

MUCH ABOUT NOTHING
Simpson, dashing from the office last week after leaving us that picture of a flood on Main street, was scheduled to turn up with another picture for this week's column, but at this writing he hasn't put in his appearance.

Maybe it's a good thing. Officer Corbett Wall has already served notice that he is going to sue us for putting him in all that water last week. "I've got a bad cold caused by getting my feet wet," he said. If Simpson should get another picture no telling what would happen.

Nothing much to write about this week, unless it's the Duke-Carolina game scheduled for Saturday. And at this distance it looks as if Carolina and the Blue Devils might have to play in the hospital, what with all the injuries that have been plaguing both teams.

If Carolina bowls over the Blue Devils Saturday it's said they may get a bowl game bid which would pit them against Tulane, the team they came from behind to tie earlier in the season. There would be plenty of interest in such a contest.

The mayor said last week that the town commissioners have instructed local police to begin a

We should be ashamed of ourself for even mentioning the matter.
But, in fairness to the particular driver with whom we talked, a young man whom we don't believe would deliberately harm a fly if he could help it, we want to say that he is not the fastest driver among the several to whom we were referring a couple of weeks back. The most vicious of these drivers, after we had said our say through this column, has been putting on an extra spurt of speed whenever he passes our house or sees us on the street. A couple of more times and we are going to report him to his employer. A warning here, with no names mentioned, is apparently time wasted.

Police here have put in some extra time at night in an effort to apprehend speeders without success. It's not at night that the speeding takes place, it's in the daytime when children are playing along the streets.

And it's not all delivery truck drivers that are guilty, either. There are plenty of other folks, among them respectable married women who are old enough to know better. Just because they possess sleek, high powered cars is no reason for them to make a menace of themselves along the residential streets.

Come over and watch them whiz-z-z-z by sometime.

THIS AND THAT
Since starting this column sometime ago, we've had a letter from Simpson, the man with the left-handed brain, who declares that Adolf Hitler is not in Germany at all, but in the United States!

"I have every reason to believe," Simpson writes, "that one of Hitler's doubles is working for him in Germany and that Adolf himself is somewhere in the vicinity of Elkin where he is personally engaged in a scouting trip to determine the strength of Elkin's navy. It may have been he sneaked in last week while the river was flooding Main street. His submarine may be based somewhere on the bottom of Big Elkin creek even now."

The letter goes on: "But don't worry about it. We are on the trail with our Baby Brownie camera, and if anything turns up you can depend on it we will snap it. Hitler, if he is really in this section, may turn up boldly in Elkin and demand that Jonesville be ceded to the reich. Or he may be after W. S. Reich, there's no telling, and demand that West Elkin be thrown in. He has plenty of gall, you know. Anyway, if you meet him on Main street liberating somebody, don't say we didn't tell you."

And that's what we have to put up with when Simpson is about. See you next week.

BENHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holbrook and family, of Traphill, were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Holbrook's brother, Mr. Clifton Smith, and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Norman, of State Road, were the Sunday night guests of Mrs. Norman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Luffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ell Smith visited Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Carter, Sunday. Mr. Carter has been seriously ill for some time. His condition improves very slowly.

Friends of little Charlie Tucker will be sorry to learn that he is suffering with both legs broken. Everyone hopes for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Cora Windsor was the Sunday evening guest of Miss Nell Casey.

Mrs. Frank Barker, of the Little Mountain community, was the Monday guest of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Spencer.

ST. PAUL

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wood, of Valdese, spent the week-end with the former's father, H. H. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carpenter, of West Virginia, were the guests for several days last week of Mr. and Mrs. Reubin Alford.

Weaver Walker, of Wilkes county, spent the week-end here with his grandmother, Mrs. Sina Walker.

E. G. Myers spent last week in Yadkinville, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Herman Cash.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Walker spent Thursday in Winston-Salem, visiting Miss Lula Cook, who is a patient in a hospital there.

Mrs. John Bell, who has been confined to her home by illness for the past several days, is much improved.
