Mayor James After Those Conducting Business at City Market

Mayor James is right after those disregarding the laws and ordinances of the town, and is determined that these shall be more rigidly enforced in the future. On Friday of last week he issued warrants for every man conducting a stall at the city market charging them with keeping unsanitary places, and this morning had them to appear before him and with a small fine he read to them articles contained in the town ordinances relative as to how these places should be kept. His Honor lectured those before him quite severely and warned them that unless matters were mended, he would have the puffy ones brought before him every week and heavy fines imposed.

The market committee of the board of aldermen were ordered last week to have the market renovated and painted, and with this much needed improvement, those conducting business there should do their part to keep it looking as sanitary as possible.

Sheriff Dudley Captures Blind Tiger at Haddock's Cross Road

Last week was a busy one with the town and county officers in rounding up blind tigers, in fact nearly every officer figured in the arrest of some one charge with retailing Sheriff Dudley being about the only one without a laurel, (if a blind tiger is to be considered such), for the week up to yesterday morning, decided he would go in search for same, and going to Haddock's Cross Road, a place located just at a point where Contentnea, Chicod and Swift Creek townships meet, there he found one not so blind, as whiskey jugs, beer bottles and bottle tops were numerous surrounding the place of business of Mr. J. W. Cox. Upon investigation he found over two barrels of genuine beer.

This was the sheriff's second visit to Mr. Cox's store having gone there about a month ago and finding several barrels of what they call near-beer he informed the retailer that he had learned of his illegal business and warned him against such, which advice he promised to take, saying that he considered his business legal as he was selling nothing stronger than what was found in his place at that time.

During the latter part of last week the officer learned that Mr. Cox was doing a thriving business, and generally did after the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, at which time he would receive sufficient quantity to last for a couple of weeks, and yesterday being the second Sunday the sheriff arrived when there was a good supply of intoxicants on hand, besides the beer he found two kegs which Mr. Cox said contained orange wine, but Mr. Dudley having sufficient evidence he made no further investigation.

When tried before Magistrate Rountree this morning the case was carried over to the next term of court under heavy bond.

On Again, Gone Again.

ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY MARCH 9

Beautiful Greek Myth "Pandora"
 Will Be Presented

DRAMATIZED BY LONSFELLOW

This Play Will Be Different From Any Hitherto Given at the Training School, Beautiful Costumes and Scenery.

One month from this evening March 9, the annual Senior play will be presented at the Training School. This play will be different from any hitherto given at the school.

The beautiful Greek myth, "Pandora", dramatized by Lonsfellow, has been adopted and made into a brilliant, spectacular pageant. Beautiful folk and nature dances occur frequently; nymphs, dryads, graces, fauns, and other creations of the Greek mind dances in and out making a marvelously beautiful dream-like setting for the world's first love story.

The costumes, in lovely color schemes and fitting stage settings of woods gardens and Greek interiors, will produce charming effects. The music will harmonize with all this.

Owing to heavy outside work Miss Naulty was unable to undertake the coaching, a professional coach of New York city, Miss Mabel V. Rivers, is managing the play. She has selected costumes and stage properties in New York and for weeks the class and members of the faculty have been busy carrying out the preliminary plans. She will soon come down and take entire personal charge.

These plays at the Training school have become events of great interest to the town and community.

The senior class has been planning since early fall, to make this production such that it will increase the excellent reputation that the school has for high class dramatic performances.

Misses Rives Entertains.

Misses Allie, Minnie and Ellie Rives entertained at their home on north Washington street Saturday evening in honor of Misses Clara V. Covert and Massie Waldorf, of Elizabeth City.

Those present were Misses Nina Harris, Dorothy Long, Mary J. Smith, Ferrell Peale, Vivian Rives, Lela Carroll, Helen Pugh, Clara V. Covert, Massie Waldorf, Allie, Minnie and Ellie Rives; Messrs. Leon Rivers, Louis Bell, J. P. Rowlett, Jack Kearney, Clarence Lamsden, J. H. Kinsey, Leslie D. Waldorf and Master Douglas Ward.

