Mason Lillard Bible Class To Meet
The Mason Lillard Bible class of the Methodist church will meet Monday evening, June 17, at 7:45, at the home of Miss Blanche Dixon, on Gwyn Avenue. All members are cordially invited to attend.

Ashley-Ashley
Mr. and Mrs. William Ashley announce the marriage of their daughter, Nellie, to Clarence Ashley, of Booneville. The marriage was solemnized May 18, at Independence, Va.
Mr. Ashley is with the Elkin Motor Car company here.
They will reside in Jonesville.

Junior Garden Club Meets Thursday Afternoon
The Junior Yadkin Valley Garden club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Grace Laffoon on Church street, with 10 members present. The program was an informal discussion of flowers with all of the members participating.
Plans were made for the July meeting, which will be a picnic session at the home of Miss Eleanor Hayes.
Refreshments were served during a pleasant social hour.

Mrs. Caudill Entertains Bible School Workers at Luncheon
Mrs. O. V. Caudill entertained at a delightful luncheon Tuesday at her home on Gwyn Avenue, having as guests the faculty of the daily vacation Bible school, which is in progress at the Presbyterian church. Covers were placed for Mrs. O. T. Blackburn, Mrs. Hoke F. Henderson, Mrs. Virgil Beroth, Misses Mary Sale, Mary Hartzog, Mary Clapp, Helen and Rachel Caudill, Rev. O. V. Caudill, Miss Maxine Weaver, of Lansing; John Smith, of Sarasota, Fla.; Ralph Buchanan, of Plumtree, and Sam Patterson, of Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Neaves Entertain To Honor Bridal Party
Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Neaves entertained at a picnic supper at their private picnic ground to honor their daughter, Miss Emalene Neaves, and Hartley Lord, who were married Saturday. The guest list included members of their wedding party, the out-of-town wedding guests, and a few close friends.

Supper was served in the summer house. The day marked the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Hartley L. Lord of Kennebunk, Me., and Mrs. Johnny Rogers of Portland, Me., mother and sister of the bridegroom-elect, and a birthday cake for each of them graced the table.

Mission Circle Meets Thursday Evening
Circle number four of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. E. Carl Boyles on West Main street, with Mesdames Clyde Hall and J. Coke Marion associate hostesses, with 17 members and one visitor present.
Mrs. Max Boyles, circle chairman, presided over the meeting and conducted the devotionals. The missionary topic "Women and the Kingdom of God in Japan," was discussed by Mrs. Herman F. Duncan and Miss Ophelia Paul.
During a pleasant social hour the hostesses served a tempting refreshment course.

Mr. and Mrs. Folger Entertain At Dinner Friday
Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Folger entertained at dinner Friday evening at their home on Gwyn Avenue to honor Miss Emalene Neaves, sister of Mrs. Folger, and Hartley Lord, who were married Saturday.

The guest list included members of the wedding party and out-of-town wedding guests. Larkspur, old-fashioned pinks, sweet peas and magnolia blossoms were used in an attractive arrangement throughout the home. The dining room table was covered with a white satin cloth and centered with a silver bowl of magnolias. On each of the small tables where the guests were seated, were antique vases filled with pansies. Dinner was served buffet style.

Engagement of Miss Boles Is Announced Thursday
Mesdames O. E. R. G. and A. L. Boles and Mrs. Ode Travis entertained at a lovely party Thursday evening at the home of the former in Jonesville to announce the engagement of Miss Catherine Boles to D. Phillip Wilkins. The marriage will be solemnized in a private church ceremony the latter part of this month.

The home was decorated throughout with pink and white rosebuds, effecting an artistic color scheme. Four tables were placed for bride and three for cubical hearts. In the games scoring honors went to Mrs. Lee Neaves and Mrs. Clyde Cothren. Miss Boles, bride-elect, was presented crystal in her wedding pattern.
At the conclusion of the play an ice course, in which the chosen color scheme was accentuated, was served.

Miss Swain Is Bride of M. C. Dobbins, Jr.
A marriage of cordial interest was that of Miss Evelyn Swain and M. C. Dobbins, Jr., which was solemnized Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swain, with Rev. Clete Simmons officiating. The vows were spoken before an improvised altar of fern and baskets of white flowers. Only the immediate families of the young couple were present for the ceremony.

The bride wore a becoming dress of blue crepe with white accessories and a shoulder bouquet of valley lilies.
Mrs. Dobbins was educated at the Jonesville school. Mr. Dobbins, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles C. Dobbins, Sr., attended West Yadkin school and is employed with Chatham Manufacturing company.
Following a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Dobbins will make their home with the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeer and Mr. and Mrs. Reich Entertain At Cake Cutting
Following the Neaves - Lord wedding rehearsal Friday evening at the Methodist church, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McNeer of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. John Reich of Statesville, entertained at a cake cutting at the McNeer home on Church street.

The home was artistically arranged with garlands of pink Dorothy Perkins roses, larkspur and delphinium. The dining table was covered with a handsome embroidered cloth and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. The cake was decorated in pink and white and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The traditional symbols were drawn from the cake by members of the wedding party by means of pink satin ribbons. From the dining room chandelier delicate pink rosebuds were suspended on streamers of white satin ribbons. Ices in bridal moulds were served with wedding cake and mints.

The guest list included approximately 95. Guests in addition to those here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Barringer of Statesville.

