THE BULL OF THE BRUSHIES IN THE RACE.

Statesville Landmark.
Romulus Zachariah Linney, Esq., alias the Bull of the Brushies, whose heart's desire and prayer to God (if he ever prays) is that he may go to Congress, has at last been set on the track and started in the race. The Populists in convention at Wilkesboro last week endorsed him, and the Republicans met next day and nominated him. Ten years ago this summer Mr. Linney was candidate for the Democratic congressional nomination in the eighth district and was defeated. Immediately there after his faith in the Democracy began to waver, and since then he has "wired in and wired out." Sometimes he was a Republican of the straightest sect; again he had almost wandered back into the Democratic camp; and again, but not until recently, he is imbued with the vagaries of the Populists. Bright man that he unquestionably is, he is so unstable that when he arises to make a speech no man can say with certainty what line he will take. Two years ago he delivered at Boone, Watauga county, a speech which for bitter, unsparring denunciation of the Alliance, the Populists and their principles has never been equalled in this country. Now he is the candidate of the Populists and his Boone speech will return to plague and damn him.

But this is not the first time Mr. Linney has been a candidate for Congress. In 1888 he started out boldly as an independent candidate against Col. W. H. H. Cowles. In a few short weeks gallant colonel drove him from the race and he retired disgusted; another candidate had to be set up in his place. This time, however, he is armed with the nomination of one party and the "endorsement" of another. These will however, avail him nothing. We very seriously doubt if Mr. Linney continues in the race till the election. Opposed to him is the Hon. W. H. Bower, one of the best campaigners in the State. Gentlemen who are well acquainted with both candidates believe that the campaign of '88 will be repeated, and that Mr. Linney will retire from the race before the canvass is half finished. Should this surmise prove false, however, there is not the slightest reason to believe that he can be elected. A gentleman who has been through the eighth district was informed by a leading Populist in one of the counties that his people would vote for Bower if it was a choice between Bower and Linney; that the latter could never explain away his Boone Speech. On the other hand, he is not in high favor with the Republicans; there was much dissatisfaction in the convention which nominated him. The straightouts of the party wanted E. Spencer Blackburn, of Ashe, and some of these have said since the convention that they will not vote for Linney. A Statesville Republican of prominence expresses the opinion that he will be the worst defeated man in the State if he doesn't get off the track before the election. And so it goes. Verily, the omens are bad for Mr. Linney, and that seat in Congress on which his eyes are now fastened will recede from him as fast as does the mirage from the thirsty traveler in the desert.

By the passage of the tariff bill Congress saved the people of this country in woolen goods alone $141,386,000.
Captain S. A. Ashe, late editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, is out in a card announcing himself a candidate for Vance's seat in the United States Senate.
The Republican State Convention held at Raleigh last week endorsed the Populists State ticket. Queer combination that. The only thing they have in common is an earnest desire for office.
Last Sunday Mr. German Haymore was immersed in Lovell's Creek by his son, Rev. Daniel Haymore. Mr. Haymore is eighty-nine years old and is very vigorous and active for one of that age. —Mt. Airy News.

The Republicans of Yadkin held their county convention last week and nominated the following ticket. For the House of Representatives, James Crummel, Sheriff L. D. Kelly, Register of Deeds, Will Hall, Clerk of the Court, E. E. Holton, Treasurer, A. P. Woodruff.

That's Her Nature.
There is a great deal of hard, common sense in the following paragraph from the Blakely Observer: "A woman will face a frowning world and cling to the man she loves through the most bitter adversity, but she would not wear a hat three months behind the fashion to save the republic itself. She just ain't constructed according to those plans and specifications."

Julian S. Carr, president of the North Carolina Democratic Clubs Association, has issued a call to these clubs to meet in Raleigh in convention September 20th. Each club will be allowed ten delegates, and one delegate for each twenty-five members. Men of national reputation will attend the convention and speak. Senators Ransom and Jarvis and North Carolina's representatives will be present, and the campaign will be formally opened that day, and the keynote of the fray be given.

