New Lions Club To Start In Pink Hill

The Beulaville Lions Club, chartered on April 12, 1950, has voted to serve as sponsor of a new club at Pink Hill later this year, according to President Marion Edwards. The action came Aug. 24th following a special program presented by district extension chairman James B. Stocks of New Bern.

Some contacts have already been made and Stocks, with aid of Lion J.L. Marshburn of Hendersonville, international representative, hopes to make further contacts in the near future.

Stocks discussed the need to share Lionism with other communities and stressed the great service rendered by the Beulaville Lions to their community during the past 32 years. He showed a film tracing the history of the organization from 1917 to the present. It was founded by Melvin Jones of Chicago and has spread into 153 countries and geographic regions all over the globe. There are now some 36,000 clubs around the world.

Other guests at the session were White Cane Scholarship chairman Doug Sears of New Bern, and past district governor Jake Strother of Kinston, who is now state-wide membership chairman for 1982-83.

Stocks told the group that two clubs were established in 1982 following a period in which District 31-H did not form a new club for nearly two years. The district now has 52 clubs and the new unit, when formed, would be part of Zone 6 in Region III. District governor Richard J. Kerr of Atlantic Beach has commended the Beulaville Lions on their action and promised his help in the extension efforts at Pink Hill and other places during the current club year.
