Transylvania, Buncombe, Henderson, Polk, McDowell, Rutherford, Burke, Caldwell, Wilkes, Alexander, Catawba, Lincoln, Gaston, Iredell, Rowan, Cabarrus, Union, Randolph, Montgomery, Moore, Wake, Nash, W. Ison, Bladen and Perder.

Dr. John Falter, Extension Entomologist, NCSU, has also done some research and has made available some interesting facts concerning the life history and control of the periodical cicada which I am passing on to my readers.
This 1966 brood is the largest in southeastern United States. The egg laying habits of the female often result in serious damage to preferred host plants - apple, oak and hickory. Using her sharp saw-like ovipositor (egg laying apparatus) at the end of her abdomen, the female tears and punctures the twigs to form pockets for her eggs. From five to 20 pockets may be made in a straight line along the twig, each pocket containing about 24 eggs.
The adults emerge almost simultaneously in a given area and their presence may be recognized by the shrill, buzzing sound they make. Emergence should have already begun in eastern Carolina (depending upon weather conditions). Emergence should begin in late May in the mountain counties, depending upon elevation.
The female will begin her egg laying in the twigs of her preferred host plants about a week after emergence.
If you have apple trees, especially young trees, you should be alert to the possibility of severe damage unless control measures are employed.
Sevin is very effective and is widely recommended for locust control. It should be used at a rate of two pounds of 50% wettable powder to 100 gals. of water; and applied just before heavy egg laying occurs. A second application should be made

Reddy Comments
Before you put your electric blanket to "bed" for the summer, remember that all manufacturers agree on this basic rule: washing is the only safe way to keep electric bedding clean. In fact, it should be laundered often, before soil becomes imbedded in the fibers.
When automatic blankets first come out, the idea of washing was not easy to accept, but women gradually lost their timidity about putting anything electrical into the suds, if you are about to launder your first electric blanket, heed these simple rules:
First, disconnect the control in from five to seven days after the first. Sevin is safe and best for home gardeners.

All the milk produced in this country in one year would make a pasteurized puddle that would be something to behold, if somebody dumped it all in one place. The result would be a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and three feet deep.
You ought to tell all your friends about this, because it's really something when you come to think about it.
As your friends back cautiously away from you, hit 'em with another fact. A good follow-up would be that a cow that produces 5,000 quarts of milk a and shake the blanket to remove dust. Second, scrub soiled bindings lightly with a sudsy soft brush and pre-treat any stains that same way. Next, soak the entire blanket in cool suds for about 15 minutes. Then put it into clean suds - as warm as for a baby's bath. Wash and rinse it at the same temperature, using an adequate amount of soap or detergent and plenty of water.

Avoid prolonged machine agitation or tumbling. Instructions usually suggest not more than three minutes of machine action. A short spin cycle will remove most of the water, any remaining moisture can be gently pressed out by hand; never put an electric blanket through a wringer.
For hand-washing, use the bathtub which is large enough to immerse even a double blanket without crowding. Observe the same rules as to water temperature. Instead of rubbing use a plumber's plunger to "suck" the suds through the blanket.
Manufacturers recommend draping an electric blanket over two parallel lines to dry, straightening the edges and corners. And remember this; electric blankets are permanent and must not be given further anti-moth treatment.

Agriculture in Action

By VERNE STRICKLAND N. C. Farm Bureau Federation

Year will consume 43 tons of food and water over the same period.
By this time, the people you've approached will probably have broken into a jog, glancing anxiously back to see if you're in pursuit.
If you are, you should be able to raise your voice just a bit above the normal volume to tell them that a quart of milk provides 82 per cent of protein, 83 per cent of riboflavin, 22 per cent of thiamine, and like that.
At this point, you should all be in a dead run, with you yelling something about a person having to eat 39 eggs, or 28 oranges, or 27 pounds of potatoes, just to receive the same amount of calcium found in one quart of milk. Between gasps, then, be sure to choke out something about the first ice cream cone being made and sold at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904.
Keep at it, making sure you're closing the gap to stay within earshot. You'll want them to know that keeping a daily supply of dairy foods in the nation's stores, restaurants and homes requires the services of more than two million people.
If you all collapse in the same general area, cap things off with few words about the milk bottle being invented in 1884 by Dr. Harvey Thatcher.
June Dairy Month will be the best time to do this, before it gets too hot.
As we said, this ought to take care of your friends. As for your enemies...

