By the had the conditions of the failure of hoth, and then we should have had the chaotic state again - from two papers to no paper.

However much the Daily Workman lacked of being what the people wanted, and of what its publisher wanted it to be, there was enough of common justice in the people of Greensboro not to turn a cold shoulder to the paper which had staid by them in seasons of discouragement and when the town was in its struggle to get the various improvements which it now has, There was also an impression, received from past observation, that the Work-MAN had certain staying qualities which it might be good policy to encourage. These are some of the facts of which it seems necessary to remind our readers at this time. We have always felt that we could not afford to begin an enterprise in a daily newspaper and then, unless it was utterly unavoidable. let it go down, believing that it would do more or less damage to the reputation of our city.

If it should be said that the DAILY WORKMAN has not been sufficiently enterprising, our reply is that it has effected all the enterprise that its paronage would justify; and the publisher who attempts more is a bad financier and unjust to himself.

What a Day May Bring Forth.

Lest Monday Speaker Tom Reed of Maine, was in possession of the House of Representatives with a grip stronger than that of any man since the government was established .- At sunset next day it was made ertain that his grip was lost, and in less than twenty four hours the opposing party began to discuss the question of his successor. This is rapid transit by wire. O, politics, politics, what sudden falls thou hast for mortals, especially for the biggest and highest!
