THE REV. "BUD" ROBINSON.

This noted and eccentric evangelist preached several times recently in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, West Asheville. He preaches like no one else you ever heard— you cannot classify him as a generalist. He belongs in a class by himself. Leaving his home in his teens, he became a preacher in Texas, when twenty-one years old he joined a Methodist preaching association and he vividly remembers to start out with a glowing description of that "bud" would be to describe him. He was deeply convicted and when preachers were invited to come forward for prayer, the young preacher fell on his knees at the altar, though he had a pistol in one pocket and a whiskey bottle in the other. He was happily converted and in a short while became a head Methodist preacher.

Despite his lack of schooling he did much good in a local sense. That part of his time, however, was devoted to the cultivation of cotton. After leaving them year in the Southern Methodist church he chanced to hear a sermon on justification, he was so captivated that he experienced and joined the Nazareth church. In a sermon here he gave a unique and attractive description of the manner in which the Lord dealt with him when he was seeking the justification of his sinful nature. When anger or envy or any other "sin" would slip up he would say "I got the mastery of my passions." He told us that he had the greatest part of his life after leaving home in preaching ten years. One day some man mentioned about him "something" he said, "I rose up in his heart and passed up his left arm and pushed the man down." The preacher gave another incident showing that the old Adam in him had not been exterminated. One day he was ploughing in the cotton field, his mule became stubborn was given to kick shells he whipped him and beated him until he was sworn out himself. Finally he went round to the mule's head, pulled it down and grabbled one of its ears between his teeth and now something happened—the mule's head gave a mighty jerk and threw the preacher about ten feet his head was buried in a sand bank and when he rallied and looked over the field the mule was running toward the house with the plough dragging after him. "The old Adam in him still had the mastery."

He held a meeting in a little Nazarene church in a town where there were three other churches, the people talked about him and misrepresented him until finally he challenged the three pastors and their congregations to meet him on the square on a given date and quote Scripture with him verse about. He was ready for the fight at the appointed hour, but as one appeared on the other field except an old negro man. He sang a song they knelt in the street and "bud" made a fervent prayer, the negro got happy and when they rose from their knees the old negro led at the preacher and said "Now, we had a good meeting." He claims that he can quote six thousand Scripture verses. In the evening he held a prayer which he quoted all of his preacher from memory in a series of readings from the Bible. I think that is the greatest movement. His exposition of Scripture is often unique and inspired. I think anything you ever heard.
It is marvelous how God can make an uneducated cow boy a mighty agent in spreading Scriptural hitherto in the land and in helping to establish the kingdom of our Lord in the commonwealth of mankind. Jesus Christ did not go to the city of Jerusalem for His apostles, but to the lowly and obscure fishermen of Galilee.

In both of the sermons I heard Brother Robinson paid high tribute to the memory of W. J. Bryan—he was a great admirer of the Communer. The writer had a personal interview with the evangelist. His physique is pleasing and commanding; he has a good voice and is a persuasive, impressive speaker. He has a passion for souls and will have many stars in his crown. He is thoroughly Wesleyan in his theology. I found him kind hearted, social, genial and companionable. I like the man. You will find him always on the right side of every religious and moral issue.

MRS. JAS. ANDERSON A VISITOR

Mrs. Jas. P. Anderson of Waco, Texas arrived Wednesday to spend the remainder of August in Waynesville. Mrs. Anderson was formerly Miss Lela Allison, daughter of the late Capt. Julius F. and Fannie Fau-cette Allison, who will be remembered best by the older residents, as pioneer educators in Western North Carolina. Both highly educated, Capt. Allison was a graduate of Bingham's School and the State University and Mrs. Allison a graduate of music and language at one of the leading female seminaries at that time. She gave up social advantages and a life of comparative ease, in Eastern North Carolina to come to the mountains to teach—when teaching—especially college bred teachers—were few and far between. The home near Junglaska where the Allisons lived has sheltered many distinguished visitors from this and other states, who, passing through the "Land of the Sky," always sought this congenial haven and were overwhelmed for the latch key hung on the outside. Tom Allison, eldest son of Captain and Mrs. Allison, was one of Waynesville's most popular and well loved young men. His tragic death, together with that of his best friend, James Shelton, brother of our townsman, W. T. Shelton, in a railroad accident several years ago, will be recalled by many. He sleeps by the side of his father and mother in Green Hill cemetery.

MISS THOMAS HONORED

Miss Josephine Thomas, a matchless party Saturday afternoon given by Mrs. Frances Robeson, assisted by Mrs. E. J. Robeson, Jr., at her home, "Shadow Lawn." Garden flowers decorated the hall and living room where the guests were assembled. Miss Thomas was the recipient of dainty sachets which her friends made during the afternoon. The sachets were fastened to a lovely, hand-made satin rose and preserved by Mrs. Robeson. The guests showed their skill in making thimbles and wishes that would fit the future husband's name and placed them in attractive little holders with pictures appropriate for the occasion.

