TELEPHONE CO. WITHIN RIGHTS

by the company the first of this month.

According to Mr. Seif, who was reached by long distance telephone Monday, a telephone company is required by law to continue service to a delinquent subscriber for a period of one month and 11 days after the bill is due, before it can discontinue service. Thus a telephone company, even though it requires bills to be paid in advance, stands to lose one month and 11 days revenue in cases where subscribers fail to pay their telephone bills. And in cases where the company bills its subscribers after the service has been rendered, as has been the case with the local company up until the first of July, the company would stand to lose two months and 11 days in cases where bills were unpaid.

Practically all towns in North Carolina are required to pay their telephone rent a month in advance, Mr. Seif said.

The Central Electric & Telephone Company was granted a franchise here nine years ago. The matter before the board of commissioners at their last meeting concerned the granting of a franchise to the Southern Bell Telephone Company concerning the operation of toll lines here. Due to a misunderstanding on the part of the secretary who transcribed the minutes, it was made to appear that the local company was seeking a franchise.

Approval of the three-year quota program will, under normal conditions, permit the absorption of the 400 million pound surplus resulting from the bumper 1939 crop, J. B. Hutson, assistant AAA administrator, declared.

The quota of 556 million pounds is 10 per cent. less than the 1940 crop quota, while the 618 million pounds quota is the same as the 1940 quota. Hutson pointed out that this larger figure plus the normal production on the increase previously made in allotments for small farms actually means a total quota of about 650 million pounds.

Due to a misunderstanding on the part of The Tribune ad man, the Schlitz advertisement appearing in last week's issue for the Elkin Bottling Company, contained an error. The advertisement read: "We will deliver a case to your home for $2.60." This was in error, the Elkin Bottling Company making no deliveries of Schlitz beer to private homes. The price quoted was for a case of beer when called for and transported by the customer.
