LOCAL STORE BURGLARIZED

Merchandise Valued at Approximately $300 Stolen From Smithy's

THIEVES ENJOY SUPPER

Groceries, clothing and overalls, valued at approximately $300, was taken from Smithy's store on East Main street sometime Wednesday night when thieves entered the store. Entrance to the building was gained through the basement of the building. The basement door was pried open and a window on the staircase leading to the second floor was taken out to enable the robbers to get to the street floor of the building, when the door failed to yield to their efforts.

Evidently the robbery was made in a leisurely manner, as the cafe of the store gave evidence that the thieves also ate a light supper while they were in the building, leaving empty milk bottles and plates on the counter. It is believed that the truck of T. C. DeLozier, stolen on the same night, was used by the robbers to haul their loot to some cache in the county, as the truck was found, abandoned, on the Dobson highway the following morning, and a check of the speedometer showed that the truck had been driven about 60 miles. Local police are working on the case.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Gwyn Is Hostess at Tea to Honor Mrs. Charles Hanes

The most elaborate and widely attended social affair of the week was the formal tea given Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 by Mrs. Paul Gwyn at her home on Gwyn avenue, to honor Mrs. Charles Hanes, a bride of the month, and the former Miss Delphine Crump, of Winston-Salem. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Richard Gwyn Chatham and presented to the receiving line, which was composed of Mrs. Gwyn, Mrs. Hanes, Miss Delphine Carter and Miss Etta Carter, of Winston-Salem, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. M. E. Motsinger, also of Winston-Salem.

In the living room and den yellow and pink chrysanthemums and autumn leaves were used in an attractive arrangement. The tea table was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and centered with a low silver bowl of yellow roses. On either end of the table were silver candelabra holding green candles. On the buffet was an antique compote filled with fruits of the season and surrounded by autumn leaves. Mrs. Raymond Chatham and Mrs. Alex Chatham presided at the table. Assisting in receiving the guests were Mrs. E. S. Spainhour, Mrs. Gavin Dortch, Mrs. R. B. Harrell and Mrs. W. J. Price. Goodbyes were said to Mrs. Charles L. Haywood, Jr.

One hundred and twenty-five guests called during the receiving hours. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. M. E. Motsinger, Misses Delphine and Etta Carter, Miss Virginia Maslin and Mrs. James Mann, all of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. Edward Dobbys and Mrs. Edwin Duncan, of Sparta.

ARMY PHYSICAL STANDARDS SET

Medical Examiners to Keep Sharp Eye Out for Draft Dodgers

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN

Washington, Oct. 23.—Draft Director Clarence A. Dykstra promulgated physical standards for men to be induced into the army today and gave special advice to medical examiners for detecting malingerers who simulate ailment to dodge the draft.

The requirements are more lenient than those maintained for regular army personnel but more stringent than those applying under the World War draft. They are part of the elaborate classification process which will determine the 800,000 men to be called for military service and which will follow next Tuesday's lottery.

Men who are not placed in deferred classifications at once because of dependents, essential job, etc., will be given thorough physical examinations and placed in one of these three classes:

- I-A—Those available for general military service.
 - I-B—Those available for limited military service.
 - IV-F—Physically, mentally, and morally unfit.
- A person dissatisfied with the local board's ruling and who claims a lower classification may appeal within five days. Dykstra's regulations outlined physical requirements designed . . . "to procure men who are physically fit for the rigors of general service."
- The registrant must be able to see well; have comparatively good hearing; have a heart able to withstand the stress of physical exertion, be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands, and protect himself; and be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand.

If a man feigns a defect or ailment which the board cannot detect, or if it believes defects are self-inflicted, a report must be made to the governor.

Noting that "there is something indefinable in the bearing of a malingerer which experience alone can detect," the instructions are designed to anticipate all the known methods of physically dodging the draft.

The German word "blitzkrieg" means lightning war.
