

Succeeds Himself for the Third Successive Time. The Military Pageant Was Inaugural Feature.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 2.—No such display in connection with the inauguration of a governor has been seen for twenty years as that witnessed here today, when Henry Carter Stuart, of Russell county, was formally sworn in to succeed Governor William Hodges Mann, whose term ended at midnight Saturday.

Twenty years and a month ago the late Governor C. T. O'Ferrall, of Harrisonburg, came to Richmond and was received by the municipal authorities with some ceremonies. He was taken to the Exchange Hotel, the habitat of the celebrities then coming to the city, and the following day was escorted by several regiments and battalions of troops to the capitol, where he was presented, made his address and took the oath of office on the southern portico of the capitol. From the same place the ceremonies today were planned.

Both the house and the senate convened today at 10:30 o'clock, the inaugural committee declared the arrangements and then with the Virginia Military Institute cadet corps, the local battalion of the First Regiment, the Richmond Howitzers and the members of the committee, Governor Mann entered a carriage and proceeded to the Jefferson Hotel, where Mr. Stuart was domiciled. President Pro-tem Echols, of the senate, rode with Lieutenant-Governor Ellison, who has been chosen for the third time to succeed himself as lieutenant governor.

Reaching the hotel, the parade halted, the committee and Governor Mann entered and met the new governor escorted him to the carriage in which Governor Mann had made the trip and then the parade moved to the Lee Monument and started back to the capitol.

Reaching the capitol grounds the military was drawn up at attention and the inaugural party passed through the cordon of soldiers, the commands saluting as the party passed through the lines.

When the committee and Governor Mann and Mr. Stuart reached the capitol they proceeded at once to the portico, where prayer was offered by Bishop Collins Denny, of the Methodist Church. Then Chairman Echols, of the committee, presented Governor [Mann, who introduced Mr. Stuart, who delivered his inaugural address.

Following the completion of the address, President James Keith, of the Supreme Court, administered the oath of office, and the ceremonies were over, except that the new governor and all state officials, members of the general assembly, city officials and federal officers and several of the close friends of the new governor remained while the troops passed in review before the stand, the several commands saluting the governor as they passed.

Fine Hog.
Mr. John H. Randolph has just received one of the finest hogs seen in this section, he is a Registered Tamworth boar, ten months old and weighs about two hundred and fifty pounds. Mr. Randolph says he aims on having some more of the hogs, and we don't blame him either, for they are beauties.

WINTERVILLE

WINTERVILLE, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Lucy Abbott went to Greenville yesterday. It will soon be time for you to set out your tobacco. Come and look over our transplanters before you buy elsewhere. B. D. Forrest and Company.

Mr. Jessie Speight of Greenville was here yesterday. Kittrell and Company are in position to supply you with feed stuff at reasonable prices. Hay, seed, fresh oats, red bliss seed potatoes and onion sets, all of the best quality at A. W. Ange and Co.

Misses Dasie Munford, of Ayden, was here Monday. The Winterville Cotton Oil Company's new plant which is almost completed is not only a credit to the town and surrounding community, but a much needed convenience. Manager Abbott tells us that they expect to put the oil mill machinery in motion next week. This news is not only gratifying to the owners but the public as well.

See J. Cox and Son for your cold drink, fancy cakes and candies. Remember that B. D. Forrest and Co., are before the public to serve you. Go to see them and look over their stock of merchandise.

Mr. J. S. Barber is now repairing the store occupied by J. Cox and Son Kittrell and Co., and B. F. James. This improvement will add much to the value of the property.

If you happen to be in our little town and need auto, bicycle supplies, gasoline or cylinder oil, don't fail to see Kittrell and Company.

Miss Fannie Lee Spier returned to the E. C. T. S. Monday.

Go to R. W. Dail's for your fresh meats and oysters.

Eight Moore, of Bethel, is spending a day or two with Miss Verna Tucker.

Mrs. E. W. Smith, from the country, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Harper of the town.

Chief of Police Smith, of Ayden spent last night here.

It is a good time to begin considering the purchase of a fertilizer distributor. Harrington, Barber and Company have all the late styles. Now if you want dry goods, notions, shoes or hats, it will pay you to see Harrington, Barber and Co.; they have a complete stock.