The evening was pleasantly spent instrumental music and games being the principal entertainment. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and during the evening several courses of delicious refreshments were served.

Mayor's Court.

The docket this morning consisted of cases of disorderly conduct and drunkenness and they all received what was coming to them. One of the number refused to enter the guard house when arrested Saturday night, consequently it required rough treatment from the officers which he received.

Christian Church.

Two strong and interesting sermons were delivered at the Christian Church yesterday by the pastor. There was one addition to the church at the morning service.

Marriage Licenses.

Last week Register of Deeds Bell issued marriage licenses to the following couples:

WHITE
 Levi Jones and Etta Williams,
 James Joyner and Fannie Cash.
COLORED
 Haywood Clemens and Mary Smith.

Ayden Items.

AYDEN, Feb. 6.—Mr. J. H. Harris has purchased the sale stables of Mr. J. E. Winslow, on Third street. This is valuable property. We hear that Mr. Winslow contemplates erecting another set of stables much larger than the quarters he has sold, on the corner of Lee and Third streets.

Mr. Ulysses S. Jackson tells us that he has caught two moles on his plant bed and twenty-four on his farm around his garden, with two of these Riddick Mole traps. Plenty of them can be had at J. R. Smith and Bros. Mrs. Henrietta Rodges, widow of the late Mr. Rodges, died at her home near Rountree's Monday morning, after a lingering sickness. She was the mother of Mrs. J. R. Spier, Messrs. Heiler and P. P. Rodges. She was a devout member of the Christian church and always on the side of right. Her remains were laid to rest in the family burial ground Tuesday afternoon. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

It is good to have a bell to ring in case of fire, or any other event. There was one rung at Philadelphia when peace was declared, and Mr. Reddin Jackson, at the Soper farm rang his when his house caught fire, and his neighbors helped to relieve the situation. Plenty of these good farm, school and church bells at J. R. Smith and Bros.

If you want a nice pet for your children, you can get it from Henry Harris, a pretty Shetland pony.

The J. R. Haddock farm was sold Monday at public auction at Greenville and brought $8200.00. Dr. B. T. Cox was the purchaser.

Mr. William Dail tells us that the hog cholera is raging in the vicinity of Fountain Hill. He has lost several fine ones.

The justices of the peace will meet at the office of His Honor J. P. Barwick, next Saturday to hear reports from the various road overseers in this Contentnea township.

Ben Julius Warren dropped in to see us Wednesday evening, to thank us for spending of his good looks, while recommending him for the running mate of Hon. C. L. Abernethy, the coming campaign.

The time to blow up your stumps is now, while you can sell the light-wood and fill up the holes. Just received a ton of dynamite. J. R. Smith and Bros.

The bid has been raised on the farm of the late J. R. Haddock, which was sold last Monday and will necessitate another sale, this is a valuable farm and some one will get a bargain the next sale will be March 2nd 1914.

A short visit through the rural district will convince you that our people have availed themselves of the pretty weather and broke lots of their land. No end to blowing up stumps. Plenty of dynamite yet, at J. R. Smith and Bros.

The Masonic brethren held their regular communication last Thursday, with fitting ceremonies, songs, speeches and the usual banquet.

Mr. F. G. Bahmann tells us that the Ayden Lumber Company have just received another supply of men from the labor bureau, that are proving good workers, and they will expect another shipment soon. He also tells us they are apt, quick and good natured, and that he is well pleased with the trial so far.

The old "blue back spelling book" tells us the lion is the king of the forest. DuPont says dynamite is the giant powder, for blowing stumps. Plenty can be had at J. R. Smith and Bros.

Dick Swiveller and the Marchioness.

