

THE DAILY WORKMAN.

J. N. MICHAUX, Local Editor

A paper for all people, but especially to meet the desire which many are known to entertain for a non-political sheet, the WORKMAN will strive to go in to every house, leaving to other papers the science of politics, giving the news in brief and holding itself responsible to the moral sense of the community for its utterances.

Personal.

Col. Houston, of Mount Vernon Springs, was among the number of those who came up on the C. F. & Y. V. railroad last evening.

Miss Lucilla Fleming, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. R. E. Patterson, at Liberty, came up last evening on her way to Vance county to visit friends in that section.

Revs. J. H. Gilbreath and Jeremiah Cox, passed through last night on the way to Mount Pleasant, Ohio, near Wheeling, Va., to attend the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, and the Indiana Yearly Meeting, at Richmond, Indiana.

Three suicides are reported from New York City for August 20th: A boy of 15, and a widowed mother and her daughter. Pityable indeed.

"Our New Navy" will be described and illustrated in the September number of the American Magazine by Lieut. W. S. Hughes, U. S. N. From the accurate details given of the capacity and power of the new ships, the reader will be enabled to judge for himself how far they may serve in solving the problem of our naval defence.

CAN'T OCCUPY THE SAME HOUSE.—Henry George is represented as saying that "the present labor party cannot afford to occupy the same house with the socialists." Very good. But hear the following deliverance of the chief: "We recognized that they (the socialists) are actuated by high motives, and that they are in earnest in their work in behalf of the masses, but there are principles held by them that we could not endorse."

Sullivan, the hero and pride of Boston, has had a belt studded with diamonds presented to him. It only cost $8,000.—News Item.

Doubtless many of our readers will recognize the foregoing item as one which they have seen already; but is'n't it a study? Does anybody wonder that the office of "fool killer" should have been thought of years ago, and in the absence of the reality of such a thing there should be an imaginary character adapted to the business of knocking fools on the head with a huge club? If the presentation of the belt to Sullivan represented the majority of the American people we should not consider our interest in the affairs of the country as worth looking after; and, if such a majority were to have the rule henceforth, we should say that the devil needn't be at all uneasy about his crown and his Kingdom. The laws of the country, if they were just and equitable, would have such men—no, there wouldn't be such men, but boys who were developing into prize fighters would go to the house of correction.

NOTHING AFTER ALL.—The Charlotte Chronicle of August 23rd contains an explanation from Rev. Mr. Law, District Supt. of the American Bible Society, touching his relations to the question of evolution as involved in his supposed sympathy with Prof. Woodrow. It seems, however, that according to what Mr. Law now so timidly states, and which we quote from the Chronicle, the explanation made would have satisfied the executive committee, and saved Mr. Law from the appearance of a menace to the Mecklenburg county Bible Society. Here is the paragraph as it appears in the Chronicle:

As to the scientific theory of evolution, I do not claim to know anything about it. I have never had the time nor the opportunity to investigate it for myself, and consequently have not been able to arrive at an opinion whether it is true or false. Hence I have uniformly declared that I neither believe it nor disbelieve it.

How Mr. Law could have been misled into the belief that he ought to assume an air of dignity and independence toward the Mecklenburg County Bible Society, instead of making the explanation asked, and which he now virtually makes, and should prefer instead the flourish which he made in his manifesto to the executive committee, we leave to some "evolutionist" much wiser than we are to account for.

BILLY BARLOW.—An aged friend of ours has a Barlow Knife, and he says that although its cost was only fifteen cents, it is a really good and serviceable knife. From time immemorial there has always been on the market a Barlow Knife, and all the while there have been certain knives of that order that proved to be very good, so much so that the Barlow continues to hold on its way. We first hear of "Barlow" in a school dialogue of the olden time in which a man by the name of Barlow comes forward as the head of a colony destined for the wilds of America. Students of those old days remember the different characters introduced of proposed immigrants, and how Barlow answered each one with a good word, especially if he followed a useful trade, as farmer, tanner, carpenter, blacksmith, shoemaker. But presently a new and distinct character introduced himself, and he did so with an air of superiority. When Barlow asked him about his vocation he said he was "a gentleman." This fellow, as one might suppose, did not meet with a flattering reception, and Mr. Barlow told him that there was no place for him—He was not needed; if he came, he would only be a burden to the rest, as well as a demoralizing element in the colony.

Things have changed very much in many respects since the days of Barlow, but as for the "gentleman" of the style of the fellow who proposed to come over and be waited on and supported by the rest, he has not changed a whit. People admire a gentle horse, or a gentle cow, but a gentleman is just a little too gentle for anything, and we thank Mr. Barlow for declining to plant any of the stock in America, having plenty that come up spontaneously in soft, shady places.

Excitement in Texas.—Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head, everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle of Dr. King's New Life Pills, by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

Time and tide wait for no one.

CATARRH

WAGES IN 1800.—The condition of the wage class of that day may be well examined; it is full of instruction for social agitators. In the great cities unskilled workmen were hired by the day, bought their own food, and found their own lodgings. But in the country, on the farms, or wherever a hand was employed on some public work, they were fed and lodged by the employer and given a few dollars a month. On the Pennsylvania canals the diggers ate the coarsest diet, were housed in the rudest sheds, and paid $6 a month from May to November, and $5 a month from November to May. Hod carriers and mortar mixers, diggers and choppers, who, from 1793 to 1800, labored on the public buildings and cut the streets and avenues of Washington City, received $70 a year, or if they wished, $60 for all the work they could perform from March 1 to December 31. The hours of work were invariably from sunrise to sunset. Wages at Albany and New York were 3 shillings, or, as money then went, 40 cents a day; at Lancaster, $8 to $10 a month; elsewhere in Pennsylvania workmen were content with $6 in summer and $5 in winter. At Baltimore men were glad to be hired at 18 pence a day. None, by the month, asked more than $6. At Fredericksburg the price of labor was from $5 to $7. In Virginia, white men employed by the year were given £16 currency; slaves, when hired, were clothed and their masters paid £1 a month. A pound Virginia money was, in Federal money, $3.33. The average rate of wages the land over was, therefore, $65 a year, with food and, perhaps, lodging. Out of this small sum the workman must, with his wife's help, maintain his family.—McMaster's History.

The Ounce of Prevention.
The satisfaction of feeling safe from catching any disease from drinking water, from impure air, from a sick person, from contact with foul clothing, infection or contagion from any source, is complete and all anxiety allayed by the use of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. A bottle will give more safety, comfort and confidence than all the doctoring in the world.

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years standing." Abraham Hare, Druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Hunter & Michaux's Drug Store.
