Chatham Blanketeer Personnel Hold Get-Together at Hotel Elkin

PAPER SHOWS PROGRESS

Members of the staff of The Chatham Blanketeer, house organ of the Chatham Manufacturing Company, were guests at a banquet at Hotel Elkin Tuesday evening. Miss Claudia Austin, editor-in-chief of the paper, was master of ceremonies. About forty persons were present, being present and former members of the staff of the paper.

Interesting and constructive talks were made by C. C. Poindexter, C. J. Hyslop, Walter Burgess, Russell Burcham and others. The main objective was a bigger and better publication and Miss Austin stated that everyone was well pleased with the progress of the paper since it was started in 1933. Each member of the staff was introduced.

During the meeting it was announced that 75 young men from State College at Raleigh would make a tour of the mill today (Thursday).

H. F. Laffoon, business manager of the Elk Printing Company, printers of the Blanketeer, was a guest at the meeting.

INTERNATIONAL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Namsos, Norway—Six waves of German planes bombed this British landing base for 10 hours yesterday with a heavy toll of life and the destruction of a British destroyer which was left a blazing shell. The German planes, before flying away from the bombing attack, were alleged to have machine-gunned civilians in the streets. The big, swastika-marked Nazi bombers swept upon the city and port in six separate attacks between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

STOCKHOLM—Allied forces last night battled along the Gudbrands Valley of central Norway to escape being driven back to the seacoast by sledgehammer German drives which were reported to have linked Oslo to Trondheim and closed a steel vise on two Allied bases. Germany's motorized war machine, pounding ahead with tremendous strides, appeared on the basis of German claims to be repeating the "blitzkrieg" tactics which carried it across Poland like an avalanche.

100,000 people live in junks (boats) in the Chinese rivers, being carried ashore only when they die.
