

THE DAILY WORKMAN.

J. S. NICHOLS, Local Editor

A paper for all people, but especially to meet the desire which many are known to entertain for a non-political sheet, the WORKMAN will strive to go into every house, leaving to other papers the scenes of politics, giving the news in brief and holding itself responsible to the moral sense of the community for its utterances.

Sedgwick has returned to Washington, but declines to be interviewed.

Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, has been impeached, by a vote of 49 to 38

In one part of Texas the people are suffering with hunger, while at another point a man at base ball had his leg broken square off.

Not all the editors are supplied with encyclopedias, else there would have been a closer simultaneousness of scientific deliverances on the earthquake.

Lightning struck an oil tank at Muncie Farm, Pa., yesterday, and the flames spread with alarming rapidity, burning oil flowing freely down the public road.

A young man was fined in the police court of Richmond yesterday, and given thirty days in jail, for throwing "bad eggs" at the salvation army during their services on Sunday.

There is yet cholera in Italy. From infected places the report made up yesterday embraced 21 deaths from cholera, and 47 new cases. In Austria-Hungary the cases are not so many—21 new cases and 6 deaths.

MORE SHOCKS.—There were two light shocks at Charleston yesterday, one at 1:30 p. m., the other at about 4. Summerville reports say that moderate shocks occurred in that town both on Sunday and yesterday, those on yesterday more severe.

Detectives from Richmond having been employed on the apparently accidental death of J. L. Motley, at Danville, having made a survey and investigation, have caused the arrest of parties supposed to have accomplished the death of Motley.

WANTING TO MARRY.—There are just dozens of our young men who have been studying the question of matrimony for years past, but who have not as yet decided on marriage at any near period. We treat it as a serious question, for such indeed it is. There are numbers of young men from 22 to 28 years of age—the proper age for marriage—who are now less disposed to go into the married state than they were some years ago. They have been bluffed off by the consideration of what it costs to keep a wife. We fear that the scriptural idea of woman as a help meet for the man has been sadly perverted—it must be so, if the woman is now studied simply as a question of cost. Let the women resent the insult by showing that they are not chiefly an expensive but more particularly an economical article. How could Solomon have said—"Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favor of the Lord," if he had understood that wives cost more than a man of ordinary means could afford? As we have been taught to understand the question a wife (that is a wife) is something a man with an ordinary income can afford to have. The mother who is bringing up a parcel of daughters to help spend the surplus money of the more prosperous young men is doing a poor thing for herself, her daughters and for society.

The State department at Washington has been notified of outrages by Chinese upon American missionaries at Kwai Ping, 400 miles S. W. of Canton. A mob also attacked the missionary establishments at Chungking, doing serious violence to property.

The earthquake is said to have caused a large crack, six feet long, through a wall six feet in thickness, in the new State building for library, Supreme court and offices of public instruction at Raleigh; but it is claimed that the real injury is not material.

Wayne county has a man named Pharoah (Pharoah Perkins) and the same had a strange accident the other day, according to the Goldsboro Messenger—thus:

He was amusing himself with the practice of throwing a curved ball, when his right arm broke from the force with which he delivered the ball.

POLITICAL RUMOR.—The Charlotte Observer of yesterday has the following special from Washington dated the 18th:

It is reported here on the authority of a friend of Minister Jarvis, that he intended to resign about the middle of his term, or some time during the next year, and return to North Carolina.

It is well understood here that Governor Jarvis will be a candidate for the Senatorship in 1889, against Senator Ransom.

This will be something of an earthquake, if it should come to pass.

FOR CO-OPERATION.—Mrs. Bryce, the gifted president of the Alabama W. C. T. U. puts in the earnest entreaty for the co-operation of the gifted, talented women of her State. The same may be said to the true-hearted women of North Carolina.

"I wish that every gifted, intelligent woman of Alabama would join us, we want the spare moments of the busy-headed workers, who by their pens could do us much good. This is a large field of usefulness and every earnest woman in the cause can find scope for her talents. To the women of high social position, we say, come give us your influence; and to you, active, busy, Christian women who are working for the heathen in your missionary societies, we implore you not to overlook the suffering ones at your very doors. We beg you to unite with us in endeavoring to remove the dram-shops from our streets, the accursed dram-shop; the causes of so much misery and vice, and aid us in educating the children of the rich and poor alike, to abstain from things that ruin their bodies and destroy their souls. If every woman in the State would exert herself in behalf of this great cause, would connect herself with this organization and work for it as she ought to do, what an irresistible impulse would be imparted to the temperance movement in Alabama! Estimate, if you can, the power of an organization composed of every mother, wife, and daughter, working in behalf of purity and sobriety. How long do you suppose would the supporters of the liquor traffic be able to withstand such influence?"

