allen was a special guest of the club.

Mrs. Meed Is Hostess To Club Tuesday Evening

Mrs. Gilbert Meed delightfully entertained members of the Play-makers Club Tuesday evening at her home on Bridge street. The home was decorated throughout with chrysanthemums and the table appointments were suggestive of the Thanksgiving season. Bridge was played at three tables. The high score award went to Mrs. Ed. Gray and the honor prize to Mrs. Pauline Masten Pardue, at the conclusion of the play. A sweet course was served to the following guests: Mesdames Carl Young, Ted Brown, Jake Jones, Pauline Masten Pardue, Ed Gray and Dick Evans; Misses Lucille and Hazel Phillips, Willie Guyer, Lucy Gray, Agnes Gray and Mattie Brendle.

Daughters of American Revolution Meet Thursday

The regular meeting of the Jonathan Hunt Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Edwin Duncan, of Sparta, as hostess, at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Wellborn, on Bridge street.

The meeting opened with the ritual, with the regent, Mrs. Joe Bivins, presiding. The program included a sketch of pioneer settlers in North Carolina and historic facts of Revolutionary War days by Mrs. Wellborn. Mrs. Duncan told of the restoration of some of the ancient homes and towns of North Carolina.

Mrs. E. W. McDaniel gave a report of the recent district D. A. R. meeting held at North Wilkesboro.

During the social hour a prettily appointed collation was served.

Mrs. McDaniel Is Hostess At Series of Parties

Mrs. E. W. McDaniel was hostess at a series of small parties this week at her home on Bridge street.

Tuesday she was hostess at a delightful bridge-luncheon. The guests were invited for one o'clock. Following the luncheon bridge was played at two tables. The high score award went to Mrs. R. C. Freeman and the runner-up prize to Mrs. George Royall at the conclusion of the play.

Tuesday evening she was hostess at a bridge-dinner. Covers were placed for eight. Scoring honors went to Miss Maude Greenwood for high score and Mrs. Franklin Folger for runner-up at the conclusion of the progressions.

The final party of the series was a luncheon Wednesday. Covers were placed for eight at attractively appointed tables. For each of the events the home was artistically arranged with yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants.

Mrs. Dockery Is Hostess to Club Thursday Afternoon

The election of officers for the year featured the monthly meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Book club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. P. Dockery on Bridge street. Mrs. George Royall was elected president of the club, Mrs. F. W. Graham vice-president, and Mrs. G. P. Dockery, secretary and treasurer.

In drawing for the prize among the members, Mrs. W. W. Whitaker was the fortunate winner. Mrs. H. B. Holcomb drew the visitor's prize.

A prettily appointed collation was served during the afternoon. The home was attractively arranged with chrysanthemums.

Members attending were: Mesdames W. W. Whitaker, W. R. Wellborn, J. P. Ippock, T. A. Leeper, J. Mark McAdams, F. W. Graham, J. L. Hall, Edworth Harris, Mason Lillard, George Royall and H. C. Salmons. Visitors were: Mesdames Jones Holcomb, A. B. Somers and H. B. Holcomb.

Mrs. Royall Is Study Club Hostess Wednesday

Mrs. Hugh Royall entertained members of the Wednesday Afternoon Study club at a delightful meeting Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Main street.

Continuing the study of famous American cities, Mrs. Errol Hayes gave a paper on the nation's capital at Washington, and Mrs. Fletcher Harris gave an interesting paper on Richmond, capital of Virginia, and rich in historical interest, being the former capital of the Confederacy. Mrs. J. H. Beeson sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Current events were given by Mrs. A. B. Somers.

During a brief business meeting Mrs. D. G. Smith was welcomed into the club as a new member.

A beautifully appointed collation was served during the afternoon.

Club members attending were: Mesdames Errol Hayes, Fletcher Harris, L. W. Laxton, Marion Allen, A. B. Somers, R. C. Freeman, J. H. Beeson, D. G. Smith and Fred Neaves.

Legion Auxiliary Meets Monday Evening

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the George Gray Post of the American Legion was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. B. Holcomb, on West Main street, with nineteen members present.

The meeting opened with the ritual and salute to the flag. During the business session only routine matters were dispatched. Plans were made at the meeting for the annual Christmas party, which will replace the December meeting.

The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Marion Allen, who gave a description of the unveiling ceremony Saturday at Dobson of the monument recently erected to veterans of the World War from Surry county. Many notables from the state took part in the ceremony, which was the outstanding Armistice Day celebration in the county.

During a delightful social hour, Mrs. Holcomb, assisted by Mrs. Fred McNeely, served a tempting refreshment course.