WINTERVILLE, Jan. 31.—Tom Lindsay's entertainment in the High School auditorium here last night was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. His impersonations and monologues were very amusing and his portrayal of the old-time dandy was splendid. If he comes this way again, he will be heartily welcomed.

Mrs. R. F. Cox went to Ayden Thursday.

When in need of furniture or a nice Will C. Free sewing machine, A. W. Ange and Company sell cheap for cash.

Miss Dora E. Cox has returned from Aulander where she spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Herbert Jenkins. You can get oysters at R. W. Dail's every day and every night.

See Harrington, Barber and Company for your New Royal sewing machines; they are good ones and guaranteed for 10 years.

See J. Cox and Son for fresh mountain butter.

When you want ninety day seed cats, hay, grains of all kinds, see Kittrell and Co.

Mrs. F. P. White, from near Kingston, spent Friday with Mrs. J. L. Rollins.

Wanted at once, another hundred head of beef cattle. If you have one to sell see or write R. W. Dail.

Fine stock of peanuts just received at Harrington, Barber and Co.

Farming with good implements and tools is progression. Ames shovels, Oliver plows and New South Disc Harrows are at the head of the list, and sold by A. W. Ange and Co.

Miss Venetia Cox is spending the week-end at home.

If you want a good typewriter see J. Cox and Son; they have the Oliver on exhibit, one of the best machines on the market.

Mr. R. W. Dail bought a beef cow from E. E. Dail near here that dressed six hundred and fifty-one pounds.

See Kittrell and Company for your South Carolina cabbage plants; they will have a supply on hand next week.

Ayden Items.

AYDEN, N. C., Jan. 29.—Bread is the staff of life, therefore eat good biscuit made of ready mixed flour, Merry Widow, at J. R. Smith and Bros.

Mr. Richard Wingate has purchased Mr. Ollen Wingates interest in his fathers land near Ayden. This is one of the most fertile spots in this community.

The walls around the city of Jericho fell at the blowing of horns, laborers on well regulated farms come and go at the ringing of bells; plenty of farm, school and church bells at J. R. Smith and Bros.

The farm where John Haddock owned when he died on the New Bern road, not far from Haddocks cross roads, will be sold February 2nd, 1914. This is all good land containing 200 acres, more or less, and adapted to all kinds of crops, especially cotton and tobacco, terms one-half cash, remainder twelve months, with interest, plenty of marl and timber on it.

If others can then why not you is an old adage, the Ayden Lumber Company being short of labor have imported from Italy fifteen thoroughbred Italians to work in the woods. They landed here Wednesday and looked pitiful not being able to speak only through an interpreter, but should they want to camp or keep house, they can get an outfit from J. R. Smith and Bros.

Judging from the thickness of the vault being built in the bank building money will be hard to get.

Bill Lacy, said his roof leaked and he had to hold an umbrella over his family during a rain, but not so now, you can get Metal and rubber roofing so cheap at J. R. Smith and Bros., that don't leak.

We had a pleasant call from His Honor Mayor James, of Greenville, Tuesday.

So far this has been a very mild winter and some of the farmers have delayed killing hogs, but we have plenty of salt and lard stands, large pots and kettles on hand. J. R. Smith and Bros.

We do hope that our people will take enough pride in the Free Will Baptist Publishing Company to put their money, time and talent in it and make a company that will compare with the Advocate, Recorder and Evangle, and also do all manner of custom work. There is no sense in a people as strong as the Free Will Baptists are not having a full equipment. Already this company since the fire last spring has been publishing Sunday school literature and supplying several states. This denomination is becoming a powerful factor for the development of boys and girls and supplying the ministry, with young men, and with the cooperation of the church, school town, we see in the near future a publishing house that we can all feel proud of, located here in Ayden. As it is the most of us get our Sunday school supplies from Ohio.

AYDEN, Jan. 31.—Mr. Mack Taylor has moved his family to the country and will farm this year and Mr. Hermon has moved into the house vacated by him.

Mr. F. Clayton Turnage who lives near town tells us he thinks to run a dairy this summer and spring, and furnish the people with milk and butter. This will be quite a treat to those not wanting to keep a cow on their premises, and decidedly less trouble.

