

pearls formed a deep yoke, giving an off-shoulder effect. Chantilly lace with seed pearls and irridescent covered the bodice that extended into an elongated waistline resembling a fitted overblouse. The taffeta bishop sleeves ended in deep cuffs of reembroidered Chantilly secured by loops and covered buttons that matched those on the back bodice. The silk taffeta skirt flowed from the long bodice into a scalloped chapel-length train accented by lace appliques on the scallops. The bride's waltz-length veil and blusher of silk illusion featured reembroidered Chantilly lace appliques and fell from a Juliet cap etched in matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a silk bouquet of all white gardenias, fugi mums, lily-of-the-valley and primroses accented with variegated ivy vine.

The bride wore diamond earrings, a wedding gift from the bridegroom. She also wore the diamond cluster ring her father gave her mother on the occasion of their first wedding anniversary.

The groom's ring, a gift from his mother, was the ring his father received from his bride at their wedding.

The maid of honor, Joe Carol Jones, sister of the bride, wore a gown of teal-green silk taffeta featuring a bodice with a banded v-neckline outlined by a deep taffeta ruffle. It featured Edwardian pouf sleeves ending at the elbow. A sash, wrapped cummerbund-style at the fitted waist, accented the bell skirt. She wore babies'-breath and a yellow daisy tied with teal ribbon in her hair. She carried an Edwardian nosegay of yellow roses, white and yellow daisies and gypsophila tied with yellow brocade ribbon. Each of the bridesmaids wore a sprig of babies'-breath in their hair and were in gowns identical to the maid of honor's.

The bridesmaids were Susan Ann Martin of Warsaw, cousin of the bride; Anita Maready, the bride's childhood and Chapel Hill roommate; Vickie Singleton of Wilson and Mrs. Michael Parker of Norfolk, Va., college classmates of the bride; and Tracy Merritt of Greenville, a life-long friend of the bride. Each bridal attendant wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bride.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Stewart of Wilson and Mrs. Keith Stewart of Fremont, the bridegroom's sisters-in-law; and Mrs. David Kornegay of Goldsboro, friend of the bride.

Keith Stewart of Fremont attended his brother as best man. The chief usher was Bill Stewart of Wilson, the bridegroom's brother.

The bridegroom wore a lapel arrangement of lily-of-the-valley. He and the ushers chose black formal attire. The best man and ushers wore yellow roses in their lapels. The ushers were James L. Crawford of Pikeville, Bobby Earl Miller, Dr. Robert Huntley Taylor of Clinton and Dr. H.L. Whitley of Goldsboro, all friends of the bridegroom.

The couple spoke their nuptial vows before the church altar centered with a massive bouquet of yellow roses, gerber daisies and white snaps interspersed with gypsophila. Flanking this focal point stood two nine-light candelabras holding tall, white lighted tapers. On the communion table rested the trinity candles intertwined with greenery. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones wore a formal gown of misty blue silk polyester featuring a long-sleeved Edwardian jacket fashioned from English net and Alencon lace. She carried a yellow rose, white and yellow daisy corsage atop her white wedding Bible.

Mrs. Stewart, mother of the groom, wore a long fitted gown of aqua chiffon designed with a v-neckline and accented by a pleated skirt and gold belt. She wore a corsage identical to Mrs. Jones'.

Mrs. Clarence E. Jordan of High Point, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a long gown of orchid chiffon. Elizabeth Keith of Fremont, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a formal aqua gown. Each wore a corsage of white carnations and white daisies.

Mrs. Richard Williams of Beulaville directed the wedding. Shirlee Gaskins served as the bride's advisor. Both are former teachers of the bride.

The bride, a graduate of Mount Olive College with an associate degree in science, was employed until her marriage as executive secretary to the director of personnel at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The bridegroom graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he earned a degree in pharmacy. He is pharmacist of Pikeville Drug Store, a branch of J.S. Stewart and Sons, Inc.

After a honeymoon trip to Kiawah Island in South Carolina, the couple will make their home in Pikeville.

Reception

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's mother, sister and brother entertained at a reception in the church parlor, Powell Hall. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Martin, paternal aunt and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steed, close friends of the bride.

Karen Martin Rhodes of Warsaw, the bride's cousin, directed guests to the bridal register which was presided by Mrs. Bob Best of Whiteville, the bride's cousin.

Mrs. Melvin Herring of Warsaw poured punch and Mrs. Clay Scott, a former teacher of the bride, served bridal squares.

After the bridal couple cut the first slice of wedding cake baked by Mrs. Bill Faust of Warsaw, Mrs. Faust served the tiered cake decorated with yellow roses.

Dorothy Johnson, Mrs. Charles Sheffield, Mozelle Smith, Suzanne Bennett, Julie Carlton, Julia Smith and Allyson Stroud, all of Warsaw, and Irene Edwards of Rose Hill, served cheese stars, sausage balls, chicken salad cups, toasted pecans and wedding mints to the guests.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Jones, the bride's paternal aunt and uncle, and by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carlton, all of Warsaw.