Musical selections were given by Mrs. Lewis H. Johnson of Atlanta and Miss Crawford.

Miss Thomas wore a striking excellence of cream lace over yellow satin and a broad hat of the same delicate color. As honor guest, she was given an exquisite piece of lingerie.
At the close of the afternoon a salad course was served.
Those present were: Miss Josephine Thomas, Mrs. James R. Thomas, Misses Mary New, Sara and Dorothy Thomas, Daisy and Bess Boyd, Fannie Campbell, Maud Fields, Mildred Crawford, Mesdames Harry Rotha, Lewis Johnson, D. Drayton Perry of Chester, S. C., Cleveland Kirkpatrick, Fauette Swift, Burwell of Henderson, R. Arnold of Bristol, R. Osborne of Palm Beach, L. Allison of Franklin, Alexander of Little Rock, Ark., Grady Boyd, Roy Martin, Charles Burgin.

DANCE AT THE GORDON.

Mr. Band,
Carolina Mountaineer,
Waynesville, N. C.
Dear Mr. Band:
On Friday of this week, as you know, there is to be at the new school of education entitled "A Little Bit of Broadway." This is to raise a fund for the building of a club house for the Woman's Club. The ladies have asked me to co-operate in this matter, so I have agreed to postpaid my dance until 12 o'clock and run serve until 12 o'clock. We usually ran these dances from 9 until 11. I would greatly appreciate a little notice concerning this matter in some good position in your paper.
Very truly yours,
FAYLO DUNHAM.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edgerton of Goldsboro, Mrs. Annie Williams of Guilford College and Mrs. O. G.
Curley and children of Greenville, N. C. have returned to their homes after a visit with Mrs. R. O. Edgerton.

MRS. LONG GIVES RECEPTION.

Friday afternoon Mrs. James M.
Long was hostess at a lovely reception given at her home in Hazelwood honoring Mrs. Lynden McKee of Sylva, Mrs. Charles Weaver of Asheville and Mrs. Lowry Allison of Franklin.
The rooms were charming with a wealth of late summer flowers, orange zinnias and marigolds predominating.
Mrs. Harry Rotha and Mrs. Fau-cette Swift welcomed the guests on the porch. Mrs. George Ward and Mrs. J. W. Seaver in the hall and Mrs. R. L. Prevost presented them to the receiving line, which included Mrs. Long and her honor guests. During the second hour Mrs. Kenneth Montgomery and Mrs. Jack Way received at the door.

At the doors leading into the dining room Mrs. Ernest Hyatt received.
Here the table was charmingly arranged with marigolds as a centerpiece, on the sides of which were orange candles in crystal holders.
Mrs. Rufus H. Blackwell and Mrs.
Juanita Weaver presided at the table.
Orange and white brick cream, individual cakes iced in white and ornamented with yellow rose buds, almonds and mints were served by them, assisted by Misses Isabelle Davis, Elizabeth Quinlan, Frances Denton and Mrs. Hugh Massie. Punch was served on the veranda by Mrs.
Edward J. Robeson, Jr., Mrs. Hillinal Atkins and Miss Frances Robeson.

Receiving hours were from four to six and during that time more a hundred guests called.

NOTES FOR READERS OUT OF THE WAY.

The Man I Helped Made Good

My pastoral charge was in Tennessee. One bright summer morning a man who had about reached the summit level of life, called at the parsonage—a thing he had never done before. He was not a member of my church and we had only a speaking acquaintance. He had a farm about two miles from town, he was industrious, hard-working man, but having a large family to support, it required a strenuous to make the tongue and the buckle to meet. He said had come to town to buy some sugar and coffee, but the merchant would not credit him, whereupon he asked if I would endorse for him.
A still small voice in my inside heart told me to help the poor man and without a moment's hesitation I gave him an order to one of the merchants.
He bought goods all summer on my credit. He assured me he could not repay the amount of money which he had borrowed. He told me lies. One day he borrowed a fifty pound sack of flour. His store account kept growing, but I did not worry—he bought only what the family needed.
The summer passed and autumn came. One day my man called and paid every dollar he owed like a Christian and a gentleman. The writer has had dealings with borrowers of a different type. The type that is said to be close akin to cowardly stealing.

MEDFORD REUNION.

The annual reunion of the Medford generation will be held at the Medford Farm in Clyde Township on the last Saturday in August. A program is being arranged for the day.
Hon. Felix E. Alley of Waynesville will speak at 11 a. m. and other speakers will follow in the afternoon.
Dr. S. R. Medford, Hon. T. C. Davis and Hon. S. M. Robinson will have charge of Medford jokes and reminiscences.
There will be plenty of music and entertainment for all.
All Medfords and their relations are urged to bring dinner and come early.
W. SPURGEON BYERS,
President.

