Younger Men May Join Navy Now

The Navy Recruiting Station, Salisbury, states that the Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, has authorized the enlistment in the Navy of men between the ages of 17 and 18 years for MINORITY enlistments. This means that anyone between the age of 17 and 18 may enlist in the Navy until he becomes 21 years old, that he will in such cases be discharged on the day before his twenty-first birthday. This gives to the younger patriots of the Nation a splendid opportunity. A man who enlists at the age of 17 may retire, on half pay, at the early age of 37 years.

Enlistments between the ages of 18 and 31 are still the same as before, for a period of six years.

RELATIONS BETWEEN NATIONS IN NEW PHASE

Washington, Nov. 20.—Relations between the United States and France entered an apparently new phase today, coincident with the increasing reports that Marshal Henri Petain was showing a disposition to go slow in collaborating with the axis powers.

First tangible sign of a possible change was the fact that Robert D. Murphy, a veteran of ten years diplomatic service in France before and during the war, was ordered back to Vichy to take up the duties of charge d'affaires. Murphy, formerly counselor at the Paris embassy, has been in this country for several months.

"I built it myself," Watson says of the tomb, "and I know it will suit the most particular person."

TWO ARRESTED IN FRAUD CASE

Fake Doctors Charged with Selling Inferior Eyeglasses in Iredell

COST ABOUT $1.00 DOZEN

North Wilkesboro, Nov. 19.—State Highway Patrol Sergeant Carlyle Ingie today reported the arrests of two people on charges of fraud and violation of the optometry laws passed by the North Carolina legislature as recommended by Dr. J. S. Deans, of this city, president of the North Carolina optometry board of examiners.

The officer said that he had been informed that the two men arrested—R. A. Norton (alias Dr. R. A. Norton) and Jake Noble, of Attalla, Ala., had been selling cheap and inferior spectacles at prices ranging from $9 to $12.

Norton, the officer said, had been posing as a doctor of optometry and Noble was his associate. The officer had been informed that the spectacles being sold cost about $1 per dozen and were decidedly inferior. The two men were turned over to Iredell county authorities for trial in Iredell county court this week. The greater number of sales were made by the men in the northern part of Iredell county about Union Grove, although they had been residing near Wilkesboro temporarily.

The officer stopped them on Saturday near here because one light was out. Investigation produced evidence of their illicit business, the officer said.

RAINMAKER ON JOB TO BREAK DROUGHT

Plant City, Fla., Nov. 20.—Rainmaker Lillie Stoaite was doing business today at her old stand in South Florida where the farmers had implicit faith in her ability to put reverse English on a bad drought.

Miss Stoaite, the 60-year-old woman of various weather moods who hails from Oxford, Miss., sat beside Lake Walden, near here, and communed with the air currents, cloud formations and temperatures that make or break a drought.

Miss Lillie achieved a degree of climatic fame a year and one-half ago when she sat by a lake near Frostproof and, according to her disciples, broke a crop-damaging drought that had defied the best weather men for months.

The largest fresh water lake in the U. S. is Lake Okeechobee, Fla., which is about 40 miles long and 28 miles wide.
