

Along the Way

Emily Killeto

Over the years the citizens of Duplin have been concerned with the quality of life within the county. And, country folks have worked through a number of different ways, like the judicial system, to make Duplin a good place to live.

A grand jury was convened under Judge C.E. Thompson in January of 1941. The grand jury inspected Duplin county schools, jails and the county home. Serving as foreman for the jury was James G. Dickson. A report by the jury was published in the February 6, 1941 issue of THE DUPLIN TIMES.

In the report submitted by the grand jury, a recommendation was made to install cells on the third floor of the Duplin County Jail to relieve overcrowding. Within the judicial system, the grand jury also recommended all delinquent executors be notified by the Clerk of Superior Court and failure to report immediately would result in indictment.

Among recommendations for the county home, the grand jury requested the purchase of a milk cow. A nurse was requested for a woman suffering from cancer.

The grand jury found most white schools in good condition. Buses from white schools were operating on schedule with drivers having licenses and official certificates for operating the vehicles. The grand jury recommended two classrooms for first grade students at E.F. Grady. The first grade students were being housed in the school gym which was not properly heated. More drinking fountains were also recommended for the B.F. Grady school.

Outlaw's Bridge school was found to be needing a front porch and toilet repairs. The Beulaville school needed extra desks, window-lights and plumbing repairs. Potters Hill school was reported as extremely overcrowded. Maintenance assistance and more pay for the janitor were recommended for the Wallace school. Rose Hill school needed repairs to the floor, and the Magnolia school was reported in good condition.

A review of the Black schools revealed overcrowding in the buildings and on the buses. Branch school was recommended to be replaced by a new building. And, the grand jury commended the Stanford school for canning 1,000 quarts of vegetables from the school garden for the lunch room. The Wallace Black school was reported in good condition.

Duplin County Choirs To Be Honored

On Wednesday, April 13, choir members throughout Duplin County are invited to come to a "night off" from choir rehearsals and a "night in" of Jazz Comes Home. Sponsored by the Duplin County Arts Council, this is a special program on jazz in the church.

Loonis McGlohon is a composer, accompanist and performer who has written more than 250 pieces of music for the church. His trio will perform for area choir members on April 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wallace Baptist Church. Dr. Aubrey Jones and choir director, Emily Jessup, invite choir members and their spouses to come to the special evening. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The Loonis McGlohon Jazz Trio of piano, drums and bass, has been active for over 12 years in North Carolina. Prior to that, Loonis was piano accompanist for Judy Garland, worked with several big bands, and has recorded more than 20 record albums.

Recent engagements for McGlohon have included the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, DC, Michael's Pub in New York City, and concert appearances in Tokyo, Rome, London and Madrid. The Trio has been featured with Benny Goodman on an NBC-TV special, and PBS specials with Rosemary Clooney and Johnny Hartman.

The Trio highlights works by such great American jazz composers as Duke Ellington as well as a survey program of American popular music from 1900 to the present called "The American Popular Song."

The Western Sizzlin' in Wallace will take part in honoring the choirs also. All choir members are invited to have free beverages with meals they buy on Wednesday, April 13. Norris Restaurant will offer a 10 percent discount on choir members' meals that night.

Some people think an IRA won't help until retirement. Nonsense. A BB&T IRA helps every April 15.

An IRA, you see, is more than a fast-growing retirement fund. It's a tax shelter. It's a way to take a big deduction each year from your gross income so you wind up paying less income tax.

You may invest up to $2,000 a year in your IRA ($2,250 if you're married and only one of you is a wage earner, $4,000 if you both are). And every penny of your investment is deductible.

Every penny earns interest, too. At a rate that's tied to money market rates, with a guaranteed minimum of 8%. What's more, we compound that interest daily—not annually or quarterly as some banks do—which can make an enormous difference in interest earned over the years.

COMPARISON OF INTEREST COMPOUNDING METHODS

Amount Deposited @	Daily Compounding*	Annual Compounding*	Net Gain With Daily Compounding
10 $20,000	$ 32,097	$ 31,291	$ 806
20 $40,000	$104,323	$ 98,846	$ 5,477
30 $60,000	$266,846	$244,692	$22,153
40 $80,000	$632,553	$559,562	$72,991

*Based on 8% interest rate.

And all your interest is tax-deferred. You pay no tax on it until you begin withdrawing funds between 59½ and 70½ years of age, when you'll probably be in a lower income tax bracket.

If you start an IRA in your early thirties, a $2,000-a-year investment can turn into a tidy sum by retirement. And even if you can't start that early, you'll still pile up a sizeable fund.

Call or visit any BB&T office and get your IRA started soon. After all, how can you pass up a plan that gives you big bucks in the September of your life and a bigger refund check every April?
