O. T. Baynard and family of Mill Spring have moved to Landrum for the purpose of securing school advantages. It has been reported that J. R. Foster and family would move to Spartanburg for the same purpose but he has not fully decided upon the change.

The death of Francis S. Coxe last Thursday morning in Philadelphia removes another member of this large and prominent family so well-known to many of our people. The interment took place at Rutherfordton where the remains of the late Col. Franklin Coxe, his father, are interred.

The friends of Dr. and Mrs. Worth will be pained to learn of the death, recently in New Smyrna, Fla., of her sister Mrs. Henrietta L. Hawley. Mrs. Hawley had visited Columbus and was acquainted with a number of people here who will sympathize with Mrs. Worth in her bereavement.

R. M. Connell of Henderson county, agent of the Federal Department in the eradication of the cattle tick fever was here Saturday. He stated that the number of infected farms in the county had been materially reduced since his last visit and that the county would soon be released from quarantine, and a farm quarantine, only, be maintained against those farms yet infected. Two barrels of crude petroleum for free distribution to farmers for greasing cattle to rid them of ticks have been placed at their disposal, one at J. T. Green's, Mill Spring and one at J. B. Livingston's stables, Tryon.
