

June Designated As Dairy Month; All Taking Part

Famous Bull from Local Farm Is Paraded in Winston-Salem Tuesday as Part of Dairy Month Observance There; Both Governor Hoey and Elkin's Mayor Call Attention to Importance of Dairy Products As Health Builders

Klondike Iceberg, the famous bull born near the south pole on the second Byrd Antarctic expedition in 1933, was carried from Klondike Farm here to take part in a large parade in Winston-Salem Tuesday which was held by the dairy producers of this area in observance of June as "dairy month."

The parade, which included numerous floats and 50 or more dairy trucks, paraded through principal business streets of the city, with Klondike Iceberg a feature attraction.

T. F. Cooley, manager of Klondike Farm here, has said that the famous bull, despite one and a half years near the south pole, was normal in every respect.

Klondike Iceberg is a son of Klondike Nira, who was carried by Byrd on the expedition, and was born aboard the SS Jacob Ruppert after the ship had reached the antarctic circle. Klondike Nira died a short while after the birth of her son, who thrived under temperatures as low as 70 degrees below zero. He was brought back to the states in 1935.

In a statement in connection with the observance of June as "dairy month," which is being observed by all local dairies, Governor Clyde R. Hoey had the following to say:

"North Carolina's great farm industry is closely allied with the dairy cow and her products, the annual income from which in this State approaches $32,000,000. This will indicate the importance of this industry and also the possibilities in its further development.

"Scientists have long recognized the high nutritional value of milk and its products; butter, cheese and ice cream; and from youth to old age they occupy primary position in the diet as nourishing, refreshing and appetizing drinks and dishes. A nation's human health is greatly enhanced by the products of the dairy cow, the foster mother of mankind.

"Today milk and other dairy products are relatively cheap; and June being the season of abundance on the market, prices always tend downward. Therefore, during the month of June milk will be among the most economical food purchases for any family.

"With the idea of stimulating the use of dairy products during this period, it has been determined that June shall be designated as the 'dairy month' in North Carolina, during which time special attention should be given to dairy products and all of the people further urged to enjoy some of these delicious and wholesome products during these first summer months. And I admonish the people of North Carolina to drink more milk, use more butter, cheese and ice cream, and therefore increase the health and at the same time add to the stability of this industry in a period of peak production; and I trust that the month of June will find all of our people participating in this observance."

Mayor J. R. Poindexter likewise joined in a proclamation formally designating June as "dairy month," his proclamation being as follows:

Whereas, milk and its products constitute an important part of the diet of our entire population and are an absolutely essential part of the daily food supply of many of our citizens; and

Whereas, it is generally recognized that our present consumption of milk is far short of the amounts considered by nutrition authorities as proper and practical, namely, one quart daily for children through adolescence and one pint daily for adults,

Now, therefore, I, J. R. Poindexter, Mayor of City of Elkin, do hereby proclaim June 1st to 30th next inclusive, as Dairy Month and ask the citizens of Elkin to give recognition through act and deed to this great industry, and to the 100,000 members of our farm families in the State who are engaged in dairy farming through which we are supplied with this vital food.

Judge—Did I understand you to say, witness, that the parties came to high words?

Witness—No, your honor; what I said was that the words were particularly low.
