The cause of the explosion is not known.

Historic Names and Occupations.

M. Emile Faguet of the French Academy has been studying directories to see what are the occupations now followed by the bearers of the most notable historic French names. The terrible name of Robespierre, he finds, is borne by a peaceful firm o brickmakers. The Racine whom h has discovered is a furrier. At Paris there is a tailor named Moliere. dyer named Musset, a dentist name? Hugo. At Lyons he has lighted upon a Voltaire who is a bookbinder, a Barras who is a butcher, a Coligny who keeps a cafe, a Marat who is a draper, and a Richelieu who is a news agent; while at Nancy an Alphonse Karr keeps a baker's shop. The saddest case of all, however, is that of a Mozart, the last surviving member of the musician's family. Suicide Attempted.

Durham, Special.—Benjamin H Crider, a young white man made a desparate attempt to commit suicide After making a trip to a number of drug stores at night purchasing a one ounce bottle of laudanum, from five of them and one box of morphine he crawled under a house in the western part of the city near his boarding place. At an early hour in the morning when found he had drained three of them and taken the box of morphine tablets. He left a note addressed to his brother, Rev. Crider of Kentucky, saying: "I had no cause for the act except that there is nothing for me to live for." The note and his pocketbook were found on the door knob of his boarding house. After pumping much of the drug from his stomach there is some chance for his recovery.

"A House Exhibit."

Raleigh, Special.—The State board of agriculture at the urgent request of Governor Glenn who sent a speial communication on the subject, made a special appropriation of $5,000 for the equipment of a "house exhibit" of North Carolina products to be constructed and equipped on cars so as to be sent on the circuit of New England fairs especially next fall for the attraction of immigration and capital to this State. The proposition received a bare majority vote of the board membership, several including Chairman Patterson, believing that the investment would not yield returns in proportion to the cost.

Board Completes Work.

Raleigh, Special.—The State Board of Agriculture completed its work and adjourned. Later they voted to renew the special appropriation of $750 for special agricultural premiums on farm products at the State Fair October 15 to 20, to be awarded on 14 field crops on the same condition as last year. The Board adopted food standards for the United States Government for North Carolina in operation with the State Pure Food Law.

'FRISCO DOG MADE GOOD.

Swam Bay After Ferryboat That Carried Beloved Little Mistress.

After being fed and warmly clothed here, five refugees from San Francisco were placed on a train and sent on to their former home in a little town on Long Island, writes the Chicago correspondent of the New York

Along with the poor little party, which consisted of Mrs. Amelia Berg and children and a son-in-law, was a nondescript dog, looking the reverse of his name, which was Sport. But it was noticed that the police of Harrison street did not neglect the dog in handing out good things to eat, and a big bluecoat tenderly carried Sport in his arms to the train.

The story of Sport is a trifling one, but interesting, maybe. When the Berg home, at No. 27 Minna street, went by quake and fire with all goods it contained, the family fled to the ferry, followed by the dog. But poor Sport was promptly kicked off the boat and howled dismally from the pier as the craft pulled out, leaving him to his fate.

Knowing the dog would die anyway, Anna Berf gave a shrill whistle, and hearing the dear, familiar sound, brave Sport sprang into the water. It's two and one-half miles to Oakland, but arrived there Anna obstfnately sat on the pierhead and watched not the great conflagration but the tossing waters of the bayfor she knew Sport would make good if he could.

First a tiny spot in the waves, then a round head and then a pair of shiny eyes fixed on Anna, and a boathook did the rest. Sport had made good.

DITSON MADE AN IMPRESSION. Irishman Admitted Explanation as He

Understood It. Years ago members of my family

aughed over this incident as related by an eye-witness, says a writer in the Boston Herald:

On approaching his store one morning, Oliver Ditson, the music publisher, saw a crowd gathering just outside his door, where a very much intoxicated Irishman was trying in vain to step up from the street. Mr. Ditson, seeing the inability of the man to gain the sidewalk, took him by the arm and assisted him up. The intoxicated man was effusive in his thanks, and insisted upon knowing to whom he was indebted for so much

In vain Mr. Ditson tried to disengage his arm, and at last he said: Well, I am Mr. Ditson."

"Is that so?" said the other. "I never heard of him. Whose son did you say you were?"

A shout from the bystanders evidently nettled Mr. Ditson, and he said, very decidedly and impressively: "I am Oliver Ditson."

The manner was not lost upon the Irishman, who cast an admiring eye upon Mr. Ditson's immaculate apparel, and said, in the most humble and conciliatory tone: "So you are, so you are, while I am nothing but all-

BUILDING FOOD To Bring the Babies Around.

When a little human machine (or a large one) goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food to bring it around again.

"My little baby boy fifteen months old had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over these than he began to cut teeth and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convulsions," says a Colorado mother.

"I decided a change might help, so took him to Kansas City for a visit. When we got there he was so very weak when he would cry he would sink away and seemed like he would

"When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts and, although I had never used the food, we got some and for a few days gave him just the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him the Grape-Nuts itself and in a wonderfully short time he fattened right up and became strong and well.

"That showed me something worth knowing and, when later on my girl came, I raised her on Grape-Nuts. and she is a strong, healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photograph I send you what a strong. chubby youngster the boy I: now, but he didn't look anything like that before we found this nourishing food.
