LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

—President Gray and Col. J. M. Rose went down to Fayetteville this morning.
 —Gov. Seales and Wakelee Seales returned to Raleigh this morning from this place.
 —Capt. J. M. Odell, of Concord, was here to-day, to attend the funeral of Mr. Curtis.
 —George S. Bradshaw, Esq., of Asheboro, has been here to-day, but left for home this afternoon.
 —Miss Emma Jones, of Bachelor's Hall, Va., who has been here on a visit, returned to her home this morning.
 —Mr. — Anderson, of Durham, came up last night, to be in attendance on the funeral of the late Mr. Curtis, to-day.
 —Prof. Steele, who has been north spending the Summer vacation, has returned to his duties at Bennett Seminary in this city.
 —W. H. Rees, of this place, who went to Reidsville some time ago to assist in the Postoffice at that place, has returned to this city.
 —Mrs. Parks, of Hillsboro, reached this place last night, on a visit of two weeks to the family of her father, Rev. Dr. N. H. D. Wilson.
 —Rev. Dr. Smith came up last night from his visit to Hawfields church, at which place he spent two days with Rev. Mr. Chester in a sacramental meeting.
 —Four prisoners, three of them being small colored boys of this city, Will. Houston, Henry Lindsay and Henry Harris, were taken down to the penitentiary this morning.
 —Mr. W. W. Jenkins and family passed through here this morning going to Wake Forest College, where they will make their future home. Mr. Jenkins was formerly Postmaster at Charlotte.

The Daily Workman.

Vol. 3. GREENSBORO, N. C. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1885. No. 86.

—Mr. Geo. Lampman, of Ohio, is at the Benbow House. He moved from Ohio for the benefit of his family's health, and will open a jewelry store in this place. We welcome all such comers.

—Oliver Staley, who lives about a mile and a half from Julian, on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad, shows a stalk of corn seventeen feet and one inch high. There are plenty of stalks in the same field very nearly as high as that one.

—Rev. J. R. Jones, who lives at Summerfield, in this county, has had fine experience with clover. He sowed five acres in March, without any fertilizer, and cut from the ground the last of August two tons of clover hay.

—R. P. Gray, Sec'y and Treasurer of the North State Improvement Company, and J. R. Williams, Treasurer of the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad, are paying off the employees of the C. F. & Y. V. R. to-day, between this place and Fayetteville.

—News has been received here of the death of Perry L. Shepherd, who lived near Gibsonville. He was a merchant and did his trading here. We are without any further particulars, except that his death occurred yesterday evening. Articles for burying purposes were procured from our dealers here to day.

—Mrs. S. T. Chapin, of South Carolina, who has been lecturing in this State and South Carolina in the interest of temperance, delivered one of her lectures at the Benbow Hall last evening on the above named subject. Mrs. Chapin is a very successful lecturer, we understand, and highly pleased her audience last night, which was a large one.

—So much is the country stirred up in the matter of architectural improvement that even the ancient town of Hillsboro is building and remodeling to a wonderful extent. The lumber used this year in buildings of various kinds is enormous, and the sum of all the work of carpenters, masons, plasterers and painters has far exceeded anything in the country's annals.

—Rev. Mr. Allison, of Mebaneville, has a beautiful and substantial walking stick, which was obtained by Professor Tillett in a recent visit to Geneva, Switzerland, and presented to the present owner, who prizes it very highly, partly from the fact that it is an elegant and substantial cane, and partly because it came from Geneva, the city of John Calvin, the highest human authority among Presbyterians.

CORRECTION.—The announcement made in these columns yesterday that Dr. Smith would preach a temperance sermon next Sabbath, makes the mistake of calling the season "the centennial of Presbyterian work in America," whereas it should be the centennial of Temperance work, this being the 100th year since Dr. Rush gave to the world his celebrated views on the effects of alcohol on the human system. The occasion has no relation to Presbyterian work, and Dr. Smith's sermon, which will no doubt be a very good one, will be on Temperance.

OUR LOSS.—The death of such a man as the late Dennis Curtis, whose funeral occurred to day, and whose body was committed to the dust in Greenhill cemetery, brings no common loss to his family and church, and to the community at large. The tribute to his worth—a brief memoir read from the pulpit by his late pastor—was a very just and satisfactory account of the life that had just closed, and yet none but those who were intimate with the deceased could so fully appreciate the finer touches that were given to his character. Busy as was his life, and burdened as it was with multiform cares and the crosses from which none are free, there was no time of the day when he was not ready to speak on the subject of personal religion, and evince the joy with which his spirit drank continually from the wells of salvation. In this matter there were but few like him—too few in any community. We can not, therefore, suffer the occasion to pass without saying something in praise of a man whose worth was so great, who exhibited in his daily life a virtue so rare and yet so necessary to men. No community has many such characters to spare, and in the time to come we shall realize the fact more fully than we can now.

—Mr. G. H. Makepeace is here to day, with Mrs. Makepeace, having been in attendance on the funeral of the late Mr. Curtis.

"NONDESCRIPT PARTY"
 —AT—
THE PARSONAGE.

The Methodist Parsonage is now completed, and will be opened for the reception of visitors on Tuesday evening next, (the 15th inst.,) at 7 o'clock. The ladies of the Parsonage Aid Society invite the general public, as well as the friends who have from time to time manifested their kindly interest in the enterprise by their generous aid, to meet at the Parsonage on that occasion to spend a pleasant evening in social intercourse, and to enjoy the excellent vocal and instrumental music prepared for the entertainment of the guests. The ladies will serve ice cream, cake, sherbet, chicken-salad, etc., at the usual prices for the benefit of the Parsonage.
