CAMP ACTIVITIES AT JUNALUSKA

The banquet, the climax of the season, was held Tuesday night in the camp dining room which was prettily decorated for the occasion with the wild flowers found on the camp hill top. The place cards were girls in camp costume with ties and socks the colors of the various tribes. Gold bar pins are presented every year at the banquet to the three girls whom the counselors consider the "honor girls." This year they were Miss Margaret Payne, St. Petersburg, senior; Miss Mabel Mabry, Tampa, intermediate and Miss Helen Bashinski, Dublin, Ga., junior. Miss Julia E. Reeder, Fort Monroe, Va., was the toastmistress and the girls giving toasts were:

Wild Violets (the Juniors)—Naomi Good, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sunflowers (camp activities)—Ruth Perkins, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Morning-glories (field meet and water sports)—Caroline Cunningham, Norfolk, Va.

Trumpet-vine (the bugle)—Doris Latimer, St. Petersburg.

Thistles (the troubles)—Eloise Blasingame, Ashland, Va.

Queen Anne's Lace (the stunts and parties)—Ruth Miller, Atlanta, Ga.

Rhododendron (the counselors)—Mary Whittington, Greenwood, Miss.

Moon-vine (friendships)—Helen Dodd, Hugo, Oklahoma.

Wild Roses (vespers and morning chapel)—Willie White Smith, Thompson, Ga.

Primrose (a toast to the camp director)—Fannie Pickens Tartt, Livingston, Ala.

Laurel (the awards)—Miss McCoy the Director.

During the Summer, the four tribes vie with each other on Field Day, in water sports, in archery, tennis and the other sports to win the greatest number of honors and at the banquet the silver loving cup is presented to the tribe having the greatest number of points and showing the best camp spirit. This year the Cherokee tribe was the fortunate one and they will have their name engraved on it as the winners in 1925. Miss Ruth Zize, Tampa; Miss Harriett Bize, St. Petersburg; Miss Clara Dorchester, Tampa; Miss Doris Latimer, St. Petersburg; Miss Marie Johnson, Miami; Miss Avis Roe, Carroll Gables; Miss Nell Carroll, Monticello; Miss Margaret Jewett, Lakeland; Misses Ruth Brown, Jacqueline Prewitt, Ollie Autrey and Thersa Robinson, all of Orlando, were the Florida girls belonging to the Cherokee tribe.

The Seminoles won first place and the Cheokee, second in the water sports on Monday. Florida girls winning places were: Miss Lois Wingate, Ft. Myers, third place in junior 25 yard dash and third in the junior swimming for form; also first in the junior contest to see who could hold the head under the longest time; Miss Mary Bullard, St. Petersburg, first in the senior swimming for form; first in the senior plunge for distance, third in gunwhaling and a member of the Nacoochee team winning second place in the flag relay. Miss Hester Kirkland, Tampa, first junior 25 yard dash; Miss Carroll Grathan, Tampa, second in diving; Miss Maude Dew, St. Petersburg, first in senior 50 yard dash; second in senior plunge for distance and a member of the Seminole team winning first place in the flag relay; Miss Ruth Bize, Tampa, second gunwhaling and first in the handicap canoe race; Miss Mary Watson, Lakeland, first in diving; Miss Margaret Payne, St. Petersburg, second in senior 50 yard dash and one of the two Tuscolas winning first in the canoe race; Miss Shirley Johnson, Miami, second in the tub race.

Miss Ethel J. McCoy, the camp director, returned Sunday morning from a six weeks trip to Europe with the Junaluska Travel Camp, composed of older girls who had attended camp in other seasons. Miss Aurelia Adams of Tampa, Miss Louise Wilson of Tampa, Mrs. Donald Beach and Bettian Beach of St. Petersburg, Miss Doris Dew and Miss Sara Hendry of St. Petersburg were the Florida members of the Travel Camp, visiting England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Miss Hulda Kremer of Tampa, one of the counselors at Camp Junaluska, gave an hour of violin music following the evening vesper service led by Miss McCoy. She was assisted by Miss Aurelia Adams, violinist, and Miss Ora Mitchell, accompanist, both of Tampa. Later in the evening, the girls gathered around the fire in the big clubhouse fireplace and had an informal "sing" until taps was blown.

The stunt Monday night was in charge of the Seminole tribe, who gave a treasure hunt. The treasure, a miniature chest, containing 100 pennies, was found by Miss Helen Dudley of Lake Worth.
