Presbyterian Women
 Circle #1 of the Women of Grove Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon, Oct. 11, with Mrs. A.T. Outlaw. The meeting was presided over by Miss Annie Catherine Rhodes, who also conducted the opening devotional. Mrs. N.B. Boney moderated the Bible study from the Book of Colossians. She was assisted by all present. The topic was "Real People in a Real Town." After the closing prayer by Mrs. Outlaw, the hostess, assisted by Miss Rhodes and Celia Stroud, served chocolate pound cake topped with ice cream with toasted pecans and coffee.

Circle #2 met that night with Mrs. Jack Sitterson, who presided and conducted the opening devotional. Mrs. Bob Jones moderated the Bible study stressing "Peace." During the business session, Mrs. Mullis, White Cross chairman, discussed the quota for 1982-83. The women of the church are planning to roll 200 bandages or more, give four receiving blankets, four baby sacks and four ball point pens, plus postage. A social hour followed the meeting, during which time the hostess, assisted by Frances Stevens, served pineapple delight and coffee to the nine present.

Baptist Circles
 The Cora Stokes Circle of the Baptist Women met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Woodrow Brinson. Mrs. Cleora Hudson presided and had the opening devotional. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ellis Vestal. She discussed "A Prayer Journey to Spain," and "Life Changes in Abraham." After Mrs. Brinson made the closing prayer, she served pumpkin pie and coffee.

The Ella Cooper Circle of the Women of the local Baptist Church met with Mrs. Amos Brinson, who also presided and gave the call to prayer. She introduced the speaker of the evening, who was Mrs. Maggie Ammar, formerly of Alexandria and Cairo, Egypt, who talked on the Islam religion and customs of her country and showed slides. During the social hour which followed, Mrs. Brinson, assisted by Mrs. Barbara Yelverton, served chocolate delight and coffee. They also served baklava, an Egyptian treat that Mrs. Ammar brought. There were nine ladies present.

United Methodist Women
 The afternoon circle of the United Methodist Women of Kenansville met Monday with Mrs. Viola W. Quinn, who presided. Mrs. H.D. Taylor made the opening prayer and Mrs. Walter Smith read Psalm 100. The program was in charge of Mrs. W.M. Ingram, who discussed the history of the "Praying Hands." After Mrs. Quinn made the closing prayer, she served assorted cookies and candy to the nine present.

The evening circle met at the church in the fellowship hall to work on preparations for the bazaar they are having on Friday, Oct. 29th. The following ladies were present: Mesdames Hazel Scott, Carolyn Hall, Delaine Rector, Betty Pearce, Joan Fields, Norma Guy and Polly Hardy. They enjoyed cheese crackers and coffee after a work spell served by Hazel Scott.

Eastern Star
 Kenansville Chapter #215, OES, held its regular stated meeting Oct. 12th in the Masonic Temple. In the absence of the worthy matron, the associate matron, Gloria Brown, presided, assisted by the worthy patron, J.B. Stroud, and secretary, Edna E. Brinson. During the business session which followed the ritualistic opening and flag ceremony, plans were finalized for the reception planned for Oct. 17th honoring the district deputies of the 8th district, Joyce and Kermit Williams.

Homemakers Club
 The October meeting of the South Kenansville Extension Homemakers Club was held Friday afternoon with Mrs. N.B. Boney in Pinecrest Acres. Mrs. Milton Rice presided. After all gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag, the opening devotional was conducted by Mrs. Troy D. Mullis. The program on parliamentary procedure was presented by Mrs. W.M. Ingram. Ten members answered the roll and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer, Mrs. Colon Holland, reported a balance of $81.91. The club voted to give $3 to the Red Cross pecan project for Camp Lejeune. Members were reminded that the November meeting will be an area meeting at the Agriculture Building and will be given twice, at 10 a.m. or 2 p.m. Members were also reminded that Achievement Day will be December 2nd. After closing with the club collect, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J.B. Stroud, served Halloween candy, toasted pecans and cheese with coffee.

Open House
 Mr. and Mrs. Eldon E. Brown entertained at their country home between Magnolia and Kenansville Sunday afternoon, Oct. 10. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. H.D. Taylor, the former Thelma Dail, who was celebrating her birthday.

Eldon and Marguerite greeted their guests and directed them to the refreshment table where Mrs. Byard Kornegay Jr. presided. The table was centered with an arrangement of fresh garden flowers in fall colors, surrounded with four lighted yellow tapers. Other decorations included yellow mums on the hearth.

Pineapple punch was served by Mrs. Richard Lewis. Other refreshments consisted of party cake squares, cheese wafers, nuts, mints and other finger foods. Goodbyes were said to Brenda Carter.

The honoree was pinned with a corsage and her husband, receiving with her, wore a boutonniere.

Personals
 Mesdames Louise W. Mitchell, Pearl McGowen and Louise K. Boney attended the Battle of Rockfish DAR luncheon meeting in Rose Hill Tuesday.

Mrs. Faison McGowen went to Fayetteville Wednesday to see her sister, Ethel Delaby, who was in an auto accident.

Mrs. Louise W. Mitchell spent Friday and Saturday in Goldsboro with her daughter, Mrs. John Lowery.

Mrs. Sheldon Swann and Mrs. N.B. Boney made a business trip to Wilmington Thursday.

Ruby Kornegay, accompanied by her sisters, Louise Bullock and Ruth Tarkinton, visited Ruby's son, Dr. Will Kornegay at Sunderland, Mass. last week. They also visited several places of historical interest while they were there. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kornegay, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Art Paschal and Brock, attended a Carter family reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Carter near Mount Olive on Sunday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Gene English and Stephen of Garner visited Mrs. Sheldon Swann and the David English family this past weekend.

Ima Williamson has returned home from a trip to Virginia Beach. She was brought back by her grandson and his friend on Friday.

Student-Parent Mock Election

Can students across the country predict which party will win control of the Senate and House in the November election? We will find out the evening of Oct. 28 when the results of a student-parent mock election involving all 50 states is publicized.

Eleven high school social studies classes in North Carolina, one in each of the congressional districts, will participate in the mock election, according to State Superintendent Craig Phillips.

The college preparatory history class at James Kenan High School, taught by Shirley Gaskins, will participate from this district.

Students will research the candidates in their congressional district, using as many sources as possible, and discuss their findings with the teacher in class and with their parents at home.

The teacher, students and parents will meet Oct. 28 to further discuss the candidates and then vote on the one they predict will win in their district in November.

They may also vote on predictions for other congressional candidates.

At an appointed time, they will telephone their predictions to the state headquarters in Raleigh where the votes will be tallied for North Carolina and telephoned to the national election headquarters in New York. A national hookup will report the results nationwide.

The mock election, a Parent Participation TV Workshop project event, is organized by the Teachers Guides to Television Family Institute. The project began as a pilot co-sponsored by Aloha High School in Oregon in 1980. Groups of parents and children in 30 states and in Japan participated.

The purpose of the project is to educate and broaden the electorate and to encourage active participation in the political process by both young people and their parents.