SALES REPRESENTATIVE
This career position offers prestige and financial security plus liberal fringe benefits including major medical, hospital and life insurance coverage; excellent retirement program, paid vacation and quarterly bonuses.

Sales clerks, delivery man and salesmen of all types welcome this opportunity. If you are tired of working inside and punching clocks, it will pay you to investigate.
To qualify you must be between ages of 25 to 53, have a car for local calls, present good character references, able to meet the public and have a desire to get ahead.
Men needed for Warsaw.
Reply in own handwriting giving age, education, and experience to Duplin Times, Box 68, Kenansville, N. C.
All replies will be held in strictest confidence.

Good Sanitation Key To House Fly Control

You can swat, spray and mash them, but the houseflies that plague men and animals still survive and multiply.
The aggressive and persistent little pests which are a nuisance principally because of annoying and unpleasant practices, multiply much faster than they can be destroyed.
Dr. John M. Falter, extension entomologist at North Carolina State University, points out that despite advances in the development of insecticides, sanitation continues to be the mainstay to control in the home and on the farm. "It is a useless battle to let flies breed in one place and to kill them in another," the entomologist said.
According to Falter, houseflies feed and breed in moist materials such as manure, garbage and fermenting crop wastes. He suggests starting a cleanup campaign early in order to keep the population from increasing.
Garbage should not accumulate in open spaces, Ga. bage cans should have tight-fitting lids and contents should be emptied on frequent and regular schedules.

Housefly control on the farm is made easier by proper disposal of the manure that accumulates in and around stables, dairy barns, feed lots and poultry houses. For maximum control Falter suggests removing manure daily and scattering it on fields.
For those people who must rely on insecticides to control houseflies, several kinds of ready-to-use sprays may be purchased for use in homes and on farms.
For use outside the home, entomologists at N. C. State University recommend long-lasting surface sprays for fly control. Surface sprays leave residues which should be effective in killing flies for about a month.
This type of insecticide can be sprayed on favorite feeding and resting sites such as garbage cans, porches and selected

Commencement At Carter College

GLDSBORO - Two nationally known clergymen will be the speakers at the joint commencement events of the William Carter College and the Evangelical Theological Seminary to be held in the Edgewood Church, Goldsboro, Sunday, May 29.
Delivering the commencement address at 8:00 p.m. will be Dr. Morris L. Husted, Methodist clergyman of Durham. Prior to becoming a pastor of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church, he served as a chaplain of the armed services for several years, and he was also an outstanding pastor of the New York Methodist Conference. Dr. Husted is in constant demand as a speaker at colleges and universities, as well as an after dinner speaker.
Delivering the baccalaureate sermon at 11:00 o'clock will be the Reverend Herbert F. Carter, of Dunn, General Superintendent of the Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church, and Editor-in-Chief of the Free Will Baptist Messenger. Rev. Mr. Carter is a 1955 graduate of the William Carter College, where he was awarded a Bachelor of Religious Education degree. He is now a member of the Controlling Board of Trustees of Carter College.

Following Dr. Husted's address on Sunday evening, Dr. William Howard Carter, president of the College and Seminary, will present diplomas. He will also award a special citation to J.E. Williams, city manager of Raeford, as "The Trustee of the Year" of Carter College. A citation will be presented to the Reverend Arby H. Carter as "The Regent of the Year" of the Seminary. Carter College's "Alumnus of the Year" award will be presented to Reverend Edward Tatum, minister of the Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church, Selma.
Following the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, a picnic lunch will be served on the Carter College campus at 1:00 o'clock.