Miss Neaves Is Bride of Mr. Lord in Brilliant Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Emalene Bryant Neaves, of this city, and Hartley Lord, of Kennebunk, Me., and Boston, was solemnized in a brilliant ceremony Saturday at high noon at the Methodist church. Rev. Herman F. Duncan, pastor of the bride, and Rev. L. B. Abernethy, a former pastor, officiated, using the double ring ritual.

Palms, fern and regal lilies were massed about the altar and choir loft to make a background for the wedding party.

A program of pre-nuptial music was given by Mrs. Van W. Dillon, Jr., of this city, organist, and Mrs. Hugh Hill Chatham, of Stanleytown, Va., soprano soloist. Mrs. Dillon played "Calm as the Night" (Bohm); "O, Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star" (Wagner) and "Romance in E Flat" (Williams). Mrs. Chatham sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" (Stults), and "Because" (D'Har-delot). "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell) was played while the vows were being spoken. "The Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, William Avery Neaves. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Frank Lord, of Kennebunk, as best man. Miss Rosamond Neaves, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and her bridesmaids were her sister, Mrs. Franklin Folger, Jr., Mrs. William Bernard Harris, Jr., and Miss Anna Atkinson, all of this city, and Mrs. Johnny Rogers, of Portland, Me., sister of the bridegroom. The ushers were Sam Neaves, of this city, brother of the bride, Montford Variel and Homer Waterhouse, of Cambridge, Mass., and Ralph Harvey, of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

The bride wore an exquisite wedding gown of silk starched marquisette, with inserts of Chantilly lace in the skirt and outlining the court train. The same lace outlined the square neck and the leg o' mutton sleeves, which came to a point over the hand. Her bridal veil of illusion fell in three tiers from a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore dresses in design and material like that of the bride, except that the full skirts were of an even length and the puffed sleeves ended above the elbow, with matching turbans of tulle, with short veils. The maid of honor wore blue marquisette and carried an arm bouquet of yellow rosebuds tied with yellow satin ribbons, and the bridesmaids' dresses were of pale yellow and their flowers were tallisman roses and blue delphinium, tied with bronze satin ribbons. Each of them wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bride.

Mrs. Neaves, mother of the bride, wore a formal dress of pale gray lace and chiffon, with a close fitting turban of rose colored flowers. Her corsage was of purple orchids.
Mrs. Lord, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of ice blue lace with a picture hat of delicate pink, and white orchids.

Mrs. Lord is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Avery Neaves, of this city, her father being vice-president and general superintendent of Chatham Manufacturing company. She attended the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, and was one of Elkin's most popular and attractive girls. Since the announcement of her engagement she has been accorded many social courtesies.
Mr. Lord is the son of Mrs.

Hartley L. Lord and the late Hartley Little Lord, of Kennebunk, Me. He is a graduate of Bowdoin College, where he organized the Bowdoin College Rifle Team in his sophomore year. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is associated with R. C. Harvey and company, of Boston, Mass.

Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was given for members of the bridal party and out-of-town wedding guests at the home of the bride's parents. The spacious home was arranged throughout with mountain laurel, roses, magnolias and other garden flowers. The guests were greeted by Mrs. J. R. Poindexter and Franklin Folger, Jr., and were introduced to the receiving line, which was composed of the bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Neaves, parents of the bride, and Mrs. Lord, mother of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Dortch presided in the gift room and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cox directed the guests to the dining room, where Mrs. Carl Poindexter and Mrs. R. B. Harrell presided. Luncheon was served buffet style. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Graham.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Halsey, Donald Halsey, Mrs. Virgil Cox, Virgil Cox, Jr., Charles E. Cox, grandfather of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Cam Fields, of Mouth of Wilson, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Osborne, of Independence, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waugh, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Payne, Miss Edna Cox, Miss Elaine McMillan and Joe Neal Payne, of Galax, Va.; Mrs. B. F. Folger, Sr., and E. Graham and Misses Marion and Beryl Graham, of Lewisville; Miss Louise Puroelle, of Red Springs; Mrs. James Baldwin, of Medina, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ragsdale, of Leaksville; Dr. and Mrs. Horack, of Durham; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hill Chatham, of Stanleytown, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harris, of Winston-Salem; A. L. Butler, Alex and Gene Motsinger, Misses Mary and Lillian Miller, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Hartley L. Lord, Miss Anna Dingley and Frank D. Lord, of Kennebunk, Me.; Homer Waterhouse and Montford Variel, of Cambridge, Mass.; Miss Carolyn Church, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Harvey, Misses Anne, Jane and Blanche Harvey, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Mrs. Johnny Rogers, Portland, Me.; Miss Lucinda Ford, Troy, N. Y.; Miss Carolyn Rogers, Bennettsville, S. C.; Dr. and Mrs. Fraser Lapsley, Badin; Mr. and Mrs. John Reich, Statesville; E. Kaplan, New London, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Evey, Frank Baltz, Sam Burroughs and Bert Cloud, of Philadelphia, Pa.; and Richard Atkinson, of Mars Hill.

Following the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Lord left for a wedding trip through the New England states. For travel the bride wore a two-piece suit of black chiffon, an adaptation of a Balenciaga model, with a powder blue blouse of embroidered organdy. Her hat was of black Shantung straw, bonnet style, trimmed with velvet ribbon in the same shade as her blouse. Other accessories were of black. Her corsage was of roses and valley lilies, lifted from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Lord will reside in Wellesley Hills, Mass., upon their return from their wedding trip.
