Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sumner and daughter Lisa and Son Gary Wayne of Route 1, Pink Hill, announce the birth of their daughter and sister, Kimberly Sue, on Dec. 21 at Lenoir Memorial Hospital.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones of Warsaw. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Ivey Sumner of Pink Hill.

LEWIS FAMILY SINGS

The Lewis Family will sing at the Pink Hill School Gym on Sunday, Feb. 20 at 2:30 p.m. The group is sponsored by the Christian chapel Free Will Baptist Church.

DEAN'S LIST

Wayne King has recently made Dean's List at East Carolina University in Greenville. Wayne is the son of Mary Ellen King of Pink Hill.

19TH Hole

Pro Jim Finch reports the annual club meeting will be held this week in the clubhouse at Rockfish Country Club. President Charlie Toal will preside and the meeting will get underway at 7 p.m.

Duplin Pro Rick Green announces the board of directors at DCC will meet Wednesday night of this week at 8 p.m. in the clubhouse. Club resident Lloyd Parker will chair the all-important meeting. The 19th Hole does not know where the yellow went but is sure where the red went.

Coharie Pro Ed Smoot announces four big golf tournaments scheduled for this coming season, including a Four-Man Best Ball which will have a unique format and is scheduled for May 28-29. The big golf outing at CCC will be the Two-Man Best-Ball on April 23-24 and the Four-Man Best-Ball on May 28-29. The 14th annual Invitational will be July 16-17 and the big Member-Guest is set for August 27-28. Mark them on your golf calendar.

Lakewood Pro Doug Smith says play at his club is real good when the weather cooperates. Doug also announces that dancing lessons are scheduled in the new clubhouse starting Feb. 3rd at 8 p.m. Tommy Tucker of Mount Olive will teach. Lakewood will also stage a steak cookout on Saturday, Jan. 22. "Bring your steak and enjoy an evening of fun at Lakewood," Smith said.

Southern Wayne Pro Rick Murphy announces that Keith Evans was reappointed club president at the recent annual meeting at SWCC. Other officers and board members include Glenn Sloan, Peggy Herring, Doug Brock, Reg Smith, James Jones and Bill Igoe.

Kenansville's Mark Vinson and James Sprunt's Carl Price are picked as the top golf standouts at Duplin during a recent meeting of the committee at Duplin Country Club. Vinson, after a few lessons as suggested by Duplin's tactful teacher Noble Martin, has become one of the outstanding players at DCC. Price, on the other hand (as the club pro said), "Make no bones about it, Carl is one of the better players in the club at Duplin." Carl has wins over such superstars at DCC as Lloyd Parker and Fisher Carlton. In fact, he has beaten some players eight strokes better than he is.

United In Marriage

Lisa Gaye Dail and Max Alan Turner exchanged their wedding vows in a candle-light ceremony at three o'clock at Shiloh Baptist Church. The Rev. F. William Dotger officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dail of Chinquapin. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lee Turner Jr. of Albertain.

The couple spoke their vows before an altar decorated with a brass cathedral accented with greenery and red poinsettias, two candle trees accented with greenery, red poinsettias and white carnations, with two brass spiral candelabras between them.

The altar was also decorated with four flowerpots of red poinsettias. The unity candle was accented with greenery and red poinsettias. A double kneeling bench was accented with greenery, red poinsettias and white carnation. Pews were marked with greenery, red poinsettias and red velvet bows.

Edgar J. Wells presented a program of pre-nuptial music, "Let It Be Me," and "We've Only Just Begun" were sung by Donna Snyder of Chinquapin. "The Wedding Prayer" was sung by Dawn Fountain of Fountain-town.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white formal gown of sheer organza and lace accented with pearls and iridescents. It was designed with full sheer bishop sleeves accented with layers of lace and closed with lace cuffs with sheer ruffles. The full skirt was fashioned with lace and the back of the skirt was layers of ruffles widening as they neared the bottom of the skirt. The bride also chose a sheer floor-length veil accented in lace. She carried a cascade of white flowers accented with greenery and red sweetheart roses with white lace streamers.

Rita Dail, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jessica Turner, sister of the groom; Lucy Smith, aunt of the groom; and Karen Whaley. They were attired in formal red gowns with sheer red ruffles around the bottom and draped on their shoulders. The maid of honor carried a nosegay of greenery and red poinsettias with green velvet streamers. The bridesmaids carried identical nosegays with red velvet streamers.

Joelle Snyder, cousin of the bride; Lisa Smith and Lola Smith, cousins of the groom, served as junior bridesmaids. They wore long white dresses accented with red candycanes and holly and green cummerbunds with long green sashes. They each carried a large red poinsettia with greenery and red streamers.

Allison Riley, cousin of the bride, wore a long dress accented with red candycanes and holly with a green pinafore accented with red and white lace. She carried a white basket with red poinsettias and red streamers. Jason Turner, cousin of the groom, wore a grey tuxedo and a red sweetheart rose boutonniere. He carried a red satin pillow accented with white lace.

Ushers were Ray Turner, brother of the groom; C.C. Turner, cousin of the groom; and Stanley Smith, uncle of the groom. They wore grey tuxedos and a red rose boutonniere. The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo and his boutonniere was three red sweetheart roses.

The groom chose his father to serve as best man. He wore a grey tuxedo and a red rose boutonniere.

The bride chose for both her mother and the groom's mother to dress identically. They wore formal long dresses of green taffeta with a white lace jacket covering the bodice. Their corsages were red carnations with white ribbons. The grandmothers wore dresses of their choice and their corsages were white carnations.

The wedding was directed by Donna Snyder. Susan Matthews, cousin of the bride, and Toni Faye Whaley presided at the register and presented guests with programs. Following the ceremony, the junior bridesmaids gave out rice bags and scrolls made by the bride.

The bride is a graduate of East Duplin High School and Pitt Community College. She is presently employed as a paralegal at White, Allen, Hooten, Hodges and Hines, P.A., attorneys in Kinston. The groom is a graduate of East Duplin High School and is a self-employed farmer. The couple is residing at Albertson.

Reception

A reception followed the ceremony, with the bride and groom, bride's parents and groom's parents greeting the guests in the church's fellowship hall. The refreshment table was decorated with a white tablecloth. Centering the table was an arrangement of greenery with white daisies, red and white carnations surrounded by white candles.

An all-white three-tiered wedding cake, separated by Grecian columns and topped with a wedding bell accented with green holly leaves and red berries, was made by Mary Raynor. The bride and groom cut the first piece of cake. The refreshments were served by Ruby Blackmore, Anita Maready and Megan Maready. Guests were invited to share in the reception by Mr. and Mrs. Garland Whaley. The reception was directed by Ms. Ruby Blackmore.

Other Courtesies

A rehearsal dinner was given at the Wagon Wheel in Beulaville with dessert at the bride's home following the rehearsal.

A lingerie shower was given by the bride's and groom's sisters, Rita Dail, Jessica Turner and a friend of the bride, Karen Whaley at the new home of the bride and groom.

A miscellaneous shower was given by friends and relatives of the groom at the groom's home in Albertain.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Lois Maready, Donna Snyder and Jo Riley at the home of Lois Maready in Chinquapin.
