KINDERGARTEN PLAY.

The open air play recently given by the kindergarten children on the lawn of Grace church Parish House was well attended and pronounced by all a very beautiful presentation of the grace and charm of little children in flower costumes and rhythmic dancer.

The special feature of the performance was the Flower Ballet composed and directed by Elizabeth Mallian of Memphis, Tenn., a former member of the kindergarten class, who though only twelve years of age, already shows poetic and dramatic talent—Little Mary Phillips' exquisite Rose Dance delighted the audience, and the clown impersonated by Elizabeth Mahan made friends of all. The proceeds, thirty dollars and a half net, was used to purchase an oil stove for the Parish House kitchen and for lights for the chancel of the church.

T. F. GLENN CORRECTS ERROR.

Dr. Frank Siler, Junaluska, N. C. Dear Dr. Siler: I have just read your beautiful tribute to Sister Reeves in the Mountaineer. I have written very little about myself in the public prints, but I am tempted to give you a brief biographical chapter. A man might just as well blow his own horn now and then. I had charge of Cleveland station in 1892 when I was requested to become chaplain of a cavalry regiment which finally became a part of Gen. Wheeler's command. I married during the war and brought my young wife to the French Broad valley and she was boarding near Asheville when Gen. Lee surrendered. That fall (65) Holston Conference assigned me to the Waynesville circuit, my diocese embraced almost the entire county and there was no parsonage. We lived during the three years of my pastorate in the neighborhood of Richland Institute, it was a two story building at that time. I taught school in connection with my pastoral work. I did the work of two men. I was by a young man who was a student, a so my wife had charge of the primary department. We had students from a number of counties, young men and women. I think all of Mr. Green Garret's daughters and one son, William, were in the school. It was the best school in Haywood county—perhaps the best in the state west of Asheville. In the meantime I did not allow my pastoral work to suffer. I was my own evangelist. We had great revivals, many of them were attended with Pentecostal power. At the close of my third year here I was transferred to Franklin, where I remained four years. And we never lived among better people. And now I come to the gist of the matter—that which inspired the writing of this letter. You say the great revival at the Institute was conducted by Mr. Spake, presiding elder, Mr. Cooper and the M. E. preacher. That revival occurred in the third year of my administration and I did the preaching. Dr. Frank Richardson was P. E., but was not present. Nearly all the students were converted and nearly all the country round about. Before the meeting of the conference in the fall I turned the school over to Louis Smith, an ex-Confederate soldier. And here this long drawn out epistle must end. You will please straighten out the history in the Mountaineer.

God bless you, T. F. GLENN. 28 Westwood Place, W. Asheville, N. S., August 11, 1925. EDSEL FORD'S STATEMENT EXPLAINS CHANGE IN CAR. Manufacturer Wants Public to Understand That New Cars Are Not Being Made. Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, in a statement issued yesterday following the announcement of improved Ford bodies and chassis refinements, said: "We do not want the impression to prevail that we are producing new Ford cars. Bodies for Ford cars have been materially improved, but the Model T chassis remains unchanged except for a lowering of the frame and a few other important changes. Bodies, in four types, have been completely redesigned and built lower to contribute to better appearance, driving and riding comfort and roadability of the cars. "Body improvements and chassis refinements at this time are more pronounced than at any previous time since the adoption of the model T chassis. They are, however, entirely in accordance with the policy of the Ford Motor company to give the public the benefit of every improvement which we find practical for Ford cars. "By preserving the design of the model T chassis, the company is safeguarding continued good service for owners of approximately 9,000,000 Ford cars and trucks now in use throughout the country as well as for new purchasers."—Adv.