Mr. Richard Swiveller, perpetual grandmaster of the Order of Apollon, and some time clerk to Sampson Brass, Esq., attorney, of Bevis Marke, was learned in purl. His sorrow that Brown men should not know it could surpass only his surprise that the marchioness should have tasted beer in sips. For it was a fagon of creaming purl that Mr. Swiveller introduced into the cellar kitchen on that memorable night he discovered the little slaver "cooling her eye at the key-hole," and eager for company set himself to teach her cribbage. It must rank as one of the greatest nights not only in Mr. Swiveller's life, but in all fiction. Purl was then hot ale, well speiced with nutmeg and laced with a measure of gin.—London Chronicle.

To Purify Musty Places.

Charcoal and quicklime are the best purifiers. To use charcoal, for instance, suspend it in net bags. Make a number of bags to hold several large lumps of charcoal. These will absorb all sorts of bad odors and mustiness and leave the atmosphere pure and sweet. The power of charcoal is according to its freshness, and this is restored by heating. Once a week take the bags down, empty them in a fire pot and heat very hot. The freshened lumps will then serve a new period of usefulness.

ALWAYS A SIGN OF DEATH

Flag at "Half-Staff" Sure Indication
 That the Dread Visitor Has Been There.

Nearly every one speaks of a flag, when being flown at a distance from the top of the pole, as at "half-mast." This is not the correct expression. Such flags are at "half-staff" because they are flown in this manner whether on land or sea from the flag staff.

To see a flag at half-staff means death. It may mean, on an incoming ship, that one of the passengers or crew died at sea. Many a little fishing vessel comes into Gloucester and T wharf in Boston every season with a flag at half-staff, and this means one of the fishermen, or more, has met death, generally being swept overboard.

This custom of flying flags at half-staff originated first as a token of defeat. That is, when an army was defeated, its flag was lowered down the staff to give room for the victorious army to place its flag above that of the defeated army.

From this the custom grew into flying the flag at half-staff when an officer, army or navy, died. Later it was adopted by civilians as well, and today, when a man of prominence dies, regardless of whether he was sailor, soldier, or civilian, the flags are hung at half-staff. Whereas, in the olden days, when the custom started, the upper space was left to indicate that the victor could put his flag there, now it seems that death is the victor, and so the space is left. It is, of course, a mark of respect to the dead person to have flags at half-staff for him.

EMPLOYMENT FOR OLD CAR

Gardener Has Found Really Ingenious
 Use for Automobile That Has Had Its Day.

"Where do all the old cars go?" is a question that is asked continually, and there are very few persons who can even approximate the answer with any degree of satisfaction either to themselves or to others. But it is certain where at least one of them has gone for it has been turned into a lawn mower. The reason for its fall from aristocratic to plebeian work is because its owner has a really tremendous lawn to keep in trim; he is head gardener for a large golf club and as every one knows putting greens must be kept "just so." There was an antiquated two-cylinder automobile on the premises that long had ceased to be of any practical value for pleasure purposes and the gardener conceived the bright idea of making it "die in the harness," so to speak. So with the help of some steel strips and some chains he attached no less than three lawn mowers to it—originally they were drawn by horses. The steering gear is intact except that the place of the front wheels is taken by a heavy roller; two rollers take the place of the driving wheels.—Scientific Ameri-

Beautiful Bird of Paradise.

Women of fashion who wear the bird of paradise plumes do not realize how beautiful the bird is that surrenders to them its pride and glory. Its total length is about eight inches; its body, wings and tail are of a rich coffee color, which deepens on the breast to a blackish violet or purple brown. The whole top of the head and neck is of a delicate straw color, the feathers being short enough to look like velvet. The lower part of the throat is covered with emerald green feathers which reach to the eye, and velvety plumes of a still deeper green extend in a band across the forehead and chin as far as the eye, which is bright yellow. From each side of the body beneath the wings springs a dense tuft of long and delicate plumes, sometimes two feet in length, of the most intense golden orange color and extremely glossy, but changing toward the tips into a pale brown.
