White Pines Are Available for Planting in Co.

The county agent's office has received a message from R. W. Graeber, extension forester at State College, stating that white pine and shortleaf pine seedlings are available for planting in Surry county.

The white pine seedlings, two years old, were produced by the department of conservation and development at their nursery in Henderson county. There are 500,000 of these little trees available at $3.00 per thousand. Shortleaf pine seedlings, one year old, are available at $2.00 per thousand.

There are many farmers in Surry county who will want to plant some of these pines on their farms to reforest idle acres or rejuvenate forests which have poor stands. Mr. Graeber's recommendations are these:

"We recommend pines for planting under the following conditions:

1. Open fields and on northern and eastern exposures.
2. In cut-over woods or other thin stands — to fill in open spaces.
3. In woods pastures, from which cattle have been excluded, as an underplanting to rebuild a profitable forest stand."

Surry county is included in the area recommended for planting pines.
