

Duplin Students Receive Degrees From MOC

Marie De Jan, Alfred D. Wells, Jr., and Barbara Lee Williams were among 104 graduates who received associate degrees during the twenty-eighth graduation exercises at Mount Olive College.

The class of 1983 had the distinction historically of being the last to receive their associated degrees before Mount Olive College makes the transition to four-year status. Although the College will continue to offer associate degrees, students who enrolled this fall as freshmen will have the option of becoming members of the school's first four-year graduating class in 1986.

Dr. Leo Jenkins, retired chancellor of East Carolina University, delivered the commencement address. Marie is a 1967 graduate of Mother-Cabrini High School of New York.

A.D. is the son of Minter K. Wells of Teahcey. He is a 1981 graduate of Wallace-Rose Hill High School.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Williams of Rose Hill. She is a 1981 graduate of Wallace-Rose Hill High School.

Located in Wayne County, Mount Olive College is sponsored by the North Carolina State Convention of Original Free Will Baptists.

Local Bank Donates Fence

Kenansville City Executive Carey Wrenn announced today that United Carolina Bank has donated a new chain link fence to Kenansville Dixie Youth Baseball, Inc. The fence has been installed at Turkey Stadium located on highway 11 in Kenansville.

"United Carolina Bank is a concerned corporate citizen and we feel that this donation will benefit the youth of our area and also the Town of Kenansville," said Wrenn. "It will give the youngster a facility that they can be proud of and also let them feel that they are a concern of the citizens. In addition, as visitors and prospective residents visit Kenansville, they often evaluate us by what they see on that first visit. This chain link fence greatly enhances this property and will be a impetus for us to develop this recreational area.

"United Carolina Bank has been in Kenansville about 40 years and the area has contributed to our success. UCB believes in helping the communities in which it operates. We encourage parents and other citizens to magnify this contribution by further supporting Kenansville Dixie Youth Baseball."

Wrenn said.

Kenansville Dixie Youth Baseball, Inc. is a non-profit organization that oversees the local youth baseball program in Kenansville. At present there are five teams in the league: Jackson's IGA Cubs, Kenansville Drugstore Reds, (David) Phillips' Phillies, Bill Brown's Yankees, and United Carolina Bank Dodgers.
