Corporation Estimated Tax

GREENSBORO, N. C. - Calendar-year corporations in the case, especially on neglected vines trained on overhead arbor. See your county Extension agent and ask him for our new bulletin "Muscadine Grapes," or write me and I will have one sent to you.

Bunch grapes may also be pruned now in the Piedmont and Coastal Plain. I would wait until severe freezes have passed in the mountains. A new folder is also available on "Bunch Grapes."

Pull up and burn all old tomato and other plants in the vegetable garden. This will help control certain insects and diseases which may be carried over to give you trouble in the spring. Plow the garden and leave it rough during the winter. Freezing and thawing will break up the soil particles and make it much easier to prepare a good seed bed in the spring.

Before you plow, have your soil tested and add phosphate and lime as needed. Broadcast these materials over the garden area and turn under. This is important because neither of these nutrients moves readily in the soil. By turning under, they are placed in the root zone where they may be readily absorbed by the growing plants.

Prune those apple and peach trees you have been neglecting and give them a thorough dormant spraying. For this I like lime sulphur, 12 gallons to 100 gallons water. This spray gives a combined insecticide and fungicide and is still one of the best winter clean-up sprays. It is smelly but will do a good job if thoroughly applied.

If you have over-seeded your lawn with Italian ryegrass, keep it mowed rather close. Do not prune spring flowering shrubs now but other shrubs may be pruned if needed. If large shade trees need attention, it is best to employ competent help to do the job for you.

Garden Time

By M. E. GARDNER
N. C. State University

This month is also a good time to do some thinking and planning to avoid the spring rush.

Muscadine ("Scuppernon") grapes should be pruned this month. Pruning now will prevent bleeding as the wounds will have a chance to heal before growth starts in the spring. Pruning is very important if you expect maximum yields from your vines. It should be done every year and not just occasionally as is so frequently

In Shopping Be Prepared For "Inside" Information

RALEIGH - In Christmas shopping for electric housewares, be prepared for some "inside" information. The outside of the appliance may look the same but there's news on the market in inner operations.

Mrs. Eileen Welck, extension home management specialist, North Carolina State University, tells us to take a look at these inner features in electric housewares: the "take-apart" appliance, the "solid state" appliance and the "cordless" appliance.

"Take-aparts" are for the person who wants to repair-it-himself. They might be compared to a child's snap-together toy. Each part of the appliance is a replaceable unit that can be easily interchanged with the worn out part. So far, this feature is found only in coffee-makers, toasters and irons. "Solid state" appliances are those where the control has been taken over by an electronic device. You probably won't be able to see it from the outside of the equipment but like the transistor replacing the tube in the radio-television field, it has made the equipment lighter in weight and in some cases, smaller. It has also made possible an infinite number of speeds and constantly uniform speeds on such equipment as mixers, blenders and electric knives.

"Cordless" equipment is moving more and more into kitchen ware to give use to such items as electric knives, portable mixers and kitchen clocks. Without dependency on an electric outlet, the cordless equipment is usable anywhere - at the range, in the back yard, in the car, in the camper. However, the added batteries tend to make these appliances a little heavier.

Two types of cordless equipment are available - those with disposable batteries and those with rechargeable ones. Usually featured with disposable batteries are novelty items, such as towel dispensers or flour sifters. Heavier, more costly equipment usually relies on the rechargeable batteries.

Mrs. Summerlin is the former Martha Ray Quinn, daughter of the late Mr. Alpha Quinn and Mrs. Alton Taylor of Potters Hill.

Stanley Party

Mrs. Jim Kennedy entertained at a Stanley party at her home on Wednesday night. Mrs. Opal Smith was hostess. There were about thirty attending the party and it was very successful. Banana sandwiches, candy, cookies cake, pickles, potato chips, and drinks were served.