Rehearsal Dinner and Dance

Following the wedding rehearsal Saturday night, April 23, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jessie Stewart, entertained the entire bridal party and invited guests with dinner at The Country Squire in Kenansville. A dance honoring the bridal couple was held in the Jester's Court there immediately following with music by Phil Hardy of Goldsboro.

Evelyn Phillips of Kenansville entertained the bride and her attendants at a luncheon at The Country Squire at noon on April 23. Mrs. Phillips was assisted by Mrs. Arnold Jones Sr.

A floating miscellaneous shower was held on Monday, April 18, at Bland's Restaurant in Warsaw. Hostesses were Mrs. Bill Faust, Mrs. Straughn, Mrs. Joe Lee Costin, Mrs. Dennis Graham, Lib Maready, all of Warsaw, and Shirlee Gaskins and Mrs. Marvin Dazey of Calypso.

A wedding brunch was held for the couple, their bridal party and all out-of-town guests at Bland's on their wedding day. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Jones Jr., paternal aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steed, all of Warsaw.

Other Courtesies

A pig picking honoring the bridal couple was held at the bridegroom's home in Farmingdale Estates in Pikeville. Hosts and hostesses were Mrs. and Mrs. Keith Stewart of Pikeville, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stewart of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Wotten, Dr. and Mrs. H.L. Whitley Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Julian Nelms, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ivey, all of Goldsboro.

Mrs. David Kornegay had a lingerie shower for the bride at the Kornegay home in Goldsboro.

A miscellaneous shower was held for the bride in her home in Chapel Hill. Hostesses were Anita Maready, Mrs. Bill Brown and Rita Dail, all of Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Harold Jordan of High Point, maternal aunt of the bride, held a miscellaneous shower for the bride.

Mrs. H.L. Whitley Sr. held a tea in honor of the bridal couple at her home in Fremont on Saturday, March 26.

A kitchen shower was held for the bride in the home of Mrs. H.L. Whitley Jr. Mrs. Whitley and Mrs. Robbie Wooten of Goldsboro were hostesses.

Rosemary Sugg and Carol Branch held a miscellaneous shower for the bride in their home in Goldsboro.

Liberty Cart Seeks Cast

THE LIBERTY CART, Randolph Umberger's exciting outdoor drama about the development of Eastern North Carolina, during colonial times will open its eighth season on July 8.

Local auditions are scheduled at the William R. Kenan Jr. Memorial Amphitheatre in Kenansville for Sunday, May 22, from 2-5 p.m. Auditionees will be asked to read from the script and complete audition forms. Persons are needed for technical work as well as acting.

Previous experience, while desirable, is not an absolute necessity, according to Jim Johnson, general manager for the production.

About 40 people of all ages, male and female, black and white, make up the local cast. If you are willing to learn and to give up a major portion of your evenings for a large part of the summer, all for a highly enjoyable and very worthwhile effort, then THE LIBERTY CART is just the thing for you, according to Johnson. Many local come back, year after year, and with experience assume some of the major roles in the show. According to him, all local actors and technical people are paid $100 to help defray travel expenses.

If you are interested, audition May 22 and bring a friend or friends, and see what a summer of fun and learning experience is really all about. No appointment is necessary.

For more information concerning auditions or the production, contact: THE LIBERTY CART office, P.O. Box 470, Kenansville, NC 28349, or call 296-0721.

Stewart-Jones United In Marriage

Sharann Arley Jones of Warsaw and Chapel Hill and Henry Lewis Stewart of Pikeville were united in marriage on Sunday, April 24, at three o'clock in the afternoon in the Warsaw Baptist Church in Warsaw.

Dr. L. Mack Thompson officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Arnold Murray Jones Sr. of Warsaw and the late Mr. Jones.

The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Jesse S. Stewart of Fremont and the late Mr. Stewart.

Prior to the marriage ceremony, the mothers of the couple were escorted to the altar where they lighted two white tapers flanking the unity candle. Each placed a white memorial rose on the altar in honor of the bridal couple's fathers.

Jim Aycock of Fremont, friend of the couple, served as organist. "Reflections," an original composition written by Mr. Aycock for the bridal couple, was played during the ceremony. Terri Ham Kornegay of Goldsboro, college friend of the bride, sang "When You're Loved" and "I'll Walk With God."

The renaissance air, "Canon in D" by Pacabel, announced the entrance of the wedding party.

Escorted by her brother, Arnold Murray Jones Jr., and given in marriage by her family, the bride entered to "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell. The congregation joined the couple in singing "We Gather Together."

For the benediction, the bride's sister and maid of honor, Jo Carol Jones of Goldsboro, sang "The Lord's Prayer." The recessional was Beethoven's "Ode to Joy," accented by the chiming of the church bell.

For her wedding the bride chose a formal gown of white silk taffeta which featured a high neckline of reembroidered Chantilly lace. English netting applied with lace and decorated with seed
