

Potter-Turner Vows Spoken

June Allison Turner became the bride of Ronald Dean Potter last Sunday afternoon in the Potters Hill Advent Christian Church. The Reverend J. Don Skinner of Warsaw officiated at the three o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Turner of Potters Hill, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Potter of Greenville.

Wedding music was presented by organist Rachael Bowden of Warsaw.

Louis Newton of Winston-Salem, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Marty Brown of Gastonia and Gary Clark of Greenville, both graduates of East Carolina University.

Cynthia Johnson of New Bern, college roommate of the bride and a graduate of East Carolina University, was maid of honor. She wore a full gown and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Ordie Potter of Banner Elk, were honored with corsages.

Ann Manning, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

A reception pig-picking was held following the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were served wedding cake, punch, sausage balls, cheese balls with crackers, nuts and mint.

The bride and groom are both recent graduates of East Carolina University with degrees in accounting.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will make their home in Raleigh where the groom will be employed by Ernst & Ernst, an accounting firm.

Showers
The bride-elect was honored with a surprise kitchen shower February 5th, given by Cynthia Johnson of New Bern. College friends attended.

A floating miscellaneous shower was given at the bride's home with Mrs. Lila Manning, her aunt, as hostess.

As the end of school draws near, I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who made education possible. This gratitude is expressed not only by the seniors, but by other James Kenan students as well.

The most important people we are indebted to are our parents. They have supported us from the earliest grade through high school. It is through them that we have obtained life, love, and happiness. Many parents have gone when they felt they could go no more, simply because of the love they have for their children. We, as students, sometimes overlook their faithfulness, not because we don't appreciate it, but because we take it for granted. Each of us likes to think of himself as independent, but we all know the special feeling that comes whenever we make our parents proud. It is this feeling that makes us strive to achieve important goals. I take this opportunity to say "Thank you" to all those parents who care enough to educate their children.

The second most important group of people are, of course, our teachers. Certainly, there are times we feel like chiding them, but we seldom realize the hours of preparation spent by sincere educators. Teachers are an important part in the cycle of education. Without their patience and knowledge, there would be no schools. I feel the teachers at James Kenan care about our personal lives as well as our intellectual lives. This concern makes education simpler and more beneficial. Often, we forget the reason for education; this being the preparation for future life. Many teachers, with this philosophy, endeavor to challenge our intellects and our disciplines. Our gratitude goes to all those teachers who have paved the way of our future. Lastly, it is important to recognize the friends that make learning more joyful. Many of us will be leaving companions behind, but the memory of the good times we've shared will always be present in our hearts and minds. Friends are essential in education. They make the learning process easier to appreciate. Friendship is the emotion that links humans being to human being. Without this friendship, mankind could not unite in times of trouble as well as in times of joy. Friendship is a reciprocal relationship in which each person gives a little of his heart.

I hope that I have made a favorable impression upon those who participate in the advancement of education. Each of us, as students, wishes to say "Thank you" to our parents, our teachers, and our friends. These three groups of people make our lives worthwhile.

Complete Jailers' Program

Sheral F. Edwards, Addie Mae Chambers, William A. Peacock and Roy Williams of the Duplin County Sheriff's Department, recently completed a certification program for jailers at the N.C. Justice Academy in Salemburg in Sampson County.

The course was presented by the Jail and Detention Branch of the Department of Human Resources, the agency having responsibility for training jailers, and meets the required standards for certification as set by the N.C. Training and Standards Council.