Warren Tripp said his roof leaked, and that he held the bread tray over his wife and child to prevent them from getting wet, but did not do so but once. Rubber roofing, galvanized roofing is in the reach of all at J. R. Smith and Bros.

Mr. Joyner Wingate fell from his stalk cutter and received some bruises, but nothing serious, as his team was gentle. One application of J. R. Smith and Bros.' liniment set him on his feet again.

Special communication of Ayden Masonic Lodge last Thursday night to confer degrees on some candidates. Mr. W. E. Hooks left Wednesday for the west where he has gone to rest and refresh himself as his health has given way. He hopes to travel some and get on the sunny side of life.

Kindling splinters are no object now the price of lightwood has declined since so many are blowing stumps with dynamite, subsolling and setting trees, just received a nix shipment 40, 50 and 60 per cent, at J. R. Smith and Bros.

We are informed that Mr. W. W. Ormond, of Ormondsville, Greene county, has near two acres of tobacco beds sown, this looks like an increase of acreage.

The nice farm belonging to the estate of the late John Haddock will be sold next Monday at Greenville to the highest bidder. This farm has three good tobacco barns, two dwelling houses with ample storage shelter and will produce all kinds of crops. It is rented out for sure rent this year and whoever buys the land will get the rents. Terms, one-half cash, the remainder in one year, at 6 per cent interest.

Mr. David Whichard, Jr., made this town a business call Friday. He is a hustler, from the word go, so much like his father, who has been running a paper since he pulled off knee pants and has proven a great factor in developing Greenville and Pitt county.

Charles Jones said the rabbits scratched up his potato slips, after they were bodded, last year, but would do so no more, as he is wiser, he sets a steel trap for rabbits, and a riddick mole trap on his plant bed. Plenty of these traps at J. R. Smith and Bros.

Smith Town Club.

SMITH TOWN, Jan. 24.—Miss Callie Smith delightfully entertained the members of the Smith Town Social Club at her home Saturday afternoon. This meeting was devoted entirely to business and the following officers were elected:

Miss Callie Smith, president. Miss Mattie Smith, vice president. Miss Anna Willoughby, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Nannie Lou Wilkerson, assistant secretary and treasurer. Miss Camille Robinson, reporter.

After the business was over, the guest were invited out on the lawn where each one tested her skill as marksman. Misses Sallie and Carrie Bell Smith tied. They tried again and Miss Carrie Belle winning was awarded a box of Divinity Fudge.

The hostess then led the way into the dining room where a dainty two course luncheon was served.

Visitors present: Miss Macie Gault, of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Miss Winnie Evans, of Edenton, N. C. They added much pleasure to the evening by rendering musical selections and readings.

At five o'clock the guests departed declaring Miss Smith a charming hostess.

TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF LAND SALE.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust executed to me by Riley Jenkins, and bearing date Feby. 21st, 1912, to secure the payment of a certain bond of even date therewith, and the stipulations contained in said deed of trust not having been complied with, and upon request of the power of said bond, the undersigned will sell at public sale, for cash on the 4th day of March, 1914, (Wednesday), at two o'clock p. m. on the premises hereinafter described, the following lands described in said deed of trust, to-wit:

Lying and being in the county of Pitt, Carolina township, North Carolina, and adjoining the lands of Gabel Jenkins, Wade Williams, Mack Bryant and others, and bound on the north by the lands of Pollard, and Walter Harper, on the east by the lands of Walter Harper, on the south by the lands of Wade Williams and on the west by the lands Gabel Jenkins, and being all that certain tract of land whereon the said Riley Jenkins now lives, and being a part of the lands sold to said Riley Jenkins by deed from John Rollins, and containing 28 acres, more or less.

This Jan. 28th, 1914. JOHN T. ROSS, Trustee. J. C. SMITH Atty.

DISMISSED ON CHARGE OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Willis Little, a negro for whom the officers have been on the look-out for since about the middle of December thought to be guilty of highway robbery was yesterday afternoon arrested by Constable Walter Patrick and this morning given a hearing before Magistrate C. D. Rountree. There not being sufficient evidence to sustain the charge he was dismissed.

The hold-up occurred on the night of the twentieth of December on the river dam, and it was thought that Little was the guilty party, but as stated nothing could be proven.