BRIDGE PARTY RECENTLY FOR BRIDE ELECT.

Mrs. M. H. Reeves gave a very pretty bridge party honoring Misses Isabella McDowell and Josephine Thomas. The home was decorated with quantities of gladioli and nasturtiums. At the close of the game Mrs. Charles Thomas held top score and was given a deck of cards. She very graciously asked the honorees to cut for the prize and Miss Mc-Dowell cut high. The honor guests were given bottles of violet bath salts. Delicious cantaloupe a-la-mode with cake and candies was served.
Those present were Misses Isabella and Josephine Thomas and Sara Thomas, Mesdames Charles Thomas, Robert Osborne, Roy Francis, Ben Sleeper, J. R. Thomas.

Miss Barbara Staten of New York and Wilmington who is the guest of the Gordon Hotel will appear in "A Little Bit of Broadway" being heard in several vocal selections. Miss Staten has studied with the best teachers in New York and Boston. George Hamlin, Yeatman Griffith, and was associated in teaching at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. this summer with Miss Dicie Howell of New York City.

Among the novel features to be seen in "A Little Bit of Broadway" will be the Heart Bandit Chorus with following pretty and popular young girls appearing in it: Misses Elizabeth Quinlan, Caroline Ashton, Eleonor Bushnell, Frances Denton, Fanny Hall and Annie Perry Neal, the latter two being attractive visitors in the city. The costumes to be worn by this particular chorus will be most unique in design.

The beautiful Balloon Ballet Dance is to be a special dance feature in "A Little Bit of Broadway" Friday night will be danced by the following graceful young dance artists: Misses Frances Ray, Josephine Cabe, Blanche Howard, Martha Mack and Lillian Connally, the last named from Charlotte.

Miss Braxton Kirk is appearing in "A Little Bit of Broadway" in the leading role of Betsy Brown, the sweet and vivacious young Southern girl who goes to New York to see the sights of the great white way.
Miss Kirk is charming and perfectly at ease in this delightful role. Appearing opposite her in the leading male role is Joe Quisenberry, as Harry Gordon, a New York Millionaire. Mr. Quisenberry gives an excellent portrayal of the dashing young New Yorker. Both these young people are local favorites and always delight a Waynesville audience.

Mrs. Loraine Newton Neal, Miss Alic Semmes and Mr. Dunham motored over from Memphis and are guests of Mrs. Maude Semmes Gilmer at Chestnut Park Lodge.

Robert H. Smith of Mobile, made a brief visit last week to his mother, Mrs. Alice Smith who is the guest of Mrs. Sadie Ray.

Prof. R. O. Edgerton made a business trip to Chapel Hill during the week.

Miss Minnie Platt of Kenned, Alabama is visiting relatives here and at Platt.

Rev. and Mrs. S. R. Crockett, Miss Nancy and Howe Taylor Crockett, accompanied by Mrs. Ramsey and Miss Martha Lon Parish, who have been their guests since the early part of the month, left by motor Tuesday morning for New Providence church, in Hawkins county, Tennessee, a former pastorate. Their guests are returning to their homes in Madisonville, Ky. Mr. Crockett will return in time to fill his pulpit Sunday morning.

The McCrackens who have been spending several weeks with their parents here have returned to their respective home; Roy McCracken to Orlando, Mrs. Isenhour to Charlotte, Mrs. Dungan to Elizabethton and Norton Persons to Chapel Hill.

Mr. Marshall Feinster of Newton will arrive Friday to take part in "A Little Bit of Broadway." Mr.
Feinster possesses a rich baritone voice and will be heard in several solos one of these being Marcheta.

The social even of the week will be the presentation of "A Little Bit of Broadway" under the auspices of the Waynesville Woman's Club, which will be followed by a brilliant masquerade ball at the Gordon Hotel.
All the participants will attend in their costumes worn in the play.
This is expected to be attended by all the young people and visitors in the city. Chaperones will be appointed by the Gordon Hotel management.

Follow the crowds to the beautiful High School Auditorium Friday night and see the presentation of the clever musical comedy "A Little Bit of Broadway." Bus line will be operated between 7:45 and 8:30, starting at the Gordon Hotel, stopping at Alexander's Drug Store and the Hotel Waynesville for the accommodation of those who wish to attend the play.

Allen Taylor and George White of Louisville are in Waynesville until the first of September.

Chief Pharmacists' Mate Mack Albright, who is stationed at Portia-mouth, is here with Mrs. Albright for a two weeks' visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F.
Albright. Other guests in the Albright household are Mr. E. J. West of Greensboro and his father, Mr.
J. J. West of Salisbury, who will be here about ten days.

BORN, A DAUGHTER.
