INTRODUCING THE COMPASS ACCOUNT

A lot of ways to save.

East Federal's Compass Account is a new systematic way of improving your regular savings habit. Money can be withdrawn from your checking account and automatically transferred by a simple telephone call and you'll receive passbook earnings of 5 1/2% compounded daily. All that's required is that you maintain a minimum balance of $100 in your Compass Account.

East Federal's new Compass Account offers you not just one, but a lot of ways to save.

Telephone transfer of funds. With an East Federal Compass Card you can transfer funds in or out of your checking account twenty-four (24) hours a day. Just call a special toll-free number and tell us how much to transfer. We'll handle all the rest.

Automatic deposits. If you would like to make regular deposits into your Compass Account by draft, we will be glad to make the arrangements. It's an easy way to make sure that part of every paycheck goes into savings.

Regular account statements. You'll receive a detailed statement of your transactions and the interest your Compass Account has earned. Statements are mailed quarterly or monthly, depending on how often you have transactions.

Reduced rates on home improvement loans. Improve your home's appearance, add living space or put in energy-saving insulation while enjoying reduced rates on your home improvement loan.

Other free customer services. With a Compass Account from East Federal, you will qualify for free notary service and no-fee traveler's checks. Also, a copy service in which you can make up to twelve (12) copies a month at no cost.

How to fight the high cost of keeping cool.

Most people seem to think a comfortable home means an uncomfortable energy bill. But when you follow these tips, it doesn't really have to be that way.

- 1 Set your thermostat at the highest possible setting that's comfortable for you. A setting of 78° can save you about 20% over a setting of 72°.
- 2 A hot attic will cause your air conditioner to work harder. Be sure that your attic is ventilated and insulated properly.

A power ventilator can mean a 12% savings every year in cooling costs. A wind-driven ventilator can save 8%. Your insulation should be at least R-30 on the attic floor.

- 3 Check the insulation and weather stripping around your home. They can make a big difference in your cooling (and heating) costs.
- 4 Dirty filters in a cooling system cost money. They can actually add as much as 20% to your cooling costs. So clean the dirty ones and replace the worn-out ones. It's important to check them at least once a month.

The less heat entering your home, the cooler it stays. Storm windows can save 10% on your cooling bill. If you add storm doors, the savings goes to 12%.

- 5 In rooms that are exposed to direct sunlight, keep your curtains and draperies closed.
- 6 Don't buy the wrong air conditioner. Ask your dealer to help you with the "EER" (Energy Efficiency Rating). Following these and other tips will help you now and in the future. Because the less energy you use, the less your energy bills will have to be.