SHERIFF ERNEST DUDLEY GETS A BLIND TIGRESS

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Dudley pulled off a stunt on a blind tiger Saturday similar to the arrest made by Officer Clark, mention of which was made yesterday. Eliza Williams, a negro woman residing near the boat landing of whom the officers had had suspicion for some time is the one now to answer the charge of retailing. Sheriff Dudley marked a piece of money so that it could be recognized by him if seen again, and sent a negro man to the woman's home to buy some whiskey, and in a few minutes the booze was forthcoming. The officer made the arrests and this morning the prisoner was given a hearing and under a bond of one hundred dollars she was bound over to the next term of court.

Mrs. B. W. Moseley Entertains.

Mrs. Bennett W. Moseley received about two hundred of her friends at her delightful home, "Pine Knoll", Tuesday afternoon from three to five o'clock.

The day was perfect and a constant throng of beautifully dressed women moved in and out of the hospitable home during the afternoon.

Little Misses Francis Moseley and Marietta Sugg took the cards of the callers.

Those assisting Mrs. Moseley at her charming reception, were: Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and Mrs. G. B. Hadley, who gave the guests a cordial greeting in the hall. Mrs. S. T. White and Mrs. J. R. Moyer introduced them to the receiving line, in which were the hostess, her two sisters Mesdames L. C. Arthur and E. B. Picklen, and Mrs. J. G. Moyer.

At the doors leading into the dining room were Mesdames J. W. Ferrall and P. J. Forbes. Inside the dining room, Mesdames R. J. Cobb, T. E. Hooker and J. L. Wooten greeted the guests, who were served exquisite refreshments, consisting of pink and white ice cream and dainty little cakes decorated with candy sweet peas. Bon bons in the shape of La France rose petals. Parma violets and pink sweet peas were also served. The dining room was artistically decorated with sweet peas, amilax and softly shaded candles, Misses Douglas Arthur, Novella

Helen Laughinghouse and Minnie Exum Sugg served in this room.

Mrs. G. W. Baker and Mrs. D. E. House greeted the stream of guests passing into the hall. Mrs. W. I. Skinner and Mrs. H. E. Austin showed them into the library, elaborately decorated in pink carnations and maiden hair fern, where Mrs. W. H. Dail and Mrs. C. S. Forbes welcomed and invited them to partake of the bountiful and refreshing punch, served by Mesdames M. H. Quinerty and R. O. Jeffress.

Crocia's Italian band played soft music throughout the afternoon.

When the callers had all gone the receiving party were seated in the dining room and served an appetizing salad course, followed by sweets.

There has not been a more elaborate and charming affair given in Greenville this season than Mrs. Moseley's reception on Tuesday.

GREENVILLE FOREMOST AS A HORSE AND MULE MARKET

During the past fall and winter Greenville has entered into the foremost rank as one of the best horse and mule markets in Eastern North Carolina, and every week several car loads are received by the different dealers, of which there is four or five. Not only are the people of Pitt county supplied, but many of the sales are made to those from adjoining counties.

CAPTAIN SMITH GETS MAN FOR STEALING AUTOMOBILE

Chief-of-Police Smith received a message yesterday to be on the look-out for a young man by the name of Pilley, charged by the Harris Hardware Company, of Washington, N. C., with the theft of an automobile. So last night the young man put in his appearance with the car and a system filled with spirituous liquors. No sooner had he arrived when Captain Smith took him in charge and notified the Washington authorities of his arrest. This morning an officer came up and returned today with his man.

MEN WHO MAKE THE WORLD.

Men who make the world of today are making The Youth's Companion what it is today. It is very much more than The Companion you may remember; no higher in purpose, but more lavish in material—larger and improved with special Family Pages, Boy's Pages, Girl's Pages, and a constant supply of serials and shorter stories.

The editorial page of information, comment, science and events will keep any man well informed, while the Family Page helps on home improvements and ideas, and both boys and girls have special pages for themselves.

You do the family a good turn when The Youth's Companion "as it is today" is sent to the home. Fifty-two issues a year—not twelve. More reading than is found in any monthly magazine at any price.

You may not know The Companion as it is today. Let us send you three current issues free, that you may thoroughly test the paper's quality.