SENATOR EDMUNDS ON LABOR.—"He will see (alluding to a sensible workman) that the liberty of the laboring men is not only the liberty to 'strike' as the phrase is but that it is equal liberty not to strike if he does not wish to, and the liberty to work on in peace and safety if he thinks it for his interest to do so while others may choose, as they have a perfect right to do, not to work upon the terms proposed. He will learn that violence against the administration of law, or unlawful coercion of any kind, exerted toward other workingmen or toward employers, are crimes of the greatest character against all labor, and the welfare of laboring men, upon whom the consequences of such things always finally fall more heavily than on any class of society."

Hon. J. W. Reid spoke at Ruffin, N. C., on Saturday, and Mr. J. R. Webster attempted to make a reply, but it is reported that the crowd refused to hear him speak.—Danville Register.

THE CONSERVATIVE POSITION.—The following in the Charlotte Ballot comes so very near expressing our own convictions on the subject to which it refers, and about which we had proposed to speak at some opportune time, that we insert it with approbation, if not with full endorsement. Non-partisan as this paper is, in the sense which we understand it to mean, we shall try always to be fair and consistent, keeping in mind the fact that we are at war with the saloon and all its supporters:

The conservative position of the Ballot on the subject of prohibition does not please our thorough-going out-and-out prohibition friends. They go on the principle of a whole loaf or no bread at all. We should prefer the whole loaf too. But the public are not ready to give it to us. The only offer half as yet, and we accept that and return thanks until they get more liberal. In the meantime we keep on appealing to their generosity.

Our friends who find fault with us are right in demanding the whole loaf, but we think they are wrong in refusing the half. We believe in doing what is practicable this year. In the meantime keep on sowing for a future harvest but at the same time keep on reaping whatever harvest is already at hand. The right thing for our friends to do is to help us sow and reap.

MT. PLEASANT COTON MILLS
Guilford Co., N. C.,

EDITORS WORKMAN: Perhaps some of our friends who are interested in the manufacture of cotton goods will be pleased to see a line or two in regard to the present condition of these mills which are under the personal supervision of Mr. Wm. M. Kime, who understands his business perhaps as well as any man of no more than five years experience. Cotton wirps and plaids are the productions of these mills. The weaving department is under the good management of Mr. Thos. Bain and consists of 69 first class looms. Mr. Bain has the confidence of his hands, and to give you an idea of the work done in this room, 80,694 1/2 yds plaids were shipped yesterday to one house, and over 16,000 yds will be shipped to morrow to an Alabama house.

Mr. Editor, if any small factory can beat these figures, we say, let them "sing out" the facts.

The spinning and carding department is run by Mr. F. M. Ward, a practical machinist who is ever ready to look after the entire interest of the mill and is regarded highly by his hands. Yarn as good as any in the State is made here to supply the weaver's room and the surplus at present is sold to the neighboring mills, but cannot supply the demand by a great deal. The walls of a brick lapper house are now going up, which, when completed, will be a great convenience and will afford more room for looms, as the lapper beaming, quilling etc., will be moved into the new building. Nor are the foregoing improvements all, for Mr. O. K. Simmons is building a number of houses for operatives, here.

We hope to hear from other mills soon.

SAD NEWS FROM TEXAS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., September 20.—Rev. John Brown, a Presbyterian clergyman of Albany Texas, is in the city in the interest of one hundred thousand starving families, representing half a million people, who he says, are starving in the drought stricken district of northwest Texas. Appeals were made by him yesterday in different churches. Mr. Brown says that the suffering and distress caused by the drought which has existed for the past fifteen months was even greater than at Charleston, but the railroad authorities who owned lands which they wanted to sell to settlers conspired to hush up the real condition of the people lest it should interfere with emigration.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY —OF THE—

Methodist Protestant Church.

This Institution will open in September next with a full Corps of Instructors. Preparations of the most ample and thorough character are now going forward. It is contemplated to erect at once a building suitable for the accommodation of Students, with Dormitories, Library and Recitation Halls, ready for occupancy in September.

The School of Theology will be located in Westminster, Md., contiguous to Western Maryland College. Students will, therefore, have all the privileges of the Collegiate Establishment while pursuing their theological studies.

The course of study will be flexible, meeting the necessities of those who can remain but a short while, and at the same time affording a complete theological training to those desiring it.

A pamphlet will be issued early this Summer, giving full particulars, which will be sent free to those applying.

Correspondence solicited from young men contemplating the ministry.
