Keep Windshields Clear
For Safety
Snow, ice and fog are serious traffic hazards.

"Driving is at least 90 per cent vision," states the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, in urging motorists to keep wind-shields clear.

Modern automobiles give good visibility in all directions, but the glass must be clear to be of use.
The ACSC advises:

Keeping your windshield clear after you are under way in snow, fog or rain requires a windshield with good blades and proper blades pressure and an effective heating and defrosting system.

Two County Youths Nominated For Morehead Scholarships

One hundred-eighty one North Carolina high school male seniors, including two boys from Duplin County, have been selected for consideration for 1963 four-year all-expense-paid Morehead Scholarships to the University of North Carolina by Morehead Scholarship County Scholarship Committees this fall. County nominees are Donald

Ray Bryant, Faison, and Jerry Edmond Simpson, Beulaville.

These boys will now be interviewed by Morehead Scholarship District Committees beginning in January.

The 181 youths were selected from 833 boys who were nominated this fall by high school nominating committees. The 833 students were then interviewed by Morehead Scholarship County Committees throughout the state. Each North Carolina County is entitled to have at least one nominee considered for a Morehead Scholarship by the Morehead Scholarship District Committees.

Honey and Salt

Carl Sandburg's New Book of Poems To Appear On His 85th Birthday

Carl Sandburg will mark his 85th birthday on Sunday, January 6, with the publication of a new book, HONEY AND SALT - 77 new poems celebrating, with his customary vigor and affirmation, the themes he has become famous for during a half century of creativity. Both Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois and Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina have declared January 6, 1963 as Carl Sandburg Day.

HONEY AND SALT will be the 35th book that Harcourt, Brace & World has published by Carl Sandburg since he first appeared on their list THE CHICAGO RACE RIOTS, in 1919, the year the company was founded.

Since then, Mr. Sandburg has twice won the Pulitzer Prize - in 1940 for History with the publication of ABRAHAM LINCOLN: THE WAR YEARS and in 1961 for Poetry with the publication of his COM-PLETE POEMS.

The publication of HONEY AND SALT will be observed with a birthday tribute in New York to Mr.
Sandburg by notables in the arts.

Mr. Sandburg has won extraordinary recognition for his contribution as a biographer, journalist, historian, poet, novelist, and musician.
The home of his Swedish immigrant parents in Galesburg, Illinois, where he was born, was dedicated as a literary shrine in 1946. A dozen elementary, junior and senior high schools across the country bear his name. Among the colleges and universities here and abroad that have bestowed honorary degrees upon him are Harvard, Yale, New York University, Dartmouth, and his alma mater, Lombard College. In 19-52 the American Academy of Arts and Letters awarded him their Gold Medal for History and Biography. The Poetry Society of America awarded him its gold medal for distinguished achievement in 1953.

In 1956 the University of Illinois acquired his manuscripts, books, and papers, and plans to build a special room at the university to hold the collection.

Mr. Sandburg, who has been married for 54 years to the former Lillian Paula Steichen, sister of photographer Edward Steichen, now lives in Flat Rock, North Carolina.
He is the father of three daughters, Telga, Margaret, and Janet, and has two grandchildren.