Mr. C. C. Wright brought to this office last week a peculiar ear of corn. He obtained a grain of corn from a traveler last year and planted it, from which three stalks sprung up, each bearing its own ear of corn. The peculiarity about this corn is that each separate grain is covered with an actual shuck, similar in construction to that of the shuck which covers the entire ear. Those who have stock to feed ought to cultivate this species of corn because it furnishes both corn and roughness at the same time. It is called the "Holy Land Corn."—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

New Castle Knots.
The farmers are well pleased with their good corn crops.
Mr. G. W. Mayberry is preparing to add more machinery to his mills.
Mr. W. D. Howard is making some improvements in the way of building. He has the best corn crop in his history and it is thought he is making preparations to take a better half.

A gentleman from Elkin was in this community last week riding a wheel. Some of the people were amazed to see a man riding such a thing as they had never seen one before.
A gang of would be White Caps went to David Wisson's one night last week in search of Lee Ladd for reporting blockaders. They surrounded Wisson's house called him out and wanted to search the house, Wisson refused to let them enter and they went off without finding their man.
New Castle Aug. 27, '94. Uno.

William Seaworth, a young farmer, living near China, Ill., made a wager with his sister that he could eat more watermelon than she could. The offer was taken up. The boy is dead and the girl, it is thought, cannot recover.

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

William Horton Bower, of Yadkin Valley, Caldwell county, was born in Wilkes county, North Carolina, June 6th, 1850; received an academic education at Finley High School, Lenoir, N. C., and other academies; finished his education at the age of 16 and lived on a farm until 1869, when he studied law in the office of Col. G. N. Folk, of Lenoir; was licensed by the Supreme Court of North Carolina to practice law in 1870; in 1876 removed to California and remained there teaching till the summer of 1880, when he returned to his native State; canvassed his county for Hancock in 1880; in 1882 was elected Representative in Legislature for Caldwell county without opposition; in 1884 was elected to the State Senate; in 1885 was appointed Solicitor of the Tenth judicial district by Governor A. M. Scales; in 1886 was elected Solicitor of the Tenth judicial for four years without opposition in 1890 was candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress, but was defeated on the 147th ballot by W. H. H. Cowles, and was elected to the Fifty-third Congress as a Democrat, receiving 16,896 votes, against 13,215 votes for Joseph O. Wilcox, Republican; 8,564 votes for R. L. Patton, Populist; 65 votes for William M. White, Prohibitionist, and 3 votes scattering.

Mr. Bower was renominated by acclamation on the 25th of July in the Democratic congressional convention, held at Wilkesboro, where he was nominated two years ago by a unanimous vote by the convention of that year.
On the 28th of November, 1893 Mr. Bower was married at New Ark. N. J., to Miss Annette Motheral, of Bethlehem, Pa., an accomplished lady who is related to many of the leading Moravian families at Salem, N. C.
In personal appearance Mr. Bower is stalwart, fine-looking, handsome. He has an even temper and the jollity and good nature that proverbially belongs to fat men. He is a born politician not so much because he is an adept in its arts as because he is in such a close touch with the people and in full sympathy with them and their aspirations. His friends claim that there is much in his career, just opening upon the broad field of politics, that reminds them of the lamented Vance's brilliant course through the political heavens.
Since 1882 he has never failed to take an active part in every political campaign in Western North Carolina, and his efforts upon the hustings have contributed greatly to Democratic success in the Eighth and Ninth congressional districts. He never fails to interest his audiences and he always gains their confidence. As a public speaker he is easy and graceful, has a good voice and is gifted with eloquence. He seasons his argument with apt anecdotes and illustrations, of which he is "reminded" by the subject matter of his speeches and which he relates with a gusto that smacks greatly of Vance. His manners are simple and courteous and most of his constituents call him "Hor."
