

Scouts Are 100%

WELLSVILLE, N. C. (Special) — All twelve councils of the Boy Scouts in North Carolina are 100 percent in distribution of 90,000 Cub Scout kits on "Break Through for Youth" to all Scout den mothers, packers and commissioners.

Motor carriers will host Cub Scout Packs to tour their terminal facilities and to see demonstrations of various types of trucks, trailers and material handling equipment. After consultation with Scout officials, the ATA PR Dept. and the North Carolina Motor Carriers Assn. are making the following materials available: an Economic Unit outline which explains basic concepts of the American economic system using the trucking industry as an example; a large full color wall chart detailing the history of land transportation; and a booklet on how the trucking industry began and how trucks serve the economy. These are available from NCMCA on the basis of one kit per cub pack. A small pamphlet defining some of the special and often amusing terms used in the industry entitled "Truck Drivers Dictionary" is being made available in quantity so that Den Mothers can provide one to each of the 90,000 Cub Scouts in our state.

1966 chairman of the Boy Scouts' "Break Through for Youth." Over 10,000 of the kits will be used by the state's 90,000 Cub Scouts for their January program theme of "Transportation."

LARYNGOTRACHEITIS FOUND IN THIS AREA

Laryngotracheitis in poultry has been diagnosed in this area. It is not a new disease; however, it has been prevalent in other states. We do not know at this highly infectious disease to spread to other parts of the state. It can be controlled and eradicated by rigid operation of all segments of the poultry industry. Infectious Laryngotracheitis is an acute respiratory disease of chickens and pheasants. The causative agent is a virus. The symptoms of the disease occur from five to twelve days following exposure. The signs of the disease vary with the age of the birds and the severity of the disease. The symptoms may begin with watery eyes, coughing, sneezing, rattling, and extension of neck with each inspiration.

Birds may cough up chunks of material that may be bloody. The death losses vary and may be as high as 50%. It is very important that a poultry diagnostic laboratory diagnose the disease, because this disease can be confused with other respiratory diseases.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

1. This disease is not widespread in this state but it is in adjoining states.
2. Report suspected flocks to the nearest poultry diagnostic laboratory.
3. Birds that have survived a natural outbreak or birds that have been improperly vaccinated may carry the virus for life.
4. The virus can be transported on any moving object.
5. The virus is not known

30th Division Survivors To Convene

Chapter President E. L. Hollowell of Edenton, Vice President Frank Swan of Andrews, a World War I veteran, and Robert Sloan of Fontana Dam, a World War II veteran, are in charge of arrangements for the reunion. The Great Smoky Mountains resort is centrally located for the reunion. It is situated 9 miles from the Tennessee border, and less than 200 miles from Atlanta, Georgia and Fontana Dam, N. C. - 30th Division veterans of Georgia, Tennessee, and the Carolinas will hold a reunion at Fontana Village Resort, Fontana Dam, N. C., May 20-22, 1966.

Host for this regional conclave will be the Tar Heel Chapter, 30th Division Association. A special effort to bring together World War I survivors of the famous Old Hickory Division has been announced by Greenville, South Carolina. The 30th Division of both Wars was made up primarily of national guardsmen of the Carolinas, Tennessee, and Georgia.

World War I survivors have not had a national reunion since the 1930s, and many are unaware of the existence of the 30th Division Association. Veterans and their families desiring additional information about the reunion are requested to write to Robert Sloan, Reunion Chairman, Fontana Dam, N. C.

Duplin Student Attends N. C. Advancement School

Henry Clay Westbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Westbrook of Albertson, is attending the N. C. Advancement School in Winston-Salem.

Henry Clay is believed to be the first Duplin County student to attend this school. He enrolled there January 5, 1966 and will be there for ten weeks. Following the completion of THE NCAS he will return to his classes at E. F. Grady School.

Henry Clay's first class begins at 8 o'clock a.m. which is math. His next class is history. On Tuesdays of each week he has two periods in Science. Henry Clay states that they are now studying Electrons, Neutrons and Protons of Atoms in his science class. These classes are being taught with the assistance of overhead projectors, and will soon be using closed T.V. for teaching. On Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week, Henry Clay has a class in English arts which is now dealing with communications. He is currently serving as a reporter on the school's bi-weekly newspaper, "The Owl Street Journal."

The afternoon is devoted to study hall and recreation. Among the recreation is an obstacle course, soccer, basketball, hiking, camping, and many other interesting games and sports.

Since Henry Clay has been at the N. C. Advancement School he has had the advantage of visiting many interesting places and events. Among these are the Wake Forest - Georgia Tech Basketball game and the Centennial Celebration of Winston-Salem. On Thursday night January 13th he attended "Film Friends" which consists of three short movies and a feature comedy. Henry Clay feels that this would be a very interesting and informative series of films to bring to Duplin County for both the children and adults.

Henry Clay is very excited about the N. C. Advancement School and is having a good time as well as being able to have the advantage of the special training that the children there receive. He hopes that many more Duplin County students will take advantage of this special training.

Jaycee Week

President Cabell Ramsey of the North Carolina Jaycees has announced that January 16-22, 1966 is "Jaycee Week" and has asked communities in North Carolina to cooperate in the observance.

He said that the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing and to emphasize that the state Jaycees have done an outstanding job in the fields of youth activities, community development, public affairs, Americanism, and community health and safety.

During Jaycee Week observance, each Jaycee chapter will be recognizing the "Young Man of 1966" in their respective community. The United States Jaycees will be recognizing A-
