Future Homemakers Of America Observe National FHA Week

District II Future Homemakers of America will be even busier than usual from March 27 to April 2. That is the week 600,000 teenage members of this organization hold National FHA Week.

The FHA chapters in District II have scheduled a number of activities for the week, according to Mrs. Marion P. Elkin.

Fertilization Questions Answered In Publication

Whether you are a home gardener or a commercial farmer, one subject that raises a host of questions each year is the use of fertilizer--what kind, how much, where and when to apply it.

Again, whether you are a backyard gardener or a large farm operator, the best source of answers to these questions is a soil analysis.

But if you didn't get around to taking a soil sample this year, the next best source of answers to questions on fertilizer is a publication of the Agricultural Extension Service at North Carolina State University.

The publication, "1966 North Carolina Fertilizer Suggestions," contains information on fertilizing most any kind of

For 1966 Feed Grain Program Nears Deadline

Growers are reminded that April 1 is the last day for filing applications to take part in the 1966 feed grain program.

Only growers who participate in the program will be eligible for price support on their 1966 crops of corn, barley, and grain sorghums. As last year, the support is made available through loans, purchases, and price-support payments.

Besides qualifying for price-support loans, purchases, and payments, the participating grower also earns a diversion payment for shifting part of his feed grain base to a conserving use; the payment does not apply to the first 20 percent diversion except on farms with small bases. The price-support payments may be earned on the projected production from an acreage up to 60 percent of the total feed grain base for the farm by planting one or more of the feed grains corn, grain sorghums, or barley, or by planting soybeans in lieu of a feed grain.

We urge farmers who are interested in taking part in this year's feed grain program to call at the ASCS county office as soon as possible. Through March 11, 52,678 growers in North Carolina had signed up to divert 587,786 acres for payment under the 1966 feed grain program.

Department of Agriculture officials are stressing the continued need for full participation in the 1966 feed grain program. Feed Grain stocks remain more than sufficient.

Feed grain program applications may be filed at the ASCS county office any day Monday through Friday. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Signup deadline is Friday, April 1.

COTTON GROWERS REMIND-ED OF 1966 SIGNUP DEADLINE

Cotton farm operators were reminded of the fast-approaching deadline for signing up to take part in the 1966 upland cotton program. The last day for filing a program application is Friday, April 1.

Program benefits include diversion payments and price support payments in addition to the regular cotton price-support loan. But all program benefits, including the cotton loan, will be available only to farmers who sign up and then carry out the intentions indicated in the application.

Cotton farmers on the larger farms take part in the program by reducing their cotton plantings by a least 12.5 percent below the farm's effective allotment and meeting other program provisions. As much as 35 percent of the allotment may be diverted for payment.

Growers on small farms (with allotments not over 10 acres or with a projected production of injury and to receive the best results from the plant food.

The publication is available at county extension offices or may be obtained from the Department of Agricultural Information, N. C. State University, Raleigh.

Leak May Mean Roof's Worn Out

Once a roof shows definite signs of wear, don't put off replacing it until heavy rains or melting snow seep into the house and cause costly damage to walls, ceilings and furnishings.

Roofs tend to wear out uniformly, so that a repair job is rarely the answer. If there is a leak, the chances are you'll have others soon. Some leaks, in fact, are so hard to find that a damaged ceiling or wall is the first sign.

A new roof of heavyweight asphalt shingles applied over the original roofing will protect against the worst weather and will improve the appearance of the entire house.

Because they are heavier and thicker, these shingles can be expected to give long service. They are warranted, guaranteed or bonded up to 25 years by their manufacturers.
